Soviet-Trained Professors Teach in U. S. Schools

the Moscow State University summer school for 1935: JOHN DEWEY, Columbia University. HEBER HARPER, Columbia University. Members of the ultra-radical United Action Campaign Committee.

GEORGE A. COE, formerly of Union Theological Seminary.

HENRY PRATT FAIRCHILD, New York University.

E. C. LINDEMAN, New York School of Social Work.

LOIS H. MEEK, Child Development Institute.

So we have TWO GROUPS identified in the Counts' following—the group OFFICIALLY ASSOCIATED WITH THE SOVIET UNIVERSITY AT MOSCOW, and the group belonging to the United Action Campaign Committee.

Moscow University, with which Counts, Dewey and Harper are all linked, teaches "the violent overthrow of the entire traditional social order"—the Communist creed.

Bearing the approving names of TWENTY-SIX American college officials, a 24-page pamphlet is being circulated by Soviet Russia among American teachers, inviting them to become summer students at the Moscow State University and to imbibe Communism at its very source—obviously for the purpose of making adept COMMUNIST PROPAGANDISTS out of them.

The pamphlet, together with an accompanying publicity statement, clearly reveals the nature and implications of the scheme. The following points are luminously emphasized:

1—That with the co-operation of travel companies, "a special low rate with many inducements" is offered to teachers making the Russian pilgrimage.

2—That the "Anglo-American section of the summer session at the Moscow State University will begin July 16 and conclude August 25.

3—That "instruction is in the English language, by an ALL-SOVIET faculty of professors and specialists. From time to time the school is addressed by PROMINENT SOVIET LEADERS."

4—That "the course 'Principles of the Collective and Socialist Society' is prerequisite for admission to all other courses."

5—The italicized words are italicized in the Communist pamphlet, thus furnishing proof that the Moscow summer session is wholly and solely a PROPAGANDA SCHOOL, maintained by the Soviet government for the single objective of "indoctrinating" teachers in Communism.

6—That the Moscow summer session idea "originated as the result of an experiment conducted during the summer of 1933 by a group of American educators"; that the 1933 "American summer school in Russia" was attended by twenty-five "teachers and students of education"; that in 1934, two hundred and twelve students attended, including "undergraduates, principals, professors, psychologists, social workers," and that this year a thousand Americans are expected to subject themselves to the Communist virus.

7—That "there is considerable fraternization" among Russians and Americans at the summer school.

8—That on conclusion of the summer school, the American students will have two weeks of "SUPERVISED TRAVEL in Russia—which means, as the world knows, they will be shown precisely what THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT wants them to see, or to THINK THEY HAVE SEEN. Nothing else!

9—That "each year several American educators are invited to Moscow as resident advisors to the summer session. DR. GEORGE S. COUNTS and DR. HEBER HARPER, professors of education, Teachers' College, Columbia University, will act as advisors during the summer session of 1935."

AND THIS insidious propaganda, directed as it is against the institutions of America, is being filtered into American schools and colleges BY THE SOVIET AGENCY IN NEW YORK at the very time when the American government itself has been corralled by Soviet duplicity to break off "friendly" conversations with Russia and to close most of its consulates in that hapless land of mass starvation and "blood purges!"

Who, besides the Soviet government, is behind it? Just read the list, PRINTED ON PAGE TWO

With all these facts before them, the American teachers and the American people will be able to understand exactly the kind of "academic freedom" that the Hearst newspapers oppose and that the Communist professors want to "enjoy."
