

PRESIDENT SPEAKS AT BRIGHAM YOUNG

Marjaret Truman (left) and President Truman (right) stand for the invocation given by Dr. Harry Swensen (center) during the President's brief stop in Provo, Utah at Brigham Young University, (United Press Telephoto).

Hits 'War Prosperity' Label

Stevenson Says Ike 'Comforts' Russians

By JACK BELL

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois today accused Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower of giving "comfort" to Soviet Russia by labeling American prosperity as war-born.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, said in an address prepared for the opening of a five-day campaign tour here that "there is no greater disservice the Republican candidate could do America in its world role today than to suggest that our economic strength at home is a war prosperity."

"When the general speaks of our prosperity as being war-born, who can gain comfort except the Soviets, who shoot to sea, world that we have undertaken our defense program, not to insure peace, but to prevent a pre-emptive attack by waging war abroad," the Illinois governor demanded. He added:

"We expect this kind of talk from irresponsible and isolationists, but not from a man who was formerly looked upon as an understanding leader in world affairs."

TAKES OFFENSIVE
Stevenson, scheduled to arrive here by air about noon from Springfield, Ill., thus prepared to take the offensive against his opponent, busily campaigning in the Pacific Northwest.

Eisenhower's statement in which Stevenson took off was made in several speeches. At Philadelphia on Sept. 4, the general declared that "today our initiative, imagination and productive system are once more tied and shackled to war and the prospect of war."

"Our economy is a war economy. Our prosperity is a war prosperity. Not so, said Stevenson. Instead, he contended that "our high standard of living has been maintained since the Korean outbreak, not because of the defense program but in spite of it."

OUTPUT BOOSTED
"It has been maintained for the simple reason that our great productive power has increased total national output by more than the defense burden has increased," the Democratic nominee said.

Stevenson's prepared Saginaw speech was only a preliminary to a major address he has scheduled tonight in Detroit on the phases of the Communist threat—internal and external. The speech will be televised and broadcast (10:20 p.m., EST, CBS).

The Detroit speech was billed as the climax of an afternoon of motorcycle campaigning through Ypsilanti, Wayne, Wyandotte, Ecorse and River Rouge in the highly industrialized area of Michigan.

In his Saginaw text, Stevenson said that "the idea that a huge military establishment is necessary for our prosperity is repugnant to every impulse I have."

U. S. FUTURE BRIGHT
He said the American economic future is bright, contending that annual outlays for farm and industrial equipment should rise 15 per cent, railroad equipment 20 per cent and truck manufacture 60 per cent.

"We shall need about 20 per cent more steel, 30 per cent more construction equipment and 30 per cent more metallic ores," he said. "Production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is "how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Stevenson went into the Republican for what he said was a "production of electric power and equipment should almost double."

"The Illinois governor said the real problem of the country is 'how can we produce enough to meet the demands of the second half of the 20th century?'"

Reds Renew Attacks Two Key Positions

Cheered In Seattle

Ike Ignores Adlai To Hit At Truman

By DON WHITEHEAD

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was virtually ignoring Adlai Stevenson today to feud with President Truman over which party would do the most for the Pacific Northwest in water power development.

The GOP candidate drew a bead on Truman as his prime target of ridicule and scorn while pushing through Washington into Oregon on his 28-state transcontinental drive.

His schedule during the day called for him to make talks at seven cities and towns in Washington and Oregon, with the major speech at Portland, Ore., at 1:45 p.m. (PST). The talks were scheduled for Tacoma, Centralia and Vancouver, Wash., and Portland, Salem, Albany and Eugene, Ore.

Last night in Seattle, Eisenhower referred to Truman as "an expert in political demagoguery" giving the people "a course in nonsense fiction." And he called the Truman regime a "whole-hog" government operating on the theory that "the federal government must do everything for us and to us."

The crowd of some 5,000 that jammed the Civic Arena cheered lustily. Eisenhower beamed. An additional 5,000 persons were seated in a high school football stadium nearby, listening to the speech through loud speakers.

The crowd cheered again when Eisenhower said of Truman's attacks against him and the Republicans:

"You have been conducted through an underworld of imaginary evils."

He went on to outline his own ideas about the development of Western resources which he said would mean "the full use of private resources plus a local-state-federal partnership" in reclamation projects.

He turned thumbs down on a

CAMP PICKETT, Va. (AP)—An Army general court martial today convicted Pvt. Hugh S. Carter, self-styled pacifist, of willful disobedience to report to a West Coast post of embarkation.

The court sentenced the 24-year-old Negro soldier to dishonorable discharge, forfeiture of all pay and allowances, and to be confined at hard labor for two years. The Army announced the court's findings.

Carter sat out a 12-day furlough and five days of allowed travel time on the railway station at near Blackstone, Va., in protest against being in the Army.

He refused to report to Ft. Lawton, an overseas replacement depot near Seattle, Wash.

A member of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect, Carter said it was against his religious beliefs to be in the Army. At the time of his sit-down protest he told reporters:

"I feel that it's wrong to kill and it's also wrong to help those directly involved in killing."

Carter, whose home is in Boston, Mass., was a medical corpsman at Camp Pickett. He left here July 17 on orders to report to Fort Lawton. Military police took him into custody on Aug. 6, shortly after expiration of the deadline for his appearance at Fort Lawton.

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

BAD SHOT SAVES DOG FROM DEATH

ROSSVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Butch, a 5-year-old hound chained under a burning house yesterday, howled helplessly as rescue efforts were blocked by flames.

A passerby, J. B. Durham of Chickamauga, Ga., seized a shotgun and fired at the dog's head, hoping to halt the house's suffering.

The pellets only clipped the dog's collar, however, and Butch dashed off to a cooling break.

Truman Says Eisenhower Not Equal To Job

President Asserts He Made 'Mistake'

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN — President Truman declared today that he made a "very serious mistake" when he chose Dwight D. Eisenhower to be his running mate.

He declared that the GOP nominee has "betrayed every principle about our foreign policy and our national defense that I thought he believed in."

"It has been a sad experience for me," Truman said in a speech prepared for delivery to a train-side crowd at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Truman said the President "has the awful responsibility" of deciding whether to use the atomic bomb and must be a man "who can stand up to the political pressure when he has to make tough decisions."

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

He also accused Eisenhower of trying to win votes by "playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea," and talking about "blunders" that led up to Korea when he joined in the decision to pull out troops out of Korea in the first place.

Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Eisenhower in a half-for-leather-swing through Colorado and Utah yesterday.

7 Allied Positions Fall To Red Drive

By STAN CARTER

SEOUL — (AP)—A major drive by 15,000 Chinese Communists, which toppled seven Allied hill positions in the first rush, was renewed in full force tonight against two key Seoul.

The Reds poured in heavy artillery barrages against the hills, then sent fresh troops charging up the heights which already were carpeted with an estimated 1,200 to 1,300 Communist dead, front reports said.

As fighting raged for the hills, front line officers called this biggest Red assault in a year a "limited offensive." It so far had been unable to dent the main Allied positions, but there was no letup.

At times it was a melee of tanks, artillery and hand grenades and bayonets as the Reds beat in ceaseless waves against the Allied lines across two-thirds of the 15-mile front.

The hill positions that fell were relatively minor Allied outposts stretching from one position near the armistice town of Panmunjom 100 miles northward.

The main prize, however, was White Horse Mountain and Arrowhead Ridge near Chonwon, which is about 45 miles north of Seoul. These heights command the road to Seoul and here the Reds threw their greatest punch.

WEAR GAS MASKS
Front reports said the attacking Chinese wear gas masks. There was no explanation given. The Reds repeatedly have accused the Allies of using gas in Korea and possibly they had begun to believe their own propaganda. The Allies insist they never have used gas.

Fighting was brutal. The Reds threw tanks, tanks and artillery into the battle, spread over two-thirds of the 15-mile battlefield.

But the Allies had known for three days of the attack and were ready for the assault.

The U. S. Eighth Army said the massive Red assault captured seven hill positions. But the Allied defenders stood their ground at most places. The Army added that many hundreds of Reds were killed.

The Army said "the Reds' main effort" was thrown back with heavy losses.

Allied warplanes roared over the front today, hitting the Red lines. Pilots said they destroyed two Red tanks and about 80 bunkers.

One Allied outfit fought and died to the last man in defending a vital hill. The number of men, presumably not large, was withheld.

A front-line Allied officer indicated the Reds may have been seeking a weak point where their

This was the first public display of the long-rumored "air police," forerunner of a new Communist South Korean force.

Many thousands of factory hands, blue-shirted Communist youth and other pro-Soviet delegations were marshaled for the display of Soviet fealty.

The parade past the Moscow-type Lenin statue in downtown Seoul was scheduled to last four hours.

Shenkin came to represent the benefit of the East German republic's third anniversary, despite the all-important Communist Party meeting now under way in Moscow.

Also here for the celebration are Polish Prime Minister Joseph Cyrankiewicz and Czechoslovak Deputy Premier Zdenek Fierlinger, accompanied by cabinet ministers and Communist Party officials from their respective countries.

Soviet Prime Minister Stalin sent Groteskoff "good wishes" for "further successes in the great job of building a unified, independent, democratic, peace-loving Germany."

The storm disrupted power service in Wollsville and two schools in Hornell were closed because of the hazard of live wires torn down.

Has Wet Snowfall
CORNING, N. Y. — Up to two inches of wet snow fell in Southwestern New York today and an old-timer said it was the earliest he had seen in at least 25 years.

The storm disrupted power service in Wollsville and two schools in Hornell were closed because of the hazard of live wires torn down.

Has Wet Snowfall
CORNING, N. Y. — Up to two inches of wet snow fell in Southwestern New York today and an old-timer said it was the earliest he had seen in at least 25 years.

The storm disrupted power service in Wollsville and two schools in Hornell were closed because of the hazard of live wires torn down.

Has Wet Snowfall
CORNING, N. Y. — Up to two inches of wet snow fell in Southwestern New York today and an old-timer said it was the earliest he had seen in at least 25 years.

The storm disrupted power service in Wollsville and two schools in Hornell were closed because