As Invasion Nears The Propaganda Battle Rages

Near the hour of trial, there is a final effort on the part of the enemy to bolster his people for the greatest shock of the war. At the very moment Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was declaring the Nazi armies ready for invasion with great chains of defensive positions and many surprises, harried Germans in a Berlin suburb had reached such a state that they were fleeing before a flight of wild geese, presuming them to be approaching Allied planes. ...

Atlanta Group Would Multiply Dixie's Ills

Last week in Atlanta a small group of men—half of them well over 50—met to stir racial animosities on the lowest possible scale, offered to protect their city from racial minorities, and denounced ministers and others whom they judged were betraying them. This short story from the Atlanta Constitution reported the session in brief. ...

N. C. Congressmen Can't Agree On Ward Case

The case of Montgomery Ward against the Government found North Carolina Representatives divided, evenly. The issue at stake, if our House delegation faithfully reflects the feeling of Tar Heel finds the State unable to reach a decision—though not unwilling to take sides. Four members (Clark, Burgin, Cooley, and Weaver) voted with the Government, and voted against House inquiry in the case. Four others (Barden, Bulvinkle, Doughton and Folger) registered some doubt as to the Government's action in seizing the Chicago plant, and plumped for investigation. ...
