

Freedom, Hunsucker Convicted, Given Road Sentences

Solicitor Vows War On Local Bootleggers

Odom Sentenced To Two Years

By TOM WATKINS Charlotte News Staff Writer Francis C. Odom and Roy Hunsucker were convicted today in Mecklenburg Superior Court of conspiracy to violate the liquor laws and were sentenced by Judge J. Will Pless Jr. to serve terms of two years and six months respectively at hard labor on State Road 101.

Defense counsel served notice of appeal to the State Supreme Court. Appeal bond for Odom was set at $2,000, and for Hunsucker at $750. Andrew Presley, charged with bootlegging, was sentenced to 18 months in jail and fined $1,000.

Odom, recently cleared of the murder of Herman Satterberg at the Arlington estate, was suspended upon payment of $300 and provided that he does not drive an automobile or hold any laws for a period of two years.

Hunsucker, who was sentenced to 18 months in jail and fined $1,000, was suspended upon payment of $300 and provided that he does not drive an automobile or hold any laws for a period of two years.

Hunsucker, who was sentenced to 18 months in jail and fined $1,000, was suspended upon payment of $300 and provided that he does not drive an automobile or hold any laws for a period of two years.

Hunsucker, who was sentenced to 18 months in jail and fined $1,000, was suspended upon payment of $300 and provided that he does not drive an automobile or hold any laws for a period of two years.

Hunsucker, who was sentenced to 18 months in jail and fined $1,000, was suspended upon payment of $300 and provided that he does not drive an automobile or hold any laws for a period of two years.

Hunsucker, who was sentenced to 18 months in jail and fined $1,000, was suspended upon payment of $300 and provided that he does not drive an automobile or hold any laws for a period of two years.

1946 Incident Disclosed Stolen Los Alamos Atomic Station Files Recovered

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Hickenlooper, Republican, Iowa, told the Senate today that reports of information files were taken from the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic testing station in March, 1942, but were recovered without "breach its security."

Chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee took the floor to say his group has "no reason to believe" published report in New York Sun that highly secret data on the atomic bomb was missing from the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic energy plant.

He said, however, that the Atomic Energy Commission had reported to the committee that certain documents were taken by two Army sergeants when they were demobilized from the Los Alamos plant.

The theft was not discovered until this year after the Atomic Energy Commission had taken over from the Army the operating of the atomic setup.

Hickenlooper said the documents were recovered from the private files of the two ex-soldiers, whom he described as "souvenir hunters," with indications that they were not by ex-soldiers.

"The documents were, as we believe, completely and fully recovered," Hickenlooper told his colleagues. "There was no effective breach of security."

"We have no information that any unauthorized persons did see these documents other than the two Army sergeants," he said, adding that the Justice Department is still investigating. He added: "The Joint Committee, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the military and naval establishments are all keenly aware of the trans-gigantic importance of the security of the facilities of the Atomic Energy Commission."

Observing that in view of the Sun story he thought it wise to inform the Senate of the incident at Los Alamos, Hickenlooper told his colleagues he thinks the Sun story "may arouse the wrong connotations regarding the security being thrown around atomic energy development."

He said there were "a number of apparent confessions in the Sun account adding that 'perhaps some were based on suspicion and... some on guesswork.'"

Observing that he presumes no enterprise "can be 100 per cent secure" against possible foreign inroads, Hickenlooper said his committee is "convinced that rigorous intelligence efforts and attempts—a program, if you please—are being indulged in to protect these plants."

Tall, Blonde Woman Dead

NEW YORK (AP)—The nude body of a tall, blonde woman was found today in a rooming house in New York City. The woman, identified as Sheila Manning, was found dead in a rooming house in New York City.

A maid who discovered the body told police that the woman was found in a rooming house in New York City. The woman, identified as Sheila Manning, was found dead in a rooming house in New York City.

A maid who discovered the body told police that the woman was found in a rooming house in New York City. The woman, identified as Sheila Manning, was found dead in a rooming house in New York City.

A maid who discovered the body told police that the woman was found in a rooming house in New York City. The woman, identified as Sheila Manning, was found dead in a rooming house in New York City.

A maid who discovered the body told police that the woman was found in a rooming house in New York City. The woman, identified as Sheila Manning, was found dead in a rooming house in New York City.

A maid who discovered the body told police that the woman was found in a rooming house in New York City. The woman, identified as Sheila Manning, was found dead in a rooming house in New York City.

A maid who discovered the body told police that the woman was found in a rooming house in New York City. The woman, identified as Sheila Manning, was found dead in a rooming house in New York City.

Two Nations Reject Paris Parley Bids

PARIS (AP)—Romania rejected today the British-French invitation to a Paris conference on the Marshall aid-to-Europe proposal, and became the second nation in the Russian sphere to decline the bid.

The Romanian Cabinet issued a communique rejecting the invitation. In Moscow, meanwhile, the Soviet press made no mention today of the conference, which will open in Paris on Saturday.

An Associated Press dispatch from Sofia said the Council of Ministers decided last night that Bulgaria would not take part in the meeting, to start in Paris Saturday.

The Oslo newspaper Aftenposten reported that Norway had decided upon July 10 to accept the offer of Foreign Minister Halvard Lange as a formal statement that though Norway would not need any outside help for the next eight months, she was still interested in quick European recovery and felt she should join in the conference.

British Prime Minister Churchill invited 22 other nations to meet in London with a view to setting up a committee to survey Europe's United States in line with the Marshall plan. Churchill's June 5 offer of American aid in a common European reconstruction.

The invitations were issued a day after Russia had turned down plans to join Britain and France in sponsoring the parley. They set to meet in Paris on Saturday.

Up to today, official and unofficial reports from various sources indicated that formal negotiations were planning to set representatives to the meeting.

Participants were expected to be the Governments of Poland, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Albania, Finland and Sweden.

The French Foreign Ministry yesterday said formal acceptance had come from Belgium, Italy, Greece, Netherlands, Luxembourg, Czechoslovakia and Iceland.

The news in Paris dispatches have reported, in addition to Aftenposten, that Norway, the favorite decision of the Danish Government, controlled Tanjug News Agency said today the conference would not be held until the next month.

Tandug's foreign policy editor said the idea was for European countries to form a central already existing organization headed by the United States.

The news in Paris dispatches have reported, in addition to Aftenposten, that Norway, the favorite decision of the Danish Government, controlled Tanjug News Agency said today the conference would not be held until the next month.

ELIZABETH AND PHILIP

Royal Engagement British Princess Will Be Married

LONDON (AP)—A Royal announcement was expected momentarily today that Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the throne, would be married this fall to Lt. Philip Mountbatten, who renounced a Greek title for a minor commission in his prospective father-in-law's navy.

Mountbatten drove into Buckingham Palace grounds during the afternoon past hundreds of Britons who had congregated to see the bride and groom.

Princess and Philip to wed. The bride, the black type of the Star, "Princess: a statement soon," cryptically said the Evening Standard.

The authoritative British Press Association said it had learned from official sources at Buckingham Palace this afternoon that an authorized statement will be made within the next day of two regarding reports of the betrothal.

Princess and Philip to wed. The bride, the black type of the Star, "Princess: a statement soon," cryptically said the Evening Standard.

The authoritative British Press Association said it had learned from official sources at Buckingham Palace this afternoon that an authorized statement will be made within the next day of two regarding reports of the betrothal.

Princess and Philip to wed. The bride, the black type of the Star, "Princess: a statement soon," cryptically said the Evening Standard.

The authoritative British Press Association said it had learned from official sources at Buckingham Palace this afternoon that an authorized statement will be made within the next day of two regarding reports of the betrothal.

Producers Will Sign New Pact With UMW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Southern Coal Producers Association announced today it will accept the new soft coal contract, already signed by 75 per cent of the industry.

Henry W. Warden, spokesman for the association, told reporters after a two-hour session that the contract was authorized by its thirteen member associations and individual companies to sign up.

Warden said adding: "It might possible to have some of the United in operation tomorrow."

150,000 COVERED The UMW estimated that about 150,000 miners would be covered by the signatures of the Southern producers.

UMW Chief John L. Lewis already had ordered the bulk of the country's 400,000 miners back to work upon signing of the new pact by Northern and "captive" mines and most of the Mid-Western and Far Western operators.

Warden said operators in a Tennessee district, Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky, delay signing the pact pending a decision by the UMW.

"I wish it to be governing, however," Warden said, "that this is a unanimous action of the association. It is not a strike. The operators are refusing to sign the contract."

"With this problem was raised with the United Mine Workers chief yesterday, Warden said, Lewis is unwilling to modify the contract in any way.

The three states from the risk of violating the state statutes.

Thousands Of Miners Return To Their Jobs

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Coal production spurred today with thousands of bituminous miners returning to their jobs in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky.

Many other thousands returned from the mines, pending local decisions on new contracts. Some states reported high absenteeism also was holding down production.

Pennsylvania counted about half its 100,000 miners on the job while West Virginia and Kentucky counted its 20,000 members were back at work.

Can Meet Demand No Shortage Of Steel Is Foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Waller S. Tower, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, said today that there is no continuing shortage of steel in this country.

Tower said that the present production of steel in this country is 1,219,370 tons, which is more than the country's capacity.

Iranians See Flying Saucers TEHRAN (AP)—The living saucer fever spread to Iran today, Press reports from Zabul, Shiraz and Sarbuzeh near the Afghan frontier said residents there had seen flying saucers.

Iranians see flying saucers. The living saucer fever spread to Iran today, Press reports from Zabul, Shiraz and Sarbuzeh near the Afghan frontier said residents there had seen flying saucers.

Weather Considerable cloudiness with moderate to heavy showers and light, scattered showers today. Thursday partly cloudy with showers.