

THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1946

Old Story

A natural question comes out of the Grand Jury's decision... (text continues)

proposed that we relentlessly strip Germany of her economic ability to wage war... (text continues)

A Prescription

We don't know what the State Senate was expecting when it settled down in Hendersonville to hear Dr. George Taylor of the War Labor Board... (text continues)

- 1. Management to reorganize the principle of collective bargaining and to stop fighting it.
2. The Government to limit interference upon the prerogatives of management as unions, foreign and domestic employees.
3. A Washington board to which large industries might voluntarily take their disputes...

So Dr. Taylor is not to be identified with the past and present confusion of labor policy in Washington... (text continues)

In Lower Voice

We're not ready to accept a permanent Fair Employment Practices Commission ourselves... (text continues)

The Corpse Lives

We suppose that a good many Senators are concerned even now over the military threat of Russia... (text continues)

Statesmen At Work

REP EDWARD BREWER HAS... (text continues)

WASHINGTON NOW that all the hullabaloo over Poland has subsided... (text continues)

It is the fact that the Lublin-Warsaw Poles were called all sorts of pro-French names by the London Poles... (text continues)

A Pole will always be a Pole whether in London or Lublin... (text continues)

Illustrative of how the Poles are feeling their oats was a meeting which took place at Moscow... (text continues)

Soviet Hold Slips

Other unseasoned diplomatic reports show that the Warsaw-Lublin Poles are getting angrier and more independent... (text continues)

On Franco's Radio

Top officials of OWI are seriously considering using the American taxpayer money to buy time on Franco's Spanish radio network... (text continues)

Don't Let Him Down!

It looks as if the Pollak puppet plot, which once boiled against the London exiled Poles... (text continues)

Hands Off Churchill

One of the well-kept secrets of the last Presidential campaign was a statement Winston Churchill prepared urging the American people to re-select Franklin Roosevelt... (text continues)

The statement, however, was never made public... (text continues)

Undoubtedly Churchill was planning reciprocity for the help which Harry Hopkins had given him two years ago... (text continues)

So Harry Hopkins went to London and with Roosevelt's blessing dropped the word quietly in British political circles... (text continues)

A lot of water has passed down the Potomac since then, and today things are different... (text continues)

Furthermore, there is a considerable body of opinion in the Senate which has been openly and definitely critical of Churchill's policies in Greece, Belgium and Italy... (text continues)

All of which is why the White House is watching the British political struggle with keen interest but meticulously keeping hands off... (text continues)

Ickes At The Bat

REP EDWARD BREWER HAS... (text continues)

AFTER four days of persistent straight intemperate rumors that he was going to resign... (text continues)

Let's not forget in this connection that German scientists almost won the war... (text continues)

While information on the atomic bomb is being kept in the strictest confidence... (text continues)

But new men, new creative minds, must constantly be fed from our technical schools... (text continues)

In the Spring of 1914, determination for students in scientific fields was ended... (text continues)

Gen Marshall's recent statement on the Japanese war indicates the same policy will be followed in the atomic bomb... (text continues)

Gen Marshall's recent statement on the Japanese war indicates the same policy will be followed in the atomic bomb... (text continues)

Gen Marshall's recent statement on the Japanese war indicates the same policy will be followed in the atomic bomb... (text continues)

Gen Marshall's recent statement on the Japanese war indicates the same policy will be followed in the atomic bomb... (text continues)

Gen Marshall's recent statement on the Japanese war indicates the same policy will be followed in the atomic bomb... (text continues)

Gen Marshall's recent statement on the Japanese war indicates the same policy will be followed in the atomic bomb... (text continues)

Gen Marshall's recent statement on the Japanese war indicates the same policy will be followed in the atomic bomb... (text continues)

Gen Marshall's recent statement on the Japanese war indicates the same policy will be followed in the atomic bomb... (text continues)

Gen Marshall's recent statement on the Japanese war indicates the same policy will be followed in the atomic bomb... (text continues)

Photo taken by Mrs. Hester Bell, 71 W. 4th St., N.Y.C. 1946

Britain's Fears

By Samuel Grafton

THE British election campaign is vibrant, it is as if the British were now strolling about the things they had only dared to think about each other during the war... (text continues)

And indeed it is the dominant note in the campaign: a kind of high childlike exuberance... (text continues)

What is interesting in the British election campaign as I started out to say is the amount of fear that has been engendered... (text continues)

This kind of fear is the great Western sickness of our day... (text continues)

Actually the future of Britain for the next five months or thereabouts is not much at issue in the current campaign... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

These are the fears on which Hitler grew great, and by reason of which Hitler was able to fall... (text continues)

We Must Save Our Scientists

By Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON We have all but abandoned the fields upon which our revolutionary civilization must directly depend... (text continues)

In England at such universities there have been known as a Joint Recruiting Board representative of the scientific and technical world... (text continues)

While information on the atomic bomb is being kept in the strictest confidence... (text continues)

But new men, new creative minds, must constantly be fed from our technical schools... (text continues)

In the Spring of 1914, determination for students in scientific fields was ended... (text continues)

Gen Marshall's recent statement on the Japanese war indicates the same policy will be followed in the atomic bomb... (text continues)

Gen Marshall's recent statement on the Japanese war indicates the same policy will be followed in the atomic bomb... (text continues)

Statesmen At Work

REP EDWARD BREWER HAS... (text continues)

REP EDWARD BREWER HAS... (text continues)

REP EDWARD BREWER HAS... (text continues)

REP EDWARD BREWER HAS... (text continues)

REP EDWARD BREWER HAS... (text continues)

REP EDWARD BREWER HAS... (text continues)

REP EDWARD BREWER HAS... (text continues)

REP EDWARD BREWER HAS... (text continues)