Two Wild Pistol Shots Fired At Senator Bricker

First Week Winners In News Snapshot Contest

FIRST PRIZE was awarded Paul W. Price, Box 113, Ellenboro for the most original entry of young Frankie Mastella. Mr. Price, a 40-year-old man, has recently taken up the camera as hobby, operates a grocery store in Ellenboro.

RUNNER-UP in the first week's judging was this appealing snapshot of Pamela Ann, daughter of Capt. Hal C. McMaster of Fort Bragg. The Captain took this shot while he was stationed near Cortina, Italy, last February.

Decision Of The Judges

Ellenboro Man Wins Picture Award

Paul W. Price, 36-year-old groceryman from Ellenboro, was today named winner in the first of seven weekly judging of The Charlotte News Amateur Snapshot Contest. Runner-up shot was captured by Capt. Hal C. McMaster of the 2nd Airborne Division Artillery Headquarters.
Price's snapshot, a picture of a farm boy fishing in a creek, captured the weekly first prize of $5 in the class for pictures of young people and adults. McMaster's runner-up click was of his lovely two-and-one-half year old daughter, a Class A entry, and will receive the second weekly prize of $2.50.
The two winners were chosen from nearly 300 entries submitted by 128 amateur camera fans in the 34-county Charlotte trade area and selected because, in the opinion of the judges, they had the greatest interest and appeal of those entered in the contest so far.
It was the judges' belief that these were fine snapshots with excellent composition and careful arrangement and would compare favorably with products produced by more experienced photographers.
The contest is sponsored by the Charlotte Photographic Society, Holly Smith of Holly Smith Studios, and P. H. Kimbrell of Van Ness.

Mr. Price, a Pacific veteran, is unmarried and a comparative newcomer to camera circles. He has been snapping pictures for less than four months. His subject was thirteen-year-old Frankie Mastella, also of Ellenboro.
Capt. McMaster caught a sweet, unposed shot of his daughter, Pamela Ann while he was still stationed in Italy. The picture was taken near Cortina in late February this year.
Six months of weekly judging will bring this contest to a close on Aug. 29. Winners of weekly awards will be judged for the final local prizes of $20 for the best contest entry and the three $10 runner-up awards of $10 each. National prizes—175 of them amounting to $10,000—also await winners in this competition.
Snapshot fans need only to familiarize themselves with contest prints on page 10-A and then submit their favorite snapshot. Cash prizes are made each week with emphasis on human interest rather than photographic technique.
All entries should be addressed to Contest Editor, The Charlotte News, Charlotte, N. C. Because of the large volume, no prints can be seen.

Greek Red In Demand

ATHENS—(AP)—Greece's fugitive Communist leader called today for the "creation in free democratic countries of a free democratic government."
Government troops continued a heavy drive against guerrillas in the northwest, where the War Ministry said insurgents sought to set up a Communist state.
The War Ministry said Loyalist and artillery units were inflicting heavy casualties on leftist guerrillas on Mount Grammos, near the Albanian border. Greek War Minister George Bidjalis yesterday said the insurgent objective in that sector was ultimately to set up a separate state.
Nicholas Zachariadis, Communist leader, facing sentences of from one to five years for criminal libel, said in a signed article in the Athens Communist newspaper Rizospastis that the Communists had come to an open break with non-sympathetic political parties.
The article said the "material break" could be effective only with the creation of a "free democratic government."
Mme. Lupescu "Better" RIO DE JANEIRO—(AP)—A spokesman for the Copacabana syndicate today said that Mrs. Elena Lupescu—widow of the "fairly better" late last night.
The last report from the Carolina household was issued at 10:10 P. M. Two hours earlier Mme. Lupescu had written to her husband, "I'm a very happy wife."
Last week Mme. Lupescu designated Carol as her husband's executor and named "his extensive" marriage law.

Morse Loses Efforts To Alter Tax Bill Beaten

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senate today rapidly swept aside eight attempts of Senator Morse, Republican of Oregon, to change the bill cutting income taxes and pushed on toward passage, probably in a few hours.
In two overwhelming roll calls and six voice votes, the Senators rejected the Morse amendments. Senator Wherry, Republican, Nebraska, the Assistant Majority Leader, said the leadership will hold the Senate in session tonight if necessary to dispose of the bill.
President Truman has promised to veto the legislation which would reduce income taxes $4,000,000,000 a year beginning January 1.
PASSAGE CONCERNED
The passage was accelerated, the only question being whether the majority would be large enough to override the bill without the House approval. It Tuesday 302 to 112.
The Republican leadership is opposed to any further change in the measure, which delays which Congress would normally have passed last July 1. The House passed the bill last week by a 327 to 207 vote.
The first Morse amendment would have increased the tax on the 10 percent of income in excess of $100,000 to 14 percent. The President is expected to veto this amendment. The second Morse amendment would have reduced the 30 percent tax on the 10 percent of income in excess of $100,000 to 28 percent. The President is expected to veto this amendment. The third Morse amendment would have reduced the 30 percent tax on the 10 percent of income in excess of $100,000 to 26 percent. The President is expected to veto this amendment. The fourth Morse amendment would have reduced the 30 percent tax on the 10 percent of income in excess of $100,000 to 24 percent. The President is expected to veto this amendment. The fifth Morse amendment would have reduced the 30 percent tax on the 10 percent of income in excess of $100,000 to 22 percent. The President is expected to veto this amendment. The sixth Morse amendment would have reduced the 30 percent tax on the 10 percent of income in excess of $100,000 to 20 percent. The President is expected to veto this amendment. The seventh Morse amendment would have reduced the 30 percent tax on the 10 percent of income in excess of $100,000 to 18 percent. The President is expected to veto this amendment. The eighth Morse amendment would have reduced the 30 percent tax on the 10 percent of income in excess of $100,000 to 16 percent. The President is expected to veto this amendment.

Man Held For Firing At Ohioan At Ohioan

Senator Escapes Harm In Attack
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Two wild pistol shots were fired at Senator Bricker, Republican, Ohio, in the Senate today. The shots were fired by a man who was later arrested and charged with the crime.
The man was identified as William L. Kaiser, a 30-year-old man who lives in the northwest part of the city.
Kaiser told reporters with a shrug that he and his wife were in the Senate chamber when the shots were fired. He said he was not hurt and that he did not see the man who fired the shots.
The man was arrested by police officers who were in the Senate chamber at the time. He was taken to a police station where he was held overnight.
The man's name is being withheld until he can be identified.

Depression Worries Lost Government Fears Inflationary Trend

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Administration today put aside fears of a mid-1947 business setback to study instead the question whether the nation's high-riding economy is headed for an inflationary crackup.
Most government economists once predicted after July 1, many now forecast a new and higher plateau of prices in August and September.
Sixty million jobs yesterday became a reality instead of the title of a book by Henry A. Wallace. The Census Bureau reports that 60,000,000 civilians were working in June, an all time high for peace time.
"This drove the last bid in the contract market discussed bumper slump, some of the economists say. Actually, the working force extends Wallace's 'full employment' goal," he included them in military service. If these are added, today's total is 61,633,000.
The earnings and purchasing power of the working force which President Truman must consider in the economic program for the state of the economy. The message goes to Congress next week.
The President's Council of Economic Advisors, which yesterday gave Mr. Truman and the Cabinet the facts, said:

US Court Ruling Negroes May Vote In SC Primaries

CHARLESTON, S. C.—(AP)—U. S. District Judge J. Waties Waring ruled today that "Negroes are entitled to be enrolled to vote" in the South Carolina Democratic primaries.
The ruling was in the case of George Elmore, Columbia Negro, against members of the Richland County Board of Education. The board had refused to enroll Negroes in the Democratic primary. The board had also refused to enroll Negroes in the primary. The board had also refused to enroll Negroes in the primary.
The ruling was a landmark decision in the struggle for Negro civil rights in the South. It was a major step toward the elimination of the "white primary" in the South.

Guards Kill 6 Convicts

BRUNSWICK, Ga.—(AP)—Guards shot six Negro convicts to death today in a prison riot. The riot broke out after officers tried to disperse a group of convicts who were protesting their conditions. The guards fired on the convicts, killing six of them. The remaining convicts were taken to a hospital where they are being treated for their wounds.
The riot broke out in the prison at Brunswick, Georgia. It was the most serious riot in the prison since 1945. The convicts were protesting their conditions and demanding better food, clothing, and shelter. The guards fired on the convicts, killing six of them. The remaining convicts were taken to a hospital where they are being treated for their wounds.
The prison is one of the largest in the state. It is overcrowded and the conditions are poor. The convicts are often ill and the food is inadequate. The guards are often brutal and the convicts are often mistreated.
