

Russians Quit U.N. Military Staff Meet

Soviets Balk At Aussie Request

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — The Soviet representatives withdrew from a meeting of the United Nations Military Staff Committee today after a disagreement on procedure.

The committee had met to act on an Australian request for clarification of two articles in the committee's report now under consideration by the Security Council.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko told reporters after that this did not mean Russia would boycott military staff meetings.

Gromyko explained to the Security Council that the Soviet military representative refused to take part in the discussions because he felt it was improper for the committee to consider questions from individual nations on the Council.

The incident grew out of a vote which began in the Security Council last Wednesday as the delegates began to discuss the report.

Council President Alexander Parodi of France then invited the staff committee's chairman to sit at the table and answer questions.

The report asked the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and the United Kingdom to provide information on their military forces.

The report also asked the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and the United Kingdom to provide information on their military forces.

The report also asked the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and the United Kingdom to provide information on their military forces.

John Bull Gets Tough

Bevin Wipes Out Smile And Again Scowls At Russia

LONDON — (AP) — The full swing of the pendulum, from table-pounding denunciation of Soviet Russia to suave "patience and tolerance" and back, was complete for Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin today.

The grim, exasperated Bevin told Russia in effect last night he was fed up with delays in uniting Europe economically. Only last April he called for patience and said he was confident the East and West could settle their differences.

"I shall not be a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe," he said, "if there is a conflict between us, I shall not be a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe."

Bevin said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe. He said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe.

Bevin said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe. He said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe.

Bevin said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe. He said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe.

Bevin said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe. He said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe.

Bevin said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe. He said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe.

Bevin said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe. He said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe.

13 Senators Summoned By Truman

Asked To Read Message Closely

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman, bidding for Senate votes to uphold his labor bill veto, had thirteen Senators to a White House luncheon today and urged them to read "very carefully" his message disapproving the legislation.

Sen. Russell, Democrat, Georgia, one of those who attended the luncheon, gave reporters afterwards a report on what the President said.

He said there was no indication of Mr. Truman's present attitude as to whether any of the Senators present would change their votes to support the veto.

Eleven of the thirteen Senators who attended voted for the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill, which the President had vetoed.

The President told us he believed the bill was completely "unworkable," Russell said, "and he was really sincere about it."

Russell said Senator Barkley, Kentucky, the Democratic leader, told him the President was "very careful" in his message.

Asked whether he had decided to switch his vote and ballot to sustain the veto, Russell replied that he was going to read Mr. Truman's message again.

He said he would vote to override unless a second reading convinced him he should abandon this course.

Barkley voted against the bill. He was originally before the Senate to support the bill.

Barkley said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe. He said he was not a party to holding up the economic recovery of Europe.

Folger For Veto

11 Tar Heel Solons Vote To Override

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Eleven of North Carolina's twelve Representatives were among the 106 Democrats who voted with 225 Republicans to override President Truman's veto of the labor-management bill.

The only North Carolinian among the 71 Democrats voting against overriding was Rep. John Folger of the Fifth District.

Voting for overriding the bill were Representatives Bonner, Kerr, Barden, Cooley, Durham, Clark, Deane, Doughton, Jones, Baldwin, and Beiden.

All six of South Carolina's Representatives voted to override. They were: Rivers, Riley, Dorn, Bryson, Richards, and McMillan.

Democrats at the Capitol had nothing to say about Mr. Truman's action for the time being.

Carroll Reece, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, said the will of the American people was expressed in the election of 1946. It is, he said, a statement.

An obvious attempt to preserve the Administration's alliance with the Political Action Committee, he said, was to "subvert allies" and "an open bid for a fifth term for the New Deal."

House Republican Leader Charles McNary of Indiana, said that the labor bill and the tax reduction legislation, which Mr. Truman vetoed, were both "unworkable."

He said he would vote to override unless a second reading convinced him he should abandon this course.

Barkley voted against the bill. He was originally before the Senate to support the bill.

Truman's Men In Desperate

Vote Roundup

House Gives Smashing 331 To 83 - Ballot To Pass Bill Over Veto

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman today vetoed the Taft-Hartley bill to curb labor unions and the House promptly voted 331 to 83 to make it law over his veto.

That put up to the Senate the issue of whether the measure is to become law despite the President's vigorous objections. The Administration was battling desperately there to round up the votes to make the veto stand.

In the House ballot, 106 Democrats joined 225 Republicans in voting to override the President's wishes. Voting to uphold the President were 71 Democrats, 11 Republicans, and the one American-Labor Party member, Rep. Marcantonio (NY).

Republicans voting to uphold the veto were Representatives: Angell of Oregon, Bishop of Illinois, Brophy of Wisconsin, Butler of New York, Hall of Wisconsin, Javits of New York, Jones of Washington, Lamm of North Dakota, Phillips of Tennessee, Tolson of Washington, and Welch of California.

WHITE HOUSE HELPS The White House lent a hand to Democrats by linking the Senate votes to back up the President.

Mr. Truman called 40 ten Democratic Senators who originally voted for the bill for a luncheon conference. Also invited was Senator M. E. (Boss) E. A. Tamm.

Young, Republican, North Dakota, who voted for but is reported unopposed about the bill, and Senator Overton, Democrat, Louisiana, who was absent and did not vote.

Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, one of the authors of the legislation, said he would support MBS at 9:45 P. M. (EST).

In the late afternoon, the prospect was underway for a Senate vote. The House was uncertain.

Elderly Sisters Killed In Colorado

Retired School Teacher Sought For Questioning In Slayings

PINECLIFFE, Colo. — (AP) — A dragnet was spread across the far west for a retired school teacher, wanted for questioning in the slaying of his friends, Emily Griffith, 65, and her sister, Florence, 62, and her invalid sister, Florence, 62.

The slayings were found dead yesterday in the mountain cabin they had made home since Emily Griffith's retirement in 1924 from her teaching job. The slayings were found dead yesterday in the mountain cabin they had made home since Emily Griffith's retirement in 1924 from her teaching job.

Griffith Killed, Sister Taken To Hospital

Denver Detective Joseph Hoyer, one of a squad sent by Mayor Quigg Newson to the small mountain community 30 miles northwest of Denver to aid in the investigation, said police had reconstructed this sequence of events near the time of the slayings:

Lundy asked Emily Griffith a few days ago to go to Illinois with her, hoping to ease the days of her sister's illness. She refused. He expressed to neighbors his fear of old age and said, "When people get this old they should be shot."

Catholic Bishop Mauled

TRIESTE — (AP) — Monsignor Antonio Santin, 51-year-old Roman Catholic bishop of Capodistria and Trieste, was confined to bed today as he was mauled by a mob of 100 men who attacked him yesterday in Capodistria as he was about to lead a St. John's Day procession through the Yugoslav-occupied community.

Allied Military Government authorities were reported to have recommended to their government that they should not prevent, grant, or make to Yugoslavia over the incident.

Lawmakers Eye John L. Lewis

Truman Believes Labor Measure Would 'Encourage' Stoppages

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman today declared the "national emergency" provisions of the vetoed Taft-Hartley bill would encourage stoppages like those in coal or steel.

The "ineffective and discriminatory" machinery would be "certain" to encourage stoppages like those in coal or steel.

Weather

Partly cloudy weather with moderate to heavy showers and rain next two or three days. Clearing and a few showers, mostly in afternoon.