MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR VANCE.

The grave of the question, whether considered in reference to its probable effects upon the financial and political affairs of the people and the success of our common cause, will, I trust, constitute an apology for my action in calling you together, in which I need not say I am unanimously sustained by the Council of State.

LO, THE POOR NEGRO!

A letter from a Soldier who has been with the Port Hudson fight gives the following about the fate of the negroes who were captured there. The negroes were put in the foremost ranks, and they fired away at the grim but deserted breastworks with unflinching valor, and in a word filled the ranks of the Rebels with their blood and their death.

BEN WOOD'S PAPER.

The New York Daily News, Ben Wood's paper, which was suppressed in the early part of the war, has been re-established. It has received a copy of the proceedings of the great Peace Convention, Peace on terms, and the filling paper for which it is held in this or any other country, were offering even a faint idea of its overblown immensity. A grand gathering of the people could give relief to the sublime parody which the Convention was called, it was given yesterday night—all the more sublime because the familiar of blood and courage flowing in the ghastly train of civil war.
