

Dem. Nominations for Congressmen

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER SEN. KNOWLAND GEN. MACARTHUR

When the photographer went to take this low-angle picture of this famous threesome, he got varying reactions. President Eisenhower failed to suppress a little grin. Gen. Douglas MacArthur looked off into the distance seriously, and Sen. William Knowland forgot instruction and watched the camera with unfeltned amusement.

The occasion was the meeting of the two five-star generals at a White House luncheon. The President is wearing a necktie which features both a Presidential seal and the five stars of his rank. No announcement was made about the outcome of the talk. (AP Wirephoto)

Filing Deadline For This Year's Races Passed

9 More Candidates Enter On Last Day

RALEIGH—Six of the state's Democratic congressmen won renomination today as the deadline for entering the May 23 primary passed and they had no opposition.

JUDITH BARRET JUDITH HOWARD

Two girls missing since Wednesday were found yesterday working as housemaids in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Reynolds in San Bernardino, Calif. Judith Howard, 13-year-old daughter of wealthy sportsman Lindsay Howard and his divorced wife, Judith Barret, and her 14-year-old friend ran away from a West Los Angeles private school for the fun of it. The girls changed their names, and fled their hair, Mrs. Reynolds became suspicious after reading the story in the paper and hearing the girls talk. Distracted when she found the girls were missing, Miss Barret said she was never so happy in her life when notified that the runaways had been found. (AP Wirephoto)

18 Servicemen Die As Plane Crashes

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (P)—Twisted pieces of wreckage and parachute-draped bodies today littered a nearby cornfield where a big Air Force plane crashed in flames last night, killing all 19 aboard.

The plane, a twin-engine C119 which had left Bolling Air Force Base a few minutes earlier, was seen aloft in the air moments before it plunged to earth on a farm 19 miles south of Annapolis.

It grazed the edge of a wooded area just off Maryland Route 2 and crashed at or shortly before the crash, scattering its victims over several acres of the rain-soaked farm.

A spokesman at the airbase said 12 passengers and six crewmen were aboard when the ship took off at 10:12 p.m. A watch found at the scene had stopped at 10:29.

NOT IDENTIFIED

The Bolling Public Information Office indicated it would be late today before identities of the victims were made known. First there was the grim task of identifying their bodies. Then relatives had to be notified.

An official said the plane, belonging to the 77th Troop Carrier Squadron based at Ardmore, Okla., had stopped at Bolling to refuel on a routine flight from Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., to Mitchell Field, N. Y.

Virtually all the victims appeared to have been U. S. military personnel. Pieces of sailors' uniforms were found on the fringes of the crash scene. There was also a sleeve bearing the chevrons of a Marine corporal.

A detachment of sailors and Marines from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis stood guard over the area as a group of investigators from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., examined the wreckage for clues to the cause of the tragedy.

For a radius of 500 yards pieces of the plane, bodies and parts of bodies lay under the harsh glare of ambulance and fire truck searchlights. Red-and-white striped parachutes had been spread over some of the victims.

AFIRE IN AIR

Mrs. Robert Estep, who lives about a mile from where the plane crashed, said she saw it burning in the air as it roared over her house.

Mrs. Alice R. Ridgely, another resident, said it made "a terrible grinding sound—like a heavy truck in low gear." Seconds later she heard it crash and saw the surrounding area light up.

"The whole house seemed afire," she said.

Flames sprang from the wreckage surrounding brush and timber, but a heavy rain at the time and quick arrival of firemen from half a dozen southern Maryland communities prevented it from getting out of hand.

Dr. Elmer G. Linderth, county medical examiner, was called on to help direct removal of the bodies.

The C119 crash came at almost the same time another Air Force plane, a B26 from Vance Air Force Base, Okla., crashed into a swampy area to the south, near Amelia, Va. Four persons perished in that mishap.

Dulles Explains New Military Policy Of U. S.

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of State Dulles says selectivity—in the types of weapons, time and places to fight—is the key to President Eisenhower's "new look" military program.

The secretary of state, testifying yesterday before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, also put into focus his ideas about presidential powers to lead the country into the world without prior action by Congress.

Dulles said, in effect:

1. The President has the right under the Constitution to act "in the interests of the United States."

2. How he shall act in an emergency is a matter for his judgment, and in deciding he may take into account the fact that there are treaties, like the North Atlantic Pact and the Inter-American Defense Treaty, which set up special relationships between the United States and other countries.

3. Congress would be consulted if there were time.

4. In any case, Congress, the public and the President are likely to be in agreement on any defense action.

5. "The heart of the thing is that the President can make aggression a crime, and in so doing he is acting in the interests of the United States and other countries."

STILL CONFUSED

After the three-hour question and answer session in which Dulles participated, Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) who did much of the questioning said he was still confused about the policy of "massive retaliation."

He mentioned earlier by Dulles and other administration spokesmen as a key point in the nation's new military planning.

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Potter P. (R-Ich.) said today that P. G. David Schine, a drafted former aide to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), will be asked under which special McCarthy orders really got the Army to give Schine special furlough treatment.

McCarthy's Permanent Investigations subcommittee has voted to investigate the row between McCarthy and Army officials. Involved here who lost both legs in World War II, said evidence of special favor "would not necessarily reflect on Schine, but it would reflect on the Army."

CUMBERLAND, Md. (P)—Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and a party he described as "a little bigger than the Lewis and Clark expedition" set out from here today on a 104-mile hike to Washington, D. C.

They expect to cover the distance in about eight days. Forty-five persons made up the party which struck out from Cumberland at 7 a. m.

The "expedition" will wind along the old Chesapeake & Ohio Canal from here to Washington, D. C. In deference to some of his elderly companions, the mountain-climbing justice agreed to start the hike at North Branch, about five miles southeast of the city limits, instead of from the West-Iowa Maryland Railway Station in town.

Some of the party were outspoken about not wanting to hobble through briar patches, clump fences and skirt industrial development on their way out of town.

McCarthy Challenges Adlai Democrats Accused Of 'Treason'

By JOHN CHADWICK MILWAUKEE (P)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) accused the Democratic party of "twenty years of treason" on 20 counts last night and, casting Adlai Stevenson in the role of "attorney for the defense," said on him to plead guilty or not guilty.

In leading up to his charges against the Democratic party, McCarthy said:

"Tonight I shall place before the greatest of all juries, the American people, an indictment of twenty counts, picked at random, which at best constitute gross stupidity, gross waste, gross treachery."

This does not constitute the entire picture," McCarthy said, "but just 20 counts in the indictment which I have devised. There is scarcely one of you who hear me but has had some personal tragedy linked to these acts of infamy."

20 YEARS, 20 DEEDS

"Twenty years of treason—twenty deeds of betrayal. The senator, making a rebuttal to a March 6 speech of Stevenson, accused the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee of using "the Communist method of attacking him and the Republican party."

Stevenson, in Cambridge, Mass., said through a spokesman that he had "no comment" on McCarthy's speech, delivered at a banquet of the Milwaukee County Young Republican party.

Stevenson had told a Democratic rally in Miami that the Republican party was "divided and against itself, half McCarthy and half Eisenhower."

Douglas Leads Hiking Party

CUMBERLAND, Md. (P)—Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and a party he described as "a little bigger than the Lewis and Clark expedition" set out from here today on a 104-mile hike to Washington, D. C.

They expect to cover the distance in about eight days. Forty-five persons made up the party which struck out from Cumberland at 7 a. m.

The "expedition" will wind along the old Chesapeake & Ohio Canal from here to Washington, D. C. Ex-FCC Member Lunges At Witness In Hearing

NEW ORLEANS (P)—Clifford J. Durr of Montgomery, Ala., a former Federal Communications Commissioner, tried to attack ex-Commissioner Paul Crouch today at a Senate subcommittee hearing on Communist activities.

The attempt came after Crouch testified Mrs. Durr, sister-in-law of U. S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black, knew of a Communist conspiracy in this country.

Durr, attorney who served on the FCC from 1941 to 1948, said as Crouch left the witness stand, "I can't talk that way about my wife. I'll kill her."

FOOD MIXER, MAIL BOX TRAP PHILADELPHIANS

PHILADELPHIA (P)—There he was, trapped by the mailbox.

And there she was, caught in the food mixer.

Item No. 1: Postmaster Raymond A. Thomas, heading for his office, was startled to see a man standing next to a mail box. The flap of his overcoat caught in the lower door panel.

Thomas said in 42 years with the postal department he never saw anything quite like that.

The man explained he'd been talking to friends, never noticed the mailman had arrived, opened the big box and departed. A gust of wind—apparently—had swept the coat into the opening and the mailman banged it shut without noticing.

Thomas called a nearby post office and a clerk came rushing over with a key. The "captive" grabbed his coat—and left without giving his name.

Item No. 2: The woman, Mrs. Clara Bender, was sobbing as she walked along a West Philadelphia street—her fingers snared in an electric mixer.

Policeman John Thomas and Henry Weir took her to a garage and sawed the blades which had trapped her fingers while she was cooking in her kitchen. The fingers were bruised.

Another Quake Jars California

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (P)—Another in a series of moderate and light earthquakes that started early yesterday was recorded at 8:19:51 PST here last night.

Seismologist Fred Robinson said the movement was intensity 2 on a scale of 1.

The first shock, starting shortly before 2 a. m., awoke sleepers in southern California and was the heaviest, intensity 5, recorded here in four years.

The California Institute of Technology at Pasadena placed its center in the Coachella Valley, south of Palm Springs.

Some Money Still Missing

'Another Woman' Linked To Herman

NEW YORK (P)—Police are looking for $30,000 in cash and "another woman" in the case of the runaway bridegroom who left his 67-year-old bride of two days but took along her $25,000 bankroll and jewels.

Percy William Herman, 49, and Mrs. Doyl Prather Herman were married in Palm Beach, Fla., March 2. They started on their honeymoon by car with the cash plus $59,600 of the woman's jewels.

At Fredericksburg, Va., March 15, Herman dropped his bride off at a motel and was looking for a garage to have the car repaired, he said, when he thought he was being followed and got "nervous." Herman told this story last Monday, March 15, when he was picked up here by the FBI.

His bride related when they met in New York and asked officials to cancel her complaint, but she refused. She put up $30,000 bail for Herman.

Yesterday federal officials told Mrs. Herman they recovered the cash a suite with two bedrooms and safety deposit boxes in banks here. But another deposit box, they said, "contained nothing but cash."

Further, authorities said, Herman checked into a Broadway hotel March 8 with a Kathleen Negan. Herman, when asked, will take the safe deposit boxes in her name.

It was the fourth marriage for Herman, said a Richmond, Va., woman, whose wife made the police complaint which involves Herman and the federal stolen property act.

3 Billion Dollars In Taxes Overdue

WASHINGTON (P)—The Internal Revenue Service says it wants manpower to cope with three billion dollars in overdue taxes.

O. Gordon Delk, deputy commissioner, has told the House Appropriations Committee the service is recruiting 1,141 more enforcement officers for a stepped-up collection drive.

EVENING PRAYER

LORD God, who didst look with compassion upon even those who despitely used Thy beloved Son, may Thy grace abound unto us, we pray, as he had so of our sin and self-will. May we hear Thy voice saying, Thy sins are forgiven thee; go in peace. In Jesus' name. Amen.
