Heart Airmen's High Court Justice Murphy

Truman To Name Murphy Successor Religion Figures In Court Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—The death of Justice Frank Murphy opens the way for President Truman to name his third appointee to the Supreme Court.

But the choice may not be an easy one.

By tradition, the post would go to a Roman Catholic since Murphy was the only member of that faith on the tribunal.

However, there has been widespread speculation for months that Robert P. Patterson, New York lawyer and former Secretary of War, would get the nod when the next vacancy occurred on the high court bench.

The religious angle dampened but did not still this talk. But it did bring at least one other name into the speculation—that of John C. O'Mahoney, a Catholic and an ardent supporter of what Mr. Truman has labeled "The Deal."

It was taken for granted that Mr. Truman will make every effort to pick a successor who will carry on Murphy's general philosophy as a champion of the poor and friends and of religious minorities.

The two Truman appointees now on the high court are Chief Justice Vinson and Justice Brandeis, who were named in 1946.

The Chief Justice took over on June 24, 1946.

In addition to Patterson and O'Mahoney, others who have figured in Supreme Court speculation include the former General Tom Clark, a Texas, and Senator John H. McGrath of Rhode Island, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Like O'Mahoney, McGrath is a Catholic. He was solicitor general of the United States before he was elected to the Senate in 1946. He was elected Governor of Rhode Island three times.

Patterson, while a Republican, has been very close to President Truman. When he quit as Secretary of War he ended seven years of Government service which Mr. Truman called "magnum."

Patterson served on Federal district and circuit court benches before entering government service in Washington.

The President told newsmen last week that Patterson was his authority for considering Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman as a good judge. Mr. Truman was defending Judge Kaufman's conduct of the Alger Hiss perjury trial in New York against Congressional criticism.

revised resolution which will be put to a vote Thursday.

It says: "Nothing contained in Article VI of the Constitution is a legal or moral obligation on the part of the United States to furnish arms, munitions, military, naval or air equipment or supplies to any foreign party or parties to an armed conflict."

New Deal Figure Dies In Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy died at 7:45 A. M. (EST) today.

Doctors at Henry Ford Hospital said the 58-year-old justice died of coronary occlusion, a heart affliction.

Murphy was appointed in 1940 to the Supreme Court by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Two years later, he had served one year as Governor of Michigan, before returning to the Supreme Court.

Before returning for Governor, Murphy served as the last Governor-General of the Philippine Islands.

Move To Write In Clause Pact Foes Fight Arms Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leading members of the North Atlantic pact joined forces today in a new major move to write a no-arms commitment in the pact.

This last-minute maneuver is expected to close the ranks of the pact's opponents and offer the greatest threat to the Administration's fight to have all reservations of the pact.

Senator Frank B. Rowan and Senator William E. Jenner of Indiana are the chief opponents of the pact.
