

THOMAS L. ROBINSON... J. E. DOWD... B. S. GRUFFITH... C. A. MCKNIGHT

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1952

ON DIFFERENCES OF DEGREES

SHORTLY after Dwight Eisenhower returned from Europe to seek the GOP Presidential nomination, a reporter asked him for comment on a statement by Senator Taft that difference on foreign policy between Taft and Eisenhower were mainly differences of degree.

In reply, the St. Louis Post Dispatch asks: "Is it a difference of degree that General Eisenhower stands foursquare for American participation in the collective security of Europe, while Senator Taft was one of 13 die-hards in the Senate to vote against ratification of the Atlantic Pact?"

SEPTEMBER INTERLUDE

FOR A GOOD many reasons, not the least of which is the schedule of the public schools, most American families take their vacations in the hot, humid months of June, July, and August.

He may lose two or three days of sun when a Nor'easter brings the desolates and rains to the coast, but the loss is small in comparison to the pleasures that remain.

WHEN IN DOUBT, PASS TWO RESOLUTIONS

AS ALL GOOD American club members know, the resolutions committee is a very important part of their organization. When something is wrong, or right, someone must resolve.

We have just been reading the several hundred resolutions approved by the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. We know, of course, that all members endorse the VFW's drive to permit shipment by mail of live scrapions (Res. No. 10), and are concerned over the fate of scorpion dogs used in the desert.

GENTLEMAN, BE SEATED!

AN ORGANIZATION is being formed in the town to try to get men on trolleys carrying women are standing, so that women may sit and men may stand.

Women, being what they are, are entitled to courteous consideration. But all things should be within reason and done with moderation, as the Hixites used to say.

appointment of any American to lead any international arm of the "free Europe" program. "It is a difference of degree that the Korean war is Truman's War to Taft and a necessary sacrifice of United Nations responsibility to Eisenhower?"

The written statement of Taft brought to the Eisenhower conference, in a strange reversal of the victor and vanquished roles, wants further explanation before the independent voters of the U. S. can know just where Eisenhower stands on foreign policy.

seafood markets are full of speckled trout and flounders and bluefish and mackerel, and there's a plenty of crabmeat to be had if one will just hike the yomoteer to a string with a fish head on one end, and stand by ready with the net.

In September, the loofer has the beach almost to himself. There's room for playing catch and for sunbathing and sunbathing in the water for maneuvering the raft made of three inner tubes lashed to a single board.

Support For Dean From Cabarrus

EDITH, The News: The late Tola Davis Maness of Concord was one of the best lawyers that ever practiced law in North Carolina.

But, in Res. No. 301, the VFW opposes "the use of federal aid to education." And, in Res. No. 32, VFW is asked to "co-operate with the American National Red Cross in assisting in the contribution and collection of blood for use by the armed forces."

Well, maybe the intent was to give the participants of the base of operations back home. If that's the case, congratulations on a fine job. The encampment was even kinder to the boys than Republican or Democratic platform writers were to their candidates.

Drew Pearson's Merry-Go-Round

THE Republican command has worked out a high-powered publicity campaign which will be unique in the history of American politics, and is calculated to bring victory in November.

It'll Be Nice To Get-Back To Normal

People's Platform

Letters should be brief. The writer's name and address must be given, but may be withheld from publication in the discretion of the Editor.

Support For Dean From Cabarrus

EDITH, The News: The late Tola Davis Maness of Concord was one of the best lawyers that ever practiced law in North Carolina.

People's Platform

Letters should be brief. The writer's name and address must be given, but may be withheld from publication in the discretion of the Editor.

A Ghost, Perhaps

EDITH, The News: Regarding Mr. Williams' letter, "Disasters, Non-Communist Silence" in Saturday's paper, I dare say I have little superlatives in me as any man, but perhaps I see in this column:

Drew Pearson's Merry-Go-Round

THE Republican command has worked out a high-powered publicity campaign which will be unique in the history of American politics, and is calculated to bring victory in November.

Struggle For Control Of The Republican Party Continues

BY JOSEPH ALSO

CLEVELAND FROM THIS particular angle of vision, Senator Robert A. Taft's promise to "outstep the grass roots" does not look quite so important or decisive as most people seem to think.

Something quite different stands out from Taft's "harmony" statement and press conference after his breakfast with General Eisenhower. When Senator Taft was asked a specific question about foreign policy, campaign strategy and similar topics, he brought out his disagreement with the General. He was refused to accept General Eisenhower's position.

These are the points that strike this reporter, at any rate, at the conclusion of a preliminary campaign tour. And this is the case, in turn, because the continuation of the bitter battle for control of the Republican Party is one of the most significant features of this election, at least out here in the Midwest.

In the period after the convention, this Republican power struggle was waged behind closed doors at the Eisenhower headquarters in Denver. There was a "moment" then, when Taft supporters almost seemed to be brought back to direct Eisenhower's campaign.

One result was an early campaign schedule which required a fast pace, neglecting, of course, where Senator Taft's Senate supporters were running for re-election.

Fond Memories

EDITH, The News: YOUR kind words and the fine co-operation which you have shown me in the past two and one-half years will long be remembered by me.

Quote, Unquote

In these latter days when a man is fast becoming just a number on a payroll, army roster or concentration camp, it is not surprising that some of our Colonial days, when a man had a mind of his own, and everybody expected and appreciated it.

To Each His Own Song

What a far cry from today, when if a man is carried away in church and booms out louder than his neighbors, the organist will give him the Republican and Democratic parties from the altar, becoming a little "tetchy."

People's Platform

THE best of the GOP publicity plan, which speaks for itself, flows from radio and TV can be accomplished by asking national advertisers to surrender their spots for these three weeks, thus throwing their purchase order to the GOP.

Struggle For Control Of The Republican Party Continues

BY JOSEPH ALSO

CLEVELAND FROM THIS particular angle of vision, Senator Robert A. Taft's promise to "outstep the grass roots" does not look quite so important or decisive as most people seem to think.

Something quite different stands out from Taft's "harmony" statement and press conference after his breakfast with General Eisenhower. When Senator Taft was asked a specific question about foreign policy, campaign strategy and similar topics, he brought out his disagreement with the General.

These are the points that strike this reporter, at any rate, at the conclusion of a preliminary campaign tour. And this is the case, in turn, because the continuation of the bitter battle for control of the Republican Party is one of the most significant features of this election, at least out here in the Midwest.

In the period after the convention, this Republican power struggle was waged behind closed doors at the Eisenhower headquarters in Denver. There was a "moment" then, when Taft supporters almost seemed to be brought back to direct Eisenhower's campaign.

One result was an early campaign schedule which required a fast pace, neglecting, of course, where Senator Taft's Senate supporters were running for re-election.

Fond Memories

EDITH, The News: YOUR kind words and the fine co-operation which you have shown me in the past two and one-half years will long be remembered by me.

Quote, Unquote

In these latter days when a man is fast becoming just a number on a payroll, army roster or concentration camp, it is not surprising that some of our Colonial days, when a man had a mind of his own, and everybody expected and appreciated it.

To Each His Own Song

What a far cry from today, when if a man is carried away in church and booms out louder than his neighbors, the organist will give him the Republican and Democratic parties from the altar, becoming a little "tetchy."

People's Platform

THE best of the GOP publicity plan, which speaks for itself, flows from radio and TV can be accomplished by asking national advertisers to surrender their spots for these three weeks, thus throwing their purchase order to the GOP.

Military Hazard Pay Puts Premium On Patriotism

By ROBERT C. BUARK

ALL THE gripes are up again over extra combat pay for certain elements, under certain conditions and certain time limits.

Quote, Unquote

In these latter days when a man is fast becoming just a number on a payroll, army roster or concentration camp, it is not surprising that some of our Colonial days, when a man had a mind of his own, and everybody expected and appreciated it.

To Each His Own Song

What a far cry from today, when if a man is carried away in church and booms out louder than his neighbors, the organist will give him the Republican and Democratic parties from the altar, becoming a little "tetchy."