We Have To Disagree With Ourselves

We're straid that we not only disagree somewhat with Dick Young's views on this page today concerning the means of collecting ancient taxes and street assessments, but that we disagree en-thely with an editorial we work on the subject only two days ago. (Unsally however, we are heaving subscribers to our own editorial opinious).

The procedure of collecting taxes and The procedure of collecting taxes and alteret assessments innining hack to pre-New Deal days is we learn on the au-thority of the City Attorneys, a good deal more exacting and complex than two had understood it to be in every case it requires a title examination. Which is further complicated by the increasity of first establishing in whose particular title now resides, and which may "run link all sorts of devices proporties." into all sorts of devious by-nath 1 after title has been extablished and il parties at interest have been notified the impending action, there remains a necessity of following through with

County Attorney DeLaney, who is suaking of the same kind for the County Bovernment, bears out and embellished the City Attorney's description of the milty and the exacting nature task. "You have no idea," he says

And both attorneys coneur in the opta-lon that not alone a fully competent attorney, with competent belp, is need to do the legal work, but that a rami-fied, thorough colons system has got to be devised so that the undertaking will go forward efficiently and precisely indead of haphazardly.

siteed of haphazardly, and County's delinquent seconds are represented hundreds of Seconds are represented hundreds of Bousands of dollars of forcen assets [As 7tm News has long been contending, a start has got to be made at collecting those accounts. To make a start in the City's case—and the same is approximately true in the County's case—a new and specialized, organization, two, to ke and specialized, organization, two, to ke and specialized organization has to created. The important thing to do is to get this organization at work under first-rate legal direction.

That last lie we have examined in defail, and at any time can cite poer, chapter and verse to show conclusively that it was the Naris who opened up with bombing attacks directed against civilians. However, there was in the Nazi athis just enough of fact to give it a tare of credibility. Buttain had, indeed flown over Germany droping leaflest And Buttain had, indeed, bombed industrial concentrations in the Thincland, with the probability that civilians too got hur!

To Play Republican

The reign of J Melville Broughton has been so far within the limitations imposed by the war, a thing of sikely beauty and trash mused. A good deal of garbage from previous tenants was left on the donrstep of the Mansion when he took over, a good many other Aluations, such as Morganton and the Bevenue Department, blew up in his face He unter 'rm valiantity.

In recent weeks the Governor's score has been, as we see H, non strike one had the doing, but in the hundred counters this week there must have been chinekies galore.

chinches galore. It was the Broughton voice which was first raised, officially and entiresty, against the submarine memor on the Eastern count. Crushed or Not, Japan Failed Off Midway

Failed Off Midney

This week, for the sixth time since scennier 7, the Jap steamed across some of the world's deepest water to leave a calling card with the boys of Midway Island, Determined, apparently, to put an end to the heroics of realstance, the came he loaded with a big surface force of battleships, carriers and all the trimmings. He was only a Ritte over 2,000 miles from Yokohama, a little over 2,000 miles from Yokohama, a little over 1,000 from Inwail.

He found Midway changed, somehow, His first apparature brought him crippiling blows, and that wasn't in the cards. He'd had his share of disaster in the Coral Sea. This time, against a tiny outpoot, he had allowed hinself a marine Something was wrong. For three days he hung on, and the longer he stayed, the more he suffered. He decided, finally, that he was not welcome.
