Kidnapers Back In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The confessed kidnaper-killer of Bobby Greenlee today returned after heavy guard to Kansas City, where the abduction of the 6-year-old boy took place just 15 days ago.

Until about Carl Austin Hall and his woman friend, Mrs. Bonnie Brown, were brought here by automobile in custody of U. S. Marshal Omar Schmitz. Both were manacled. Officers placed them in 11th floor detention cells in the county jail.

Officers who made the trip here with them said Hall still refused to talk.

Prisons Medical Director Sought

RALEIGH (AP)—Prison Director W. F. Bailey said today he was looking for a new medical director for the prison system following his action yesterday in discharging Dr. John D. Browning.

Browning's discharge followed Bailey's investigation of the death in the hospital Oct. 2 of convict Charles Frank, 26. Frank was found in an isolation cell about 1:30 a.m. "bleeding badly" from a slash on the inside of his upper arm.

Bailey stated that he has given orders that professional nurses be sought so that a nurse will be on duty at all hours at the Central Prison hospital.

Until a new director is hired, Bailey said arrangements have been made for Raleigh doctors to look after patients at the Central Prison hospital.

Bailey released statements from prison personnel yesterday showing that prisoner-nurses, not professional nurses, treated Frank, stopped his bleeding and sewed up his wound, which required 12 stitches.

The statements said that Dr. Browning was notified of the patient's condition and was told

Cook Confesses Slaying Woman in Fit Of Jealousy

NEW YORK (AP)—A diminutive Chinese cook admitted slaying a woman in a fit of jealousy and then carving her body to pieces with a steak knife.

The cook, James Lew, 34, was scheduled for arraignment today on a charge of homicide.

Meanwhile, police continued a search of the Columbia University section of Manhattan for the slain woman, who had been identified as the slain woman, whose torso was found early Sunday.

Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan announced last night that Lew had admitted killing the 33-year-old convicted prostitute and dope addict.

Lew was quoted as saying he slayed her to death early Saturday after she told him she planned to marry another man on Sunday—the day her torso was found in an expensive leather suitcase on a sidewalk.

The other man was identified as Raymond Spivak.

Monaghan said Lew stated he and the woman quarreled in his room, she slapped his face and then she stabbed her eight or nine times. Almost 19 hours later, Lew was quoted as saying, he dismembered and disposed of the body after sleeping in the room with it.

Lew, who is just over 5 feet tall and weighs 120 pounds, said he came to this country 10 years ago from China. He said he met Miss Gibbons in a restaurant 15 months ago.

 State Anger Grows As Reply Awaited

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Anti-Western violence increased today as angry Yugoslavians awaited Western reaction to President Tito's threats and notes designed to halt the transfer of northern Trieste to Italy.

Soviet Demands International Trieste Control

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union today demanded that the U. N. Security Council try to set up an international administration for the Free Territory of Trieste.

Chief Soviet Delegate Andrei V. Vishinskiy called on the council to jump into the explosive Trieste question "here and now."

He submitted a resolution for action by the 11-nation council which would:

1. Appoint Col. Hermann Flicker of Switzerland as governor of the disputed region at the head of the Adriatic Sea.
2. Set up a provisional council to help him govern the area.
3. Establish the complete independence of a free territory of Trieste—including both Yugoslav-occupied Zone B and Zone A, which has been occupied by British and American troops—within three months after the appointment of a governor.

The council rejected a similar Russian resolution, May 10, 1948. Russia has already accused the United States and Britain of a "grave violation" of the Italian peace treaty by their decision to turn over administration of their occupation zone of Trieste to the Italians.

Jackson County Prosecutor Richard Phelps agreed to let the federal government prosecute the two kidnappers. State charges had previously been filed.

The FBI said Hall and his woman friend admitted they dug Bob's shallow grave behind Mrs. Hall's house. Mrs. Hall, 35, was charged with kidnapping.

More than $25,000 of the ransom money, in $10 and $20 bills, is in the apartment-hotel room where Hall was seized, Hall claims. He doesn't know what happened to the rest of the $50,000 ransom.

Dept. Of Agriculture Reorganization Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary Benson today outlined his plan to reorganize the Agriculture Department, declaring it would reduce the number of employees and cut costs yet provide "better service for farm families."

The plan has been under study for some time and involved it at a news conference and invited comment from interested parties.

He said he had studied reaction, he intended to put into effect some of the plan as he deems advisable.

Any suggested changes, he said, should be submitted by Nov. 1.

In his talk with newsmen, Benson emphasized that no major functions of the department would be eliminated.

He pointed out that the department has been a going concern for more than a century and that it is not so.

"This reorganization streamlines the department for better service for farm families and for simpler internal organization."

He gave no figures as to how many employees he thought might be released or how much money he thought might be saved.

Eliminated under the new plan are the Agricultural Marketing Administration (FMA) and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics (BAE).

Life Inside Russia Like Another World

Editor's Note—Last month three student editors, granted visas by Moscow, flew off for a two-week visit to the Soviet Union. They returned last week with a story that is what they saw, as related by one of the group, 22-year-old Edward Hollander of the University of Michigan.

In the two weeks I spent there, I was never allowed to forget the Iron Curtain.

We toured Moscow's busy, wide streets frequently. Leaving the Hotel National, I noticed the many millionaires. They were not followed in our ruble-wrecking tour but, curiously, NYD men showed up often. They wore long, heavy blue overcoats, with red epaulets, and pistols were visible on their hips.

Once, at a state-owned market of Gorki street, I took a picture of a woman. The Gorki street market was a chance to buy scarce Ukrainian melons. I argued that the tourist bureau had given us permission. He finally checked and came back to approve. The crowd seemed to marvel.

From what I could see, Muscovites spend many non-working hours waiting in line. Just for a loaf of bread, I queued up with them for bread-shaped like bagels—candy, which was tasty, and candy, which was very rubbery. For each of the three items, I had to queue up three times.

First, you line up to find out what they're selling and for how much. Then you line up to get a purchase ticket from the censor.

After that, I saw many Russians return to slum homes, hidden behind an ill-fated facade of massive buildings. I looked into lighted windows on people living four or five to one dreary room.

We found the New Moscow State University a gleaming, imperious moonlight at Lenin Hills. It looked splendid. Most of its 7,000 students, we found, were there on scholarship. Some got preference by putting in two years of voluntary labor in the construction of the school.

We found the students proud of their university. One, Sergei Shchukin, a philosophy major with a blond mop of hair, asked excitedly, "How fast do you elevators run?"

"How fast do you elevators run?"

"How fast do you elevators run?"
