Ex-Cuban President Facing Arms Charge

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuba's former President Carlos Prío Socarrás and his interior minister were under heavy bonds today on a charge of conspiring to export arms and implements of war from the United States without a license.

"The implication is quite clear that these munitions were to be used for a revolution in Cuba," said U. S. Dist. Atty. James I. Gullmarin.

Prío, 50, and Segundo Curti, 43, his interior minister until Fulgenio Batista overthrew his regime in a bloodless coup on March 20, 1952, were taken in custody at Prío's home-in-exile here yesterday following their indictment in New York.

They were brought in by Deputy U. S. Marshal Jack Peeples and booked and fingerprinted at the Federal Building. Prío was released under $50,000 bond and Curti on $25,000 bond.

Prío and Curti waived a removal hearing. The bonds are returnable in New York, where the case will be tried.

The arrests recalled a N.Y. case in 1952 in which Prío and Curti were indicted on charges of conspiring to export arms and munitions to Cuba.

Three of them were brought in by U. S. customs authorities who said they had worked on the case since April, 1952.

They were booked as Jesse A. Vickers, 52, Miami Springs, and his attorney as "in the airplane business." Eileen Rudolph, 38, Miami, and Marcus and Henry Lam, 46, a Cuban in this country on a visitor's permit.

Vickers' bond was set at $15,000 and the others at $5,000 each.

Douglas, whose home is in West Nyack, N.Y., was in the plane when it crashed. He had been stationed in Paris since last March.

South Carolina School Segregation Fight Nearing Climax

COLUMBIA (AP)—A four-year Negro battle for an end to race segregation in South Carolina public schools reaches its climax Monday here in Washington.

There, the U. S. Supreme Court will hear reargument of a case filed in 1951 by the NAACP. Four other similar cases also will be heard.

At issue in each of the cases is the doctrine laid down by the court 57 years ago that segregation is constitutional if school facilities are equal. This doctrine was the basis for lower court decisions upholding separate schools in the five cases.

President Explains U. S. Basic Position

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, President Eisenhower and French Premier Laniel have indicated agreement that the Western powers must accept any opportunity for sincere talks with the Soviet Union on great issues, authoritative sources said today.

Outlining positions taken at the Western Big Three at their initial Bermuda session last night, informed diplomats said differences expressed principally in involved questions of emphasis.

Churchill reportedly told his colleagues the West should see an opportunity to open up more contacts with the new rulers of Russia at every level.

Eisenhower was understood to have described the basic American view as: While tacitly the Kremlin has changed since Stalin's death, Russia's major aims of Communist world conquest remain unchanged under Premier Georgi Malenkov.

In the spirit of basic agreement that the draft of a world peace demand willingness to talk over important questions with the Russians in the Big Three approach consideration of a reply to Moscow from a foreign minister meeting in Berlin.

NOTE DRAFTED
A draft of the note has been completed for initial action by Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary George Bidault, Eisenhower, Churchill and Laniel.

The draft rejects the Russian proposal that the United States and its allies in Korea, urged that no debate be held now and that the Assembly be reconvened indefinitely. Under his proposal the Assembly would be reconvened by the president whenever a majority of the 80 member nations thought developments warranted a meeting.

Murro told speakers after today's meeting that his move in moving adjournment was to see if the two viewpoints could not be merged in some sort of compromise proposal over the weekend.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. conferred with Laniel after the meeting but neither would comment on their discussion. Laniel said, however, that he hopes an agreed resolution can be produced before Monday morning. Lodge said he would spend the weekend working on the problem.

A diplomatic source said India's chief delegate, V. K. Krishna Menon, had said that his government would regard as unfriendly any state which opposed the East-West resolution. He said to have read book members a telegram to that effect from India.

It is uncertain when the reply will be sent to Moscow since after final details are thrashed out, the reply will be sent to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer for his reaction.

The NAACP is asking that a special referee be named to take testimony and make a general decision for all the cases, if segregation is to be abolished.

Further, the two states claim the operation of public schools should be state and locally controlled. The State Constitution of 1865 directs that segregation be maintained in the schools.

The NAACP contends that Negroes never intended to be segregated public schools. The NAACP contends that Negroes never intended to be segregated public schools.

SET TO DROP SCHOOLS
South Carolina currently is set to set its school affairs in the discretion of the General Assembly.

Fending legislative ratification is a state constitution amendment to repeal a requirement that the state operate public schools. The amendment was approved overwhelmingly in the voters in 1952.

The Assembly is voting for a Supreme Court ruling before acting.
