

Dr. Crane points out today that even a character should make a survey to determine what the members of the congregation would like to hear. He gives an example of some serious men who liked hymn-singing more than a social. Turn to Page 2-B.

How to Get Her Into the States?

SGT. SNYDER AND 'DAUGHTER' PAK HOEN JA
The $64 Question: How Can He Get Her Admitted to the United States?

Charlotte, N.C.—It was a question that has been plaguing Paul Snyder for some time. He is a young, well-to-do man who is married to a beautiful, young girl named Brigitte Inge. She is a native of Korea and is now living in Japan. Snyder is a member of the U.S. Army and is stationed at the Remington Rand plant near the Manchurian Border in the biggest overland pipeline in the world.

Local G. Adopts Korean Child

By DONALD MACDONALD
Charlotte News Staff Writer

How to get a little four-year-old Korean girl admitted to the United States is the chief concern of a young bachelor Army sergeant, now home in Charlotte on 30 days' leave.

For this reason, 1st Sgt. Paul Snyder Jr. doesn't talk much about his Korean War medals and citations. He doesn't care to talk about being a hero and a hero's son, which he helped to quell.

All of the 24-year-old infantryman is interested in is getting little Pak Hoen Ja, his brown-eyed adopted daughter, into the United States and into the arms of his father.

Already Sgt. Snyder is "father" to a little German girl, whom he adopted in Germany two years ago. Being a bachelor and the "father" of two little girls is quite unusual. But Sgt. Snyder smiles at his own luck.

The little German girl whom he adopted during his tour of duty with occupation forces in now living with Sgt. Snyder's parents, Col. and Mrs. Paul Snyder, 1021 W. 4th St. She was seven months old when the young sergeant found her in an Army hospital.

Taft Absent as Ohio GOP Convention Opens

By KEN DAVIS
COLUMBUS, O.—Ohio Republicans opened their state convention today with a conspicuous gap in their ranks despite substantial harmony within the party.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, the Cincinnati man who sought to be the party's nominee for President and who maintained great strides have been made in achieving still, although admitting "there still is much to be done."

In a news conference, Summerfield said the GOP would "crack the solid South" in November elections.

STORM SIGNS

Possibly you've heard an old saying that "when the water boils off the potatoes a storm is coming."

There is some truth in it. The lower the atmospheric pressure, the lower the boiling point of water. In other words, a falling barometer, which precedes a storm, causes water to reach its boiling point sooner, but because the boiling point is lower than normal, it takes longer for the potatoes, or whatever, to cook. Thus the water may boil off the potatoes before they're cooked, when a storm is approaching.
