

The Merry Go Round

By Drew Pearson

MEMBERS of the Diplomatic Corps who have reported to the British...

the only question Russia was going to discuss with him. This was reported to be a mood to come...

Thereafter, upon the diplomatic, what could be more direct than to put the British squarely on the spot by subtly...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation. Some anonymous and sinister influence is at work against the bright future of American aviation...

Therefore, remembering that Russian diplomatic moves are usually aimed obliquely at something on the other side of the billiard table...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation. This brand of general fool-jobs and St. Ignace's Rights has come on long enough...

British On Spot. Stalin is a man who never forgets. It has also been reported that Churchill and Stalin did not get along at all well at Tehran...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation. The needs of post-war aviation will surely be enormous, and it is elementary that the industry will need Federal aid...

War Profiteering Is Odious To All, But—The bird who yells the loudest now—'ROBERT! THINGS! THEY'RE MAKING TOO MUCH MONEY! MAKE 'EM GIVE IT BACK!'...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation. Uncle Sam prints More Than Anybody. It is unfortunate that every man who writes about the great waste of paper in the face of shortage is himself contributing...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation. High & Low Soldiers Like Music, Officers Like Noise. We presume there's some kind of moral to be drawn from Correspondent Hal Boyle's report...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation. Guess What Now Bob Reynolds Takes Over U. S. Note to all Bob Reynolds fans: Don't miss today's story on Your Bob. Speaking of rehabilitation programs, he manages to give his usual comment on the aims of England and Russia...

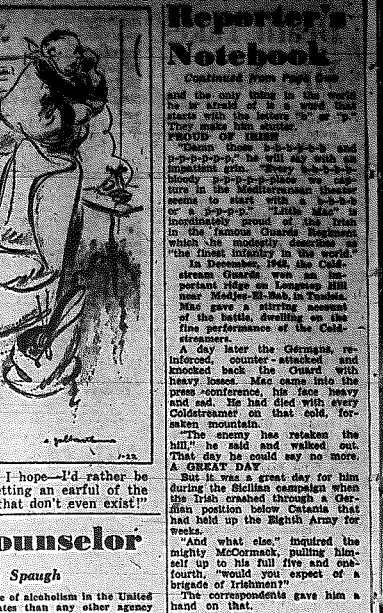

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation. Cutie Rep. Jessie Sumner Sings An Old Tune. This week, in the House of Representatives, there passed a scene we do not want to forget. We would not want to be remembered, not because it was pleasant, but because it shows just one more weary time how determined are some Americans to lead us back into isolation...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

Everyday Counselor. An interesting story just came to the Editor of the Washington Star...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

Russia Tries To Speak

By Samuel Grafton

THE following points are the "objective effect" of the "Pravda" incident: 1. For some obscure reason of its own, the Soviet Government is attempting to speak to the people of Britain and America...

A New Divide

By Dorothy Thompson

THE past can never be reversed. His that policy been sincerely and permanently abandoned? That in the question in the Russian mind...

Correspondent Under Fire

By Raymond Clapper

when we landed Dec. 26 and has been in the line ever since. He was coming back to get a burial, and he was the first of the Marines at Guadalcanal...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation

Some anonymous and sinister influence is at work against the bright future of American aviation, and should be dragged out into the public gaze...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation

This brand of general fool-jobs and St. Ignace's Rights has come on long enough. It has come to the point that no discussion of American expansion may be brought under discussion without an immediate yelp...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation

The needs of post-war aviation will surely be enormous, and it is elementary that the industry will need Federal aid and control...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation

Uncle Sam prints More Than Anybody. It is unfortunate that every man who writes about the great waste of paper in the face of shortage is himself contributing...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation

High & Low Soldiers Like Music, Officers Like Noise. We presume there's some kind of moral to be drawn from Correspondent Hal Boyle's report...

Who? Someone Is Trying To Hamstring Aviation

Guess What Now Bob Reynolds Takes Over U. S. Note to all Bob Reynolds fans: Don't miss today's story on Your Bob. Speaking of rehabilitation programs, he manages to give his usual comment on the aims of England and Russia...

NOTE—Russian sources in Washington point significantly to the Washington Star of Jan. 21, 1944, in publishing an item relating to the Pravda report...