To Combat Korean Lies U. S. Opens Propaganda Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials held high hopes today for success in the American propaganda counter-offensive against Russia over who started aggression in Korea. The plan, sometimes referred to as "Operation Whistling Death," is to expose up to a point—Russia's stalling tactics in the United Nations and its support of the North Korean Communists. The idea is to tell all the facts about Soviet conduct—broadcast them over the Voice of America, illustrate them with movie-sets, and the like—but to do this strictly as a propaganda campaign and not to make formal charges which might force an open reply. Officials said present American policy calls for continuing diplomatic relations with Moscow and for taking no steps to force the Russians out of the U. N. This Government is still counting on eventual peace in Korea to improve rather than dim the prospects for world accord. The latest blast in propaganda campaign was issued yesterday by Secretary of State Acheson. He made three charges against Russia and its delegate in the U. N. Security Council, Jakob Malik. Acheson asserted in a statement (1) that the Soviets desire a Korean settlement which would be active daily by the U. N. (2) that Russian tactics of security Council are designed to thwart the U. N. effort to restore peace and security in Korea, and (3) that Malik has regarded "the duties of his office" as Communist president. President Truman on Thursday

Fighting Men G's Shifted Due to Get New Threat

TOKYO (Sunday)—(AP)—North Korean Reds poured heavy reinforcements across the Nakdong river Saturday on the central front of the Korean battle line. A communique from General MacArthur's headquarters early today said a North Korean prisoner of war reported three regiments of the Red Fourth Division had streamed across the river in the Changnyang and Waegwan sectors in the middle of the central front. To meet the mounting Red threat, units of the U. S. 25th Division rolled northward from the southern front. Two Communist roadblocks near Miryang, sixteen miles east of Changnyang, hampered American vehicles and war communications. American planes were using it. Pohaning itself appeared to be held in Red hands and had a flaming "no-man's land." Correspondent Left Erickson reported from Eighth Army headquarters that American officers were confident the Red Fourth Division was recapturing Pohaning.
