HIS SPEECH CONVINCING UNTIL—

DALLAS, Tex.—(AP)—A 27-year-old driver who stubbornly insisted he was sober was pretty convincing in his talk. But his slightly misty feet made police look closer. Then he said: "I'm drunk as I've got to go to jail. I'm glad it's right here in Waxahatchee."

This is the first time a man has been arrested for driving while intoxicated in Dallas. The man, who was arrested by Dallas police, said he was a member of the Dallas Police Athletic Association.

Reports of damage were delayed by poor communications. No casualties were reported.

Cotton Forecast 846,000 Bales Below Month Ago

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today estimated that this year's cotton crop at 13,880,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, a 2.5 per cent decrease from 14,225,000 bales a month ago. It compares with a government production goal of 15 million bales and with forecasts of total needs of between 13,000,000 and 14,000,000 bales.

Severe dry weather during July and early August damaged the crop in some Southeastern areas to reduce production prospects. In an accompanying report, the Census Bureau said 1,412,000 running bales from this year's crop had been ginned prior to Sept. 1. This compares with 2,013,653 ginned to the same date last year and 628,401 two years ago. Cotton production was 15,444,000 bales last year and 17,775,000 for the 1950 average.

The condition of the crop as of Sept. 1 was reported at 69 per cent of normal compared with 75 per cent a year ago. The average yield of cotton to the acre was reported at 770 pounds compared with 277.4 indicated a month ago and 271.9 for the 1951 crop.

Eisenhower, Taft to Meet; Caudle's '1-Party Press'

General Eisenhower and Dwight D. Eisenhower came into Sen. Robert A. Taft's home state today in a party harmony move, and appealed directly to the people to help him in his crusade to "clean up the mess" in Washington.

Eisenhower told a cheering crowd of several thousand supporters in front of the Carter Hotel that he wanted each to work in his campaign. And he asked them each to get 10 others to do the same—and take each of the other 10 to get an additional 20.

It was one of the most direct appeals yet made by Eisenhower, who has made for actual votes. His speeches hitherto have dealt chiefly with the campaign issues rather than specific appeals for votes.

As the general arrived here, Senator Taft himself, Eisenhower's chief rival for the nomination, was in Washington. The Senator and Arthur Summerfield, national party chairman, held a news conference after which Summerfield told reporters that Eisenhower would get together in the immediate future and that he expected Taft to take a "major part" in the campaign.

This was followed by a statement from Taft that his role would await "a conference with General Eisenhower which is being arranged by the National Republican Party."

The Senator and Arthur Summerfield, national party chairman, held a news conference after which Summerfield told reporters that Eisenhower would get together in the immediate future and that he expected Taft to take a "major part" in the campaign.

"I am convinced," he said, "that nearly all publishers are doing it in their honest belief, according to their lights—even if I must confess that sometimes their lights seem to me a little dim."

"I am touched when I read in these papers solutions editorially advanced by the two-party system. I am in favor of a two-party system in politics. And I am not kidding myself about the difficulties which we are developing as one party in a two-party country."

"As an ex-operative and as a citizen, I am frankly concerned about the implications of this one-party system for our American people and our free society."

The Democratic candidate spoke before a group of Oregon newspaper editors, publishers and radio men at a luncheon in Portland tonight, extending his hard-driving campaign to the Pacific Coast.

"It is going to be a tough campaign," Stevenson said, "and I am not kidding myself about the difficulties which we are developing as one party in a two-party country."

"I have that a lot of ground to make up. I have made up some of it, but we still have a little distance to go. But I figure too that we are going to win."

It was the first time Stevenson has publicly discussed the progress of his campaign. In saying it was going to be "tough," he also paid a tribute to the Republican candidate, Sen. Dwight Eisenhower.

"My opponent is a great general who has served the Army and the Nation," he said. "I am going to be a tough campaign, and I am not kidding myself about the difficulties which we are developing as one party in a two-party country."

Miss America Begins Travels

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A 19-year-old Georgian, 19-year-old Neva Jane Langley, launches a whirlwind personal appearance tour today as the 1952 Miss America.

For the next year, the 19-year-old green-eyed brunette will be on a busy schedule that may net her considerably more than the $5,000 scholarship prize that went with the beauty crown. Mrs. Evelyn Joyce Seaman, wife of a Newark toy salesman, promptly filed for divorce after she selected her last night at Asbury Park.

Floods Leave 5,000 Homeless in Korea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Torrential rains last week left 5,000 persons in the southwestern corner of Korea homeless and flooded thousands of acres of rice fields, government officials reported today.

Reports of damage were delayed by poor communications. No casualties were reported.

Lint Forecast Causes Sharp Bost in Price

The Government estimate today reducing the South's cotton crop to 1,280,000 bales threw the textile industry and cotton trade of this industrial center into a dither. Prices quickly soared wide a ways.

The decrease of 865,000 bales in the estimate from Aug. 1's forecast came as a heavy blow to the textile industry. The Government had reported that the South Koreans hoped that this year's crop would be at least 20,000,000 bales to meet domestic needs and export prospects, and to provide a comfortable carryover next summer.

Seldom in peacetime has the textile industry and the cotton trade shown as keen interest in a cotton crop estimate as was shown in the one announced today. Recently the cotton market has been upending irregularly because of a combination of factors.

"Lord Thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations, before the mountains were brought forth, or ever there had been earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, Thou art God. At this evening hour, we look to Thee. Thy constant protective care. We thank Thee that we are Thy children and may, following with our best feet, be there in Christ's Name. Amen."
