

Intelligence Test?

The Women's War Award

Morganton

This series of articles was written by a young woman who was a patient at the State Hospital for a year and a half ending in December. She is a member of a prominent state family, was educated at Queens College, and was sent to the institution on the advice of doctors because of a nervous condition. Cultured, refined and sensitive, her experiences there and what she saw with her own eyes make a shocking story.

She is known to The News but her name, for evident reasons, is withheld. There are nine installments in her story, of which this is the third.

On Monday when I went to take my intelligence test I was given a sheet of paper on which I had to write down 200 words. I was asked to check off the words I knew. I was given a list of words and I was to check off the words I knew. I was given a list of words and I was to check off the words I knew. I was given a list of words and I was to check off the words I knew.

Three Americans Are Being Held as Japanese Agents After Some Skillful Work by G-Men

WASHINGTON—It's a Justice Department secret, but the tip-off that led to the apprehension of the three Americans who will soon stand trial as Jap propagandists originally came from a source in a Washington office.

The investigation of Williams' activities led to evidence involving David W. Ryder and Townsend, who with Williams are about to stand trial as Jap agents. The indictments charge the three men with conspiracy to violate the Foreign Agents Registration Act, and with willful failure to state material facts in registration statements.

Social Security Meddling

In the past two years repeated efforts have been made in Capitol Hill to extend the scope and influence of the United States Social Security Act. But every attempt has not gone as planned. One of the reasons for this is the fact that the Justice Department, which has been fighting the bill, has been making some startling information known to the public.

One of the most significant discoveries was that the Japs were following the Nazi technique of using newspaper men and writers as propaganda agents. This was the first time which will be presented, Frederick W. Williams, a Pacific Coast writer, has been named as the correspondent of the Japanese Times and Mail of Tokyo. He also was making pro-Jap speeches before many organizations.

The Everyday Counselor

Two very interesting letters are now on my desk expressing opposite prayer attitudes. One is from a woman who is suffering from the alzheimer's who has been seriously wronged. From what she writes, she has. She requests our Prayer Band to join with her "pray that God will make him understand that he can have no rest nor ease for so long until he has come back to me and begged for mercy and forgiveness."

Of course, we can't undertake to join in any such prayer. It would be un-Christian. Furthermore, the writer of this letter needs a change of heart herself. There is no justification in the Bible, known to me, whereby we are permitted to pray down vengeance. "Pray for them which despitefully use thee."

The opposite attitude is reflected in another letter from a wife who is desperately fighting to retain her husband and her home. There is another woman in the case, but instead of being vindictive she asks that prayer be offered for her and her home for her. I've been praying for her myself. I do not feel bitter toward her, or my husband either. I'm sorry for them. I'm trusting everything to our Lord and Saviour.

The woman in the last case has grasped the prayer principle which the first has utterly overlooked. Bitterness and suspicion are deadly poisons which burn the happiness out of living. They prevent us from seeing our problems in their true light. They distill and amplify our deepest, darkest, most troubling problems such as above need to first work on themselves. Poisonous emotions must be washed out. Access must be had to God so that prayer can be made. Only then will improvement be seen.

Officers Installed

Young People Hold Candlelight Service

New officers of the Mecklenburg County Y. W. C. A. were installed at a candlelight service held yesterday afternoon at the Myers Park Methodist Church.

Dr. Charles M. Boyd, president of the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Conference, presided at the installation service. He was assisted by Rev. H. H. Blackard, pastor of the Myers Park Methodist Church, who was in charge of the installation. Miss Lucille Gwaltney, president; Charles Hunter, vice-president; Miss Louise Gwaltney, secretary; and Miss Janet Robinson, adviser; Dr. Emerson H. Blackard, adviser from the conference, were present.

Plans for the county-wide youth meeting to be held Thursday night at the Biltmore Hotel, Mecklenburg County, were announced by John E. Davidson, president of the council, during the installation service at the Myers Park Methodist Church, who was in charge of the installation.

Miss Camille Newman, president of the Myers Park Church, welcomed the group last night. Miss Mary Louise Gwaltney, secretary, presented the juvenile delinquency report. Dr. Boyd spoke on the subject, "Faith in Youth."

Tire Men Will Meet Tomorrow

Independents Will Plan Campaign

Independent tire dealers in Charlotte in the big business they will meet tomorrow at 8 P. M. in their headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce to plan activities in support of the independent organization. The effort to gain control of tire retreading and retailing through Congressional action is being made. Victor Shaw of Charlotte will have charge of this conference for the independent dealers. The meeting will be one of a nation-wide series of meetings to be held at the same hour. The amount of money the independent dealers employ more than 600,000 persons and possess more than 50 per cent of the nation's tire retreading and repairing equipment. It was the purpose of this series of meetings is "to develop a plan of action which will enable tire business men will be retained in business and enabled to continue their operations in the future."

So-called "big business," the announcement asserted, is "endeavoring to take over the retail tire and retreading industry." Rubber for tire retreading and retreading is being controlled under orders of the War Production Board which withholds the necessary quantity of retreading rubber supplies to the shops. Practically all retreading shops in the South and Charlotte shops now mostly are limited to work on jobs of high priority ratings.

Musicals Are Given

First of Series Is Presented at Queens

By LOUISE YOUNG WORKMAN

Charlotte News. The first of a series of Sunday afternoon musicals was presented yesterday afternoon at Queens College under the leadership of Miss Earl Berg, baritone, as soloist, and Mrs. Berg as accompanist. The concert, which was held in the chamber music recital, drew students and their parents, with the latter wishing to help meet the cost of the audience.

Mr. Berg is a member of the music faculty of Davidson College and is director of the Glee Club, and is director of music for the First Presbyterian Church here. He has a wide range of musical talent, operatic, and oratorio soloist, and is a musician of unusual gifts. His voice is a baritone of pleasing quality, his style artistic, and his musicianship noteworthy.

The first of the "musicals" program included the aria, "The Paucal Victim Here We See" from Bach's "The Well-Tempered Clavier" and "Tomb," a cycle of seven songs, "Dieblicher," Schumann, "My Love," and "An Old Swedish Folk-Song," Griffes. A Swedish folksong was sung as the encore.

Following the musical, tea was served with Dr. and Mrs. Hunter as hosts, and Mrs. J. C. Gault, Mrs. Thelma Albright, dean of women, and faculty members acting as hosts.

A similar series of Sunday musicals was begun on Feb. 1 at the college under the leadership of James Christian Pfohl, head of the co-ordinate plan of the college. Two of the musicals, Kenneth Osborne, organist, appeared in the initial concert. Yesterday's concert was held in the music hall, with Mrs. E. J. Kessler, organist, and Mrs. E. J. Kessler, organist, and Mrs. E. J. Kessler, organist.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more subtract four. If the number is less than six, add four. The result is your number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Southern Newspapers Move To Save Paper

Decide To Reduce Size of Paper in Voluntary Move to Avert Newsprint Shortage

ATLANTA—(AP)—A voluntary reduction in the size of newspapers by the Southern News Association of newspapers was agreed upon by directors of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association in session here.

The reduction would be made in the number of pages through greater condensation of news matter and the deletion of unimportant news.

"Every possible economy of paper will be practiced," said Secretary Walter C. Johnson. "Not because a shortage of newsprint actually exists now, but because there may be one in the future. The paper mills are engaged in fulfilling other war orders, and the mills want to help meet the situation."

A possible shortage in the number of printers due to the Selective Service Act and enlistments also was considered. To offset any such possibility, Johnson urged the directors voted to encourage women to take training in the printing industry sponsored by the War Relocation Authority.
