Georgia Police Cordon Prevents Lynching Of Negro

Some Property Owners Plan Immediate Rent Increase

Mob Turned Back When Officers Stand Firm

Negro Is Taken To Atlanta

Carrollton, Ga.—(AP)—A police cordon thrown around Carrollton jail prevented lynching last night of a Negro held for murder of a white man.

Deputy Sheriff Killed

King said he was standing outside the jail "trying to reason with the mob" and they were pushed away several times but returned.

Not Stormed

King said he and a small group of officers, inside the jail, "had everything fixed so that they would have been in effect, they were prepared to shoot but I didn't want to kill anybody."

King said he believed the mob was made up of about 100 men with "possibly 200 spectators who gathered at the jail."

"I'll admit I was frightened pretty badly," he said, "but I think they could get the prisoner."

Credit Controls Remain On

WASHINGTON (AP)—Credit controls authorizing the Federal Reserve Board to restrict interest rates, continue in effect today, despite the advice of some regulatory authority granted to the Federal Reserve by the wartime emergency powers.

How long the credit restrictions will continue is uncertain.

Both President Truman and Governor E. A. Tamm, Federal Reserve Board chairman, have said the authority will be surrendered unless Congress acts to place the controls on a permanent peacetime basis.

They have asked for Congressional action to place the controls on a permanent peacetime basis.

On the other hand, some Congressmen have voiced opposition to extension of the authority and one House committee has voted to end it.

In general, the controls now in effect require a one-third cash down payment and full payment in fifteen months for such automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines and some furniture, and other merchandise.

Michigan Community Property Bill Signed

LANSING, Mich.—Gov. George A. Romney today signed a community property bill which State Senator H. F. Hildner, sponsor, said Michigan taxpayers may save from $100,000 to $200,000 annually in Federal income taxes.

Played Hide And Seek With Searchers

Little Girl Found On Cold California Park Mountain

LASSEN NATIONAL PARK CALIF.—(P)—Shivering in the 25-degree mountain cold, but otherwise unharmed, two and a half year old Greta Mary Gale was found early today on the boulder-strewn side of Mt. Harkness after a 48-hour search.

She was found just twelve hours after her grandfather, former Congressman John H. Tolan of Oakland, died of a heart attack induced by the shock of her disappearance Sunday from the Tolan Summer home in this Plumas County mountain area.

Greta was found by Francis W. Keeler, G. A. State lion hunter of French County, about 8 A. M. less than a mile from the cabin.

She was rushed to Westwood Hospital by her fearful parents Mr. and Mrs. William Gale Jr. for examination and treatment for hunger and exposure after two nights and a day in the mountain wilderness.

HID FROM SEARCHERS

With the tenacity of childhood little Greta apparently had been playing her own version of hide and seek with forest searchers who this morning numbered more than 700.

She told overjoyed members of her family and Keeler that she had seen a searcher and a tracking bloodhound yesterday but had hidden.

"I was afraid of the man with the dog," she told Keeler.

Keeler, who said the child was found by Le. Gaither, 32, Jim Lennons, a hunter and trapper, and his son, Jim, 22. The child's father was nearby on the steep ridge and immediately took her to the hospital in Westwood.

Nails One Major Bottleneck

Most Building Materials Now In Very Good Supply

By TOM LYNCH

Building supply dealers in the Charlotte area breathed a long pent up sigh of relief today and started making preparations for what will probably be an unprecedented boom in the general construction business, both commercial and residential.

President Truman gave the construction industry the green light yesterday when he signed a bill which scraps nearly all Federal control of building.

Building supply dealers in general are of the opinion that the construction industry will be able to meet the demand for nearly all materials. Shortages of certain items will continue but even that situation will improve. Prices will remain high but will probably not increase sharply.

Nails have long been a critical item in the building industry and have caused contractors many a headache. There have also been shortages of all types of building materials.

The Master-Builder Division is another agency that plans to offer its clients a wide range of services and guaranteed tenancy. As pointed out by P. W. Dickinson, tenement manager, the new legislation of the suggested increase stands a chance of a much larger increase in rent at a suggested form to be adopted and used by property managers.

Strike Spreads

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike of CIO shipyard workers spread to additional East states today as a walkout of 80,000 more unionists got underway threatening a shutdown of virtually all major shipbuilding and repair work on the Atlantic Coast.

Truman Plea Rapped

Real Estate Lobby Proposal Assailed By Sen. Bricker

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman's plea that Congress investigate what he called the "brazen operations" of real estate lobbyists today generated a broadside of clashing reaction with political overtones.

The Chief Executive made his appeal in assailing the rent control extension bill which he signed yesterday.

Sen. Bricker, Republican, Ohio, denounced Mr. Truman's lobby-inspired proposal for American aid in the cheapest kind of political democracy.

U.S. Offer Of Aid To Europe Is Defended

Charges Assailed By Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall today denounced as "malicious distortion" the charges which have emanated from Russian sources—that the United States has "imperialist aims" in offering assistance to foreign nations.

Marshall told the Women's National Press Club in a luncheon address that "historical records clearly show that no people have ever asked more generous and more unselfishly than the American people in rendering assistance to alleviate distress and suffering."

At the same time, Marshall declared that the United States would make "no distinction" between its contributions to world recovery. He laid down a list of four conditions for American employment of American aid abroad.

Marshall said that the American people "emphatically demand" their assistance to foreign countries should be:

1. "Effectively directed to which have interest."

2. "Not be expended to serve selfish economic or political interests."

3. "Specifically be used to assist in economic rehabilitation."

4. "Serve the general interest of the people."

Paris Conference

Ministers Discuss Marshall's Plan

PARIS—(AP)—The Foreign Ministers of Russia, Britain and France discussed Marshall's plan for American aid to Europe for an hour and a half today, and French sources said there would be another meeting tomorrow afternoon.

Earlier there was speculation that today's session—its fourth—might be the last, since Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov actually has second Marshall's suggestion.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault were reported to proceed in continental economic planning without the Soviet Union if the conference does end in a deadlock.

Both British and French circles said "only the minutes could save the conference from failure."

RUSSIAN PLAN

The Ministers were to consider a plan Molotov had proposed in answer to Secretary of State George Marshall's plan for American aid to Europe for an hour and a half today, and French sources said there would be another meeting tomorrow afternoon.

Informed sources said that both Bevin and Bidault last night agreed to accept Marshall's plan.

Molotov was reported to have said that the Soviet Union would accept a three-hour session late yesterday.

The Russian sources said he proposed a committee set to find out how much each European nation would be able to contribute to the United States would supply.

They reported that Bevin and Bidault, on the other hand, declared that Europe should draw up a balance sheet of her resources, as well as needs, and adopt a program for employing these resources so as to make it necessary for outside aid to a minimum.

"BLANK CHECK"

French quarters interpreted Molotov's plan as meaning that the U. S. would have to pledge a definite amount without being asked where or how it would be used. Bevin was quoted as implying that this would be equivalent to asking for a "blank check."

The victim, identified as John J. Smith, was 45 years old and was working on the tracks.

The train was traveling at a high speed and the victim was unable to get out of the way in time.

The death of Smith is the latest in a series of accidents involving workers on the tracks in the area.

The railroad company is investigating the cause of the accident.
