

Table with 2 columns: Category and Price. Includes rates for 100 Radio & TV, 100 News, 100 Sports, 100 Features, 100 Education, 100 Living, 100 World, 100 Pictures.

RAIN WOULD HELP

'Smaze' Plagues Atlantic Coast

NEW YORK.—A four-day concentration of city fumes and smoke has continued today to curtain and haze coastal areas from New England to Virginia.

Health Department authorities in the New York Metropolitan area and New Jersey were keeping a close watch on death reports to see if the twilight-gray "smaze" would add to fatalities.

Hundreds of persons have complained of scratchy throats and irritated eyes and noses, with chronic asthma sufferers being the worst hit.

The unreasonably warm weather—yesterday's high was 69.9—has caused this unusual situation. A layer of warm air has formed a ceiling over colder air at ground level, with the upper air acting as a lid to keep fumes and smoke from dispersing.

The only relief in sight was a forecast of "some rain beginning tonight or Sunday." A cold wave moving east from Chicago could break up the condition but that might take several more days.

Airliners experienced only minor delays during the daylight hours yesterday. However, by midnight last night all incoming and outgoing flights at La Guardia and Idlewild airports were canceled.

Many observers have started comparing the fume and smoke haze with the smog in Great Britain last year which killed 12,000 persons.

Dr. Morris B. Jacobs director of the New York City Air Pollution Control Laboratory said the gray pall hanging over the area was not as smog which is a combination of smoke and fog.

"In addition to soot," Jacobs said "the haze includes particles of such things as fly ash, dust, earth, tars, asphalt, grit, loose paint from buildings and windows, rubber rubbed off tires by friction, and anything loose and likely to blow upward."

In Elizabeth N. J., yesterday a "health alert" was sounded, that community being one of the hardest hit in the foul-air areas. First aid clinics were busy treating residents and workers for stinging eyes, burning noses, headaches and nausea.

Health authorities here said there was no sign yet of a rise in the death rate, but added that the faulty air could have the death of persons already suffering from respiratory or heart ailments.

At one Health Department spokesman put it: "It hasn't lasted long enough to determine its effects. Death records usually lag a couple of days behind actual deaths in reaching this office."

"We have no indication of any rise in the mortality rate. But we are keeping a close watch on the situation. Highway conditions worsened with the coming of nightfall, and early today the New Jersey Turnpike lowered its speed limit from 60 to 35 miles an hour."

Using masks to escape the dangers of a London "smaze," these ice show performers head for London rehearsal. They won't recognize them, but behind the disguises are (left to right) Joan Copelan, Joan Council and Maureen Pate. (AP Wirephoto)

THIS MODERN AGE

Gillette Urges Overhauling of Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, Pa.—Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa) today urged a complete overhaul of U. S. foreign policy and program "to bring them in line with President Eisenhower's latest proposals."

"Instead of a race to build the world into two massive military camps, we should put our emphasis on universal knowledge, understanding and cooperation, as the President said," Gillette, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview.

"A drastic cutback in multi-billion dollar outlays for military buildup here and abroad is the only possible way to cut out campaign pledges of tax reductions and a balanced budget, Gillette said.

The Iowa senator referred to Eisenhower's informal speech here Thursday to a Catholic University convocation at which he received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

"The President said there was no peace in military strength alone and urged unity "among those who think we do," as countries others that:

"Those who seek peace in terms of military strength alone, in certain, are doomed to end up in the agony of the battlefield."

The President said that the peoples of the world—not the rulers of some—share a "longing for peace."

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have called repeatedly for a settlement of the Korean dispute from Russia as a sign the Kremlin really wants peace. Such moves as agreement on a Korean peace treaty and unification of Germany, they say, would set the stage for such talks to settle East-West differences.

Dulles has criticized the Truman administration "policy of containment," under which Western influences would check the spread of communism. Instead, Dulles argues the United States must offer the Red satellites a realistic picture of war to inspire hope of eventual liberation.

Dulles has supported past foreign aid programs complained that recently all the emphasis has been placed upon a rapid buildup of military strength.

"Even Germany and Japan, our former enemies, now are being pressured to return to big and additional cost to their people and our taxpayers," he said.

"If this trend continues we may carry out the Soviet Russian prediction that we will bleed ourselves white in an arms race bankrupt in an armaments race."

"It could bankrupt us economically and morally as well as at a point that we follow our leadership," Gillette said he agrees with Eisenhower's view that military and economic strength must not be neglected, but he added:

"We know," she confessed, "I had always thought the word 'Kalamazoo' was just a funny joke until my manager told me a contract. Then I found it was a town I was going to sing in." She said, until she was booked for a concert there, too.

Boys Will Be Boys—College Kid Variety

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—Cadet corps members at Texas A&M College have forced a non-military student to leave the campus because he criticized student customs, the junior student reported.

John Clark, 20, of Odessa, Tex., said he was "evicted out of town Thursday night by some 35 or 40 students who packed his belongings in his car and gave him money for gasoline."

School authorities said they deplored the action and were investigating.

Clark said by telephone last night the students, whom he identified as "mostly seniors," told him they could not make him leave school but "intimated I might get shoved around if I didn't."

He said he cited such things as freshmen having to wear lipstick before the football game with the University of Texas and the painting of signs on campus buildings.

Demand Return of All POWs Being Retained

DEAN ACCUSES REDS OF DELAYING ACTION

FANNINGTON, Va.—The Allies today accused the Communists of holding back some prisoners of war and told the Reds to turn over to India a custody immediately—all those POWs you still retain."

Maj. Gen. J. K. Lacey told Communist members of the Military Armistice Commission that three Korean soldiers who sought refuge at an American seaport box Thursday were South Korean war captives who had been forced into the Red army.

The Communists asked for a recess to study Lacey's statement then 30 minutes later asked for and were granted more time.

The chief Allied member of the Armistice Commission told newsmen the ROK soldiers provided evidence that the Communists "have forcibly retained prisoners after they had certified that all were to be released into the hands of the NNRC (Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission)."

Lacey also told the Communists to "release all POWs held on the line of interview Chinese and Korean war prisoners who have refused to be repatriated."

The explanation program has been stalled by Red refusal to accept a warm-up trial speed-up the interviews. Lacey accused the Communists of delaying the program deliberately because of "diastrophic" results.

Only about 3 per cent of the approximately 250 prisoners interviewed so far have elected to return to Communist rule.

Lacey also said the Communist diplomats continued efforts to arrange a Korean peace conference—and now are trying to speed up the interviews. Lacey accused the Communists of delaying the program deliberately because of "diastrophic" results.

U.S. envoy Arthur H. Dean accused the Reds of delaying and making a farce of the preliminary negotiations.

"Does it really help you to call me a warm-up trial speed-up a rogue, insincere, irrational, lacking in common sense and frivolous?" Lacey asked.

Dean curtly rejected a Red suggestion that neutral nations attend the peace conference to regulate the debate of belligerents. He said the suggestion was merely a Communist ruse to prevent the Russians into a position where it could dominate the conference.

Two Slain Gun Battle

FAYETTEVILLE, Va.—Two men died today in a blazing gun battle in a country store at Gravenor's Crossroads near Fayetteville.

Sherril L. G. Guy identified the slain as a 30-year-old member of the store, and Wilbert Lee Humphrey of Indianapolis, Ind., a sales salesman.

Mrs. Guy, who said she was in the rear of the store when the shootings took place told this story:

"About 9 a. m. a man and woman drove up to the combination store-filling station apparently to buy gas. The man entered the store."

"She heard shouting and ran to the front of the store. Her husband was lying on the floor, his pistol in his hand. She saw a woman holding the other man, who was slugging the man in the exchange, out of the store."

"The man Ivey said the man left a trail of blood behind him. He said she rushed her husband to a hospital where he died shortly afterward. He had been shot four times with a .22 caliber Remington-Union carbine."

At the hospital doctors found more than $300 in Ivey's pockets.

White Case Jeop. Planned by GOP

WASHINGTON.—The Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said today the Harry Dexter White case has given a "tremendous lift" to the GOP in view of next year's congressional election campaign.

But Democratic senators said they doubt any advantage the Republicans may have gained will last long. They predicted the administration's farm, tax and spending programs will be regarded by the voters as far more important.

Hall said in an interview he believes the charges of laxity toward White in government, made by Atty. Gen. Brown and former President Truman, "have helped the GOP in the view of next year's congressional election campaign."

But Democratic senators said they doubt any advantage the Republicans may have gained will last long. They predicted the administration's farm, tax and spending programs will be regarded by the voters as far more important.

Hall said in an interview he believes the charges of laxity toward White in government, made by Atty. Gen. Brown and former President Truman, "have helped the GOP in the view of next year's congressional election campaign."

But Democratic senators said they doubt any advantage the Republicans may have gained will last long. They predicted the administration's farm, tax and spending programs will be regarded by the voters as far more important.

Hall said in an interview he believes the charges of laxity toward White in government, made by Atty. Gen. Brown and former President Truman, "have helped the GOP in the view of next year's congressional election campaign."

But Democratic senators said they doubt any advantage the Republicans may have gained will last long. They predicted the administration's farm, tax and spending programs will be regarded by the voters as far more important.

Hall said in an interview he believes the charges of laxity toward White in government, made by Atty. Gen. Brown and former President Truman, "have helped the GOP in the view of next year's congressional election campaign."

But Democratic senators said they doubt any advantage the Republicans may have gained will last long. They predicted the administration's farm, tax and spending programs will be regarded by the voters as far more important.

Hall said in an interview he believes the charges of laxity toward White in government, made by Atty. Gen. Brown and former President Truman, "have helped the GOP in the view of next year's congressional election campaign."

But Democratic senators said they doubt any advantage the Republicans may have gained will last long. They predicted the administration's farm, tax and spending programs will be regarded by the voters as far more important.

Hall said in an interview he believes the charges of laxity toward White in government, made by Atty. Gen. Brown and former President Truman, "have helped the GOP in the view of next year's congressional election campaign."

But Democratic senators said they doubt any advantage the Republicans may have gained will last long. They predicted the administration's farm, tax and spending programs will be regarded by the voters as far more important.

Hall said in an interview he believes the charges of laxity toward White in government, made by Atty. Gen. Brown and former President Truman, "have helped the GOP in the view of next year's congressional election campaign."

But Democratic senators said they doubt any advantage the Republicans may have gained will last long. They predicted the administration's farm, tax and spending programs will be regarded by the voters as far more important.

Hall said in an interview he believes the charges of laxity toward White in government, made by Atty. Gen. Brown and former President Truman, "have helped the GOP in the view of next year's congressional election campaign."

But Democratic senators said they doubt any advantage the Republicans may have gained will last long. They predicted the administration's farm, tax and spending programs will be regarded by the voters as far more important.

Hall said in an interview he believes the charges of laxity toward White in government, made by Atty. Gen. Brown and former President Truman, "have helped the GOP in the view of next year's congressional election campaign."

But Democratic senators said they doubt any advantage the Republicans may have gained will last long. They predicted the administration's farm, tax and spending programs will be regarded by the voters as far more important.

Autos and trucks creep through low-hanging smoke and fog which blanket the New Jersey Turnpike. (AP Wirephoto)

'Salted' Shotgun Bast Kills Man

INDIANAPOLIS.—A hand-some 34-year-old bakery employee was hit in the chest and killed last night by the blast of a shotgun shell filled with table salt.

The victim, Ernest Poor, died inside the doorway of the home of his divorcee girl friend. Sheriff's deputies said the woman's mother admitted firing the shot.

The mother, Mrs. Frances Springling, 26, was held without bond on a preliminary charge of murder. Sgt. Richard Parker quoted her as saying:

"I'd heard it was a good thing to do to load them with salt. You can't get hurt that way."

Parker said the shooting apparently grew out of a dispute between Poor and the woman's daughter, Mrs. Betty Horton, 25, which ended their romance.

"Ernest said he'd get me if I'd try to quit him," Parker said he was told by Mrs. Horton, the mother of three children.

He said the two women lived in a 20-gauge shotgun," Parker said the muzzle must have been less than six inches from Poor's chest when the trigger was pulled.

"He died instantly," Parker said "We don't know yet whether it was the salt that killed him or the paper wadding of the shell. It was a real freak shot."

My Lon! My Son!

WASHINGTON.—"My son! My son! Bless the Lord!"

Shouting these words and waving her arms in the air, Berdie Dickenson early today rushed into the arms of her son, the prisoner of war who embraced her wholeheartedly and then changed his mind.

It was the first time Cp. Edward Dickenson had seen his mother in more than three years and for a breathless moment a score of reporters and photographers crowded about the scene.

Then pandemonium broke loose. Photo flashes snapped and questions rained on the air. Berdie Dickenson said all this the Dickenson mother, father, son and sister went on embracing and weeping.

"I thought he was dead," cried Mrs. Dickenson. "But the Lord has given me back my son!"

Ed's father, 73-year-old W. B. Dickenson, kissed the 23-year-old soldier and cried:

"God bless you," said the elderly farmer from Cracker's Neck, Va. The family about 10 minutes together at Andrews Air Force Base. Then Ed was placed in a bus and sent off to the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center for a physical check-up—"just like any other POW," said an Army officer.

WASHINGTON.—"My son! My son! Bless the Lord!"

Shouting these words and waving her arms in the air, Berdie Dickenson early today rushed into the arms of her son, the prisoner of war who embraced her wholeheartedly and then changed his mind.

It was the first time Cp. Edward Dickenson had seen his mother in more than three years and for a breathless moment a score of reporters and photographers crowded about the scene.

Winning Game Worth $2,225,000

Who Says Football Doesn't Pay Off?

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A school whose chief benefactor apologetically explained his gifts had amounted to only 25 million dollars, not 210 million, had another $2,225,000 from him today for today's game with Texas Tech.

The school is burgeoning University of Houston and the oilman philanthropist with football fever is Hugh Roy Cullen.

The oilman, pleased with the school's football win over Baylor last week, announced his gift yesterday at a campus pep rally for today's game with Texas Tech.

"The great spirit and determination shown by the Cougars last Saturday in defeating Baylor fills me with enthusiasm and prompts me to do something for our great university," Cullen said. Nobody doubts his enthusiasm when he every man for herself.

'Salted' Shotgun Bast Kills Man

INDIANAPOLIS.—A hand-some 34-year-old bakery employee was hit in the chest and killed last night by the blast of a shotgun shell filled with table salt.

The victim, Ernest Poor, died inside the doorway of the home of his divorcee girl friend. Sheriff's deputies said the woman's mother admitted firing the shot.

The mother, Mrs. Frances Springling, 26, was held without bond on a preliminary charge of murder. Sgt. Richard Parker quoted her as saying:

"I'd heard it was a good thing to do to load them with salt. You can't get hurt that way."

Parker said the shooting apparently grew out of a dispute between Poor and the woman's daughter, Mrs. Betty Horton, 25, which ended their romance.

"Ernest said he'd get me if I'd try to quit him," Parker said he was told by Mrs. Horton, the mother of three children.

He said the two women lived in a 20-gauge shotgun," Parker said the muzzle must have been less than six inches from Poor's chest when the trigger was pulled.

"He died instantly," Parker said "We don't know yet whether it was the salt that killed him or the paper wadding of the shell. It was a real freak shot."

WASHINGTON.—"My son! My son! Bless the Lord!"

Shouting these words and waving her arms in the air, Berdie Dickenson early today rushed into the arms of her son, the prisoner of war who embraced her wholeheartedly and then changed his mind.

Comic Dictionary

FLIRT A woman who believes that it's every man for herself.

OUR WEATHER

Mostly cloudy and mild this afternoon with a few showers and little chance of rain. Tomorrow, partly cloudy with little change in temperature.

Low temperature expected to be 68 degrees. High temperature yesterday 73 degrees.

High temperature expected today 70 degrees. Sunrise 7:10 a.m.; sunset 5:34 p.m.

More Weather Data on Page 3A