North Atlantic Defense Plans Ready

Force May Be Set Up By January

American Slated As Commander

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The combined military force for defense of Western Europe may be a going concern, headed by an American as supreme commander, within the next two months.

The military committee of the North Atlantic treaty organization last night completed a set of recommendations to be handed to the defense ministers of the twelve treaty powers when they meet here Saturday.

The blueprint prepared by the chiefs of staff composing the military committee provides for the collective defense of all the North Atlantic treaty area (both Europe and the Western Hemisphere group of Canada and the United States) as an integrated force for protection of the European area; the establishment of a supreme commander for the European force; the appointment of a supreme commander for the Western Hemisphere force.

ACTIVE BY JANUARY
There were broad hints that the nucleus of the European force, together with a supreme commander, would be functioning by January.

Neither the official communiqué nor an American spokesman who discussed it gave any hint on two points of major interest—the size of the collective force and the components of the nationality of the supreme commander.

The committee's recommendations centered on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, suggesting that he be named as the commander of the Western Hemisphere force.

NO TUBGENT
Eisenhower said he has not been informed of any "tubgent" on foreign policy. Charles F. Taft held Democratic Administration working for a time in the State Dept.

TAFT TO STUMP
Barley took to the stump for the Democratic National Committee after Mr. Truman abandoned plans for a campaign tour. The President said yesterday, however, that he is still considering a campaign speech or two, probably by radio.

Possible Call Of Congress Hit By GOP

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
President Truman's consideration of a special call to Congress was cited by Chairman Guy B. Gabrielson of the Republican National Committee last night as an indication Mr. Truman expects the Democrats to lose Congress.

LISTS ISSUES
When Mr. Truman confirmed yesterday that he is thinking of calling an extraordinary session of Congress sometime before Nov. 27 he mentioned as legislation on which he would like to exert an extraordinary session, an excess profits tax and a bill for Alaska and Hawaii.

AVOIDS NAMING TAFT
Addressing a campaign rally at Canton, Barley did not mention Taft by name but called for election of the entire Democratic state slate.

Reserve Policy For U.S. Sought

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall moved today to develop long-range plans for maintaining a strong reserve force with "a minimum interruption to the nation and the individual's normal existence."

TO SUGGEST POLICIES
The new committee will continue the study of this subject and recommend policies designed to eliminate "any uncertainties and inequities which have arisen under the present system."

4 Air Force Men Aboard
NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—The Air Force reported a twin-engine navigation training plane with four men aboard was presumed to have crashed into Lake Pontchartrain on the northern edge of New Orleans in a heavy pre-dawn fog.

Plane 'Presumed' Down In Louisiana Lake

At 10:30 A. M. (CST) a search plane reported it had sighted what appeared to be wreckage of the plane in the lake about one mile north of the New Orleans airport, located on the lake shore near an industrial canal connecting the lake with the Mississippi River.

SEARCH FOR WRECKAGE
Search for the wreckage had been hampered by the dense shroud of fog, the heaviest in New Orleans this year.

KNOWS CHINESE
Pointing out that Paik had fought against the Chinese Red Army in Manchuria before World War II, the American spokesman said he knew Paik's tactics well and believes that if they are hard on the Chinese, as we hit them yesterday, they will not stand up.

NO CONFIRMATION
There was still no official confirmation from higher military authorities concerning Chinese Communist participation in the war.

DANGEROUS TWILIGHT

The lengthening afternoon shadows at this time of the year serve as a warning to motorists with pedestrians.
One of the most dangerous seasons for traffic is just ahead. When the sun starts setting shortly before 5 o'clock, the after-work traffic rush reaches its peak in twilight.
Night makes headlights necessary, but not fully effective as in the dark.
It takes all kinds of events to round out the news of the nation and here are three instances followed by Acme cameramen. Left: Grandmother Mary Knorr, 63-year-old of Howell, Mich., built herself a five-room house. Only help she had was from her thirteen grandchildren who dug the basement and applied finishing touches to the electrical installations. Center: Patricia Flanagan of Milwaukee, 18, shows another student at Marquette a letter she received from the Los Angeles Rams asking her to play pro football.
