

AN UNUSUAL FEAT in the history of aeronautics was performed by Lt. (jg) C.W. Vandenberg and he shows how he did it. The Navy flier maneuvered his F9F Cougar jet plane in front of a runway jet in such a way that the air currents set up by his plane altered the course of the other plane. Instead of crashing at San Diego once its fuel ran out, the pilotless jet flew out to sea and crashed. The pilot of the runway had bailed out when his plane went into a spin, but the aircraft came out of the spin and leveled off. The pilot was saved. (AP Wirephoto)

Lack Of Counsel Is Stalling Probe

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate investigation of charges hurled by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) against Army officials was still stalled today by failure to obtain a satisfactory special counsel.

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), who temporarily has replaced McCarthy as chairman of the Senate investigation subcommittee which is making the probe, said he did not see how public hearings could start before next week.

With Senators McClellan (D-Ark.) and Jackson (D-Wash.) he has been sounding out various prospects for the counsel's job.

With the probe hanging fire, the Progressive magazine, founded by the late Sen. Robert M. La Follette Sr. in 1939 and published in Madison, Wis., announced it had devoted its April issue to a study of McCarthy.

In a news release, the magazine said the "comprehensive, carefully documented study" came to the conclusion that "this man who has made anticomunism his political career has contributed dangerous to strengthening the Communist cause."

McCarthy, shown a copy of the magazine, said he had no comment.

The row being investigated by the subcommittee he heads centers around an Army report declaring that McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel of the subcommittee, tried to pressure the Army into giving special treatment to G. David Schine, a former unpaid subcommittee consultant drafted as a private last November.

McCarthy and Cohn not only disputed it but countered with the charge that Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and the Army's commander, John G. Adams, had attempted to use Schine as a "hoax" to "blacken" McCarthy's name.

It has called "coddling" of Communists in the Army.

Mundt said that even though these charges have been delayed, "I think we ought to finish this job before we have any other hearings."

His statement was in line with an agreement made by the subcommittee members that they would devote themselves to the probe to the exclusion of all other business.

TO POLLE COLLEAGUES
McCarthy said last week that in view of the delay that has developed, however, he intended to poll his subcommittee colleagues on whether they should start hearings on evidence which he said the staff had gathered about Communists in defense plants and graft and corruption in Alaskan development projects.

In a weekend statement Mundt said it was difficult to understand "the almost feverish interest" in the subcommittee probe. He declared that "no high crime against the government" such as treason, espionage or sedition was involved.

White House Picketed By Longshoremen

Cairo Seethes

Egyptian Election Plans Cancelled

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt's military government announced tonight that all previous decisions to conduct constituent assembly elections and abolish the ruling Revolution Council in July have been cancelled.

The announcement, which assured continuation of Egypt's military regime despite the opposition of President Mohamed Naguib, came after two days of heated conflict in the Cabinet and Revolution Council while Cairo surged with anti-Naguib demonstrations.

Instead of a constituent assembly previously promised by the Revolution Council, it was decided to establish an appointed "National Advisory Council" in which various organizations and professions would be represented.

An army officer told newsmen the justice, Abdel Razzak Sanhuri, had drawn a pistol and killed two demonstrators, but a photographer who arrived during the attack said two were wounded and no one was killed.

Sanhuri was taken to the home of President Mohamed Naguib after the attack and it was impossible to reach him immediately to check the statement of the officer who reported two deaths.

The outbreak came while Naguib, who collapsed for a time this morning, engaged in crucial conversations with Cabinet members and his opponent's in the revolution Council.

Tanks and troops took up positions at strategic locations in Cairo and around the American and British embassies by order of Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, army commander-in-chief and member of the council.

The Interior Ministry issued an order banning the demonstrations in favor of the revolution council. The demonstrations have kept Cairo in turmoil in the last three days. A general strike kept most shops closed and stopped all buses and trams.

Just what Naguib's fate would be remained in doubt as he conferred with cabinet and council members. The man who was removed from power by his young colleagues on the council a month ago, then restored as a result of popular pressure, faced the possibility of being kicked out a second time—now as a result of organized demonstrations against his demand for elections and an end of the military regime by July 1954.

Naguib collapsed unconscious today at Almazna Military Airport, but aides announced three hours later he was "weak but recovering."

The president, 53, who was from the military coup which ousted King Farouk I in 1952, had gone to the airport to say goodbye to King Saud of Saudi Arabia, King Saud, on a state visit to Egypt, had devoted considerable time trying to mediate differences between Naguib and others who want to continue military rule.

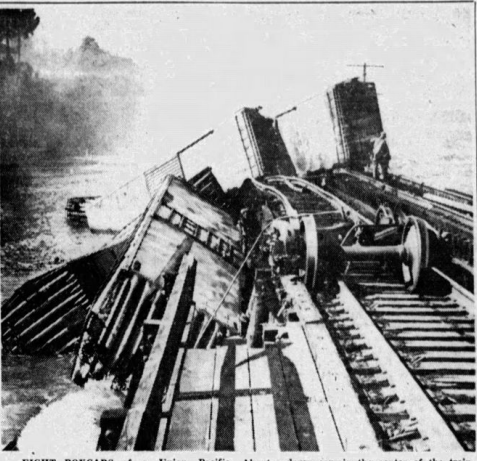

Four rescue ships that sped to the scene and plucked the survivors from the sea and from lifeboats brought them to Algiers yesterday. They found shelter last night with private families and at military bases.

Three men and one officer were killed in the engineering explosion that rocked the vessel and set it ablaze.

The cause of the blast remained a mystery. Some Algerian newspaper quoted the Empire Windrush's skipper, Capt. W. Wilson, as saying, "The possibility of sabotage was not excluded." This remark could not be directly confirmed, however.

Speculation on a possible bomb explosion arose because the ship had come through the Suez Canal, where Egyptian-British tension is high. The big blue and white troop carrier was homeward bound from Korea, Japan, to Southampton, England. She had stopped at Hong Kong, Singapore, Colombo, Aden and Port Said.

Aboard were about 250 crewmen and 1,200 passengers—soldiers, sailors and airmen, with 177 women and children dependents. Seven hospitalized soldiers were among those saved without mishap.

EIGHT BOXCARS of a Union Pacific freight train are shown in the water after they were derailed, part of them dangling from the fell 30 feet from a trestle at Stillmeadow, Wash. (AP Wirephoto)

Senator Calls It Big Business

'Traffic In Filth' Assailed

By WILBUR JENNINGS
WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Hendrickson (R-N.J.) of a Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency said today traffic in "filthy films" has become big business which could net its operators from 100 to 300 million dollars a year.

He said in a speech prepared for our nation of filthy and perverted recordings and objects of sex deviancy so utterly indecent as to shock every civilized American, were he aware of them.

Hendrickson said the "subcommittee staff has learned that virtually every major city across America is being hit with constantly increasing complaints concerning such traffic."

Hendrickson said his subcommittee learned of one operator who started with $300 and had amassed $250,000 two years later. The senator said this man dealt in erotic films, priced from $15 to $50 for a few feet of sadistic color film with sound.

One city, Hendrickson continued, destroyed 400,000 feet of such film in a single year.

The New Jersey senator prepared his remarks to accompany introduction of legislation designed for Washington, D.C., "where the situation cries for immediate action."

In essence, the proposed law would do two things:

1. Make mandatory a jail sentence of not less than one year for anyone found guilty of a second time of dealing with lewd, immoral or licentious material.
2. Authorize the court to permit the public prosecutor to confiscate and have sold at public auction all cameras, presses, trucks, automobiles and the like which a convicted person may have employed to carry on his traffic in lewd material.

Hendrickson was joined in sponsorship of the bill by Sen. Langer (R-Id.) and Case (R-S.D.). The legislation, Hendrickson said, is but a first step, "but it is a vital step."

Besides the illicit film traffic, the New Jersey senator said millions of black and white and color photographs, "almost indecently pornographic," are peddled by dealers in ever increasing numbers.

"Filthy cartoon books in color displaying sex irregularities are sold to school children by peddlers to countless teenagers," he said, and added:

"Parties—or rather, sex parties are inspired by the peddlers to increase their sales."

Donkey Meat Sold
With Goat Meat Label
MEXICO CITY (AP)—The federal sanitary department is clamping down on markets selling donkey meat under another name.

Over 3,000 pounds of burro were confiscated yesterday. Officials said it was killed as goat meat, very popular here.

Over 2,000 Dock Strikers In Washington

Marchers Protest Government Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Longshoremen estimated by police to number around 1,000 picketed the White House today in protest against the government's handling of the bitter dock strike that has tied up the port of New York.

Metropolitan police said about 1,200 to 1,500 of the men had come into the capital by bus and other means, mainly from New York in with their ranks swelled by contingents picked up on the way. They expected more.

Plans announced by the dockworkers as they left New York had also included picketing operations at the National Labor Relations Board which begins consideration tomorrow of an NLRB examiner's recommendations in the dock dispute.

WON ELECTION
The men represented the old International Longshoremen's Association, which apparently won a board-supervised election just before Christmas for the right to represent the dock workers. A board examiner recommended that the election be voided, on the ground that the IILA was responsible for violence and intimidation which he said prevented a fair test at the polls.

A new union, the AFL-ILA organized by the American Federation of Labor, opposed the old IILA in the election and protested the apparent result. The new union was set up after the federation had thrown the old IILA out of its membership for failure to rid itself of gangster elements.

Picketing, which began shortly after the men began to arrive here after their all-night drive from New York, was orderly but on a mass scale. As new contingents came in they joined the marchers.

The pickets marched in a long column on the walk on the Pennsylvania Avenue side of the executive mansion, and by 9 a. m. they were in an almost solid line walking about 300 feet along the high fence from one of the two entrances to the other, then back along the curb.

A detail of about 40 policemen, standing next to the curb, kept watch and kept the line moving. In command of the operation was a group of some 10 police officials.

The marching men carried banners with various slogans such as "No Contract No Work."

"We Served You In 41: Now Serve Us in 54."

Herms from 41 to 45; Hoodlums from 34 to 36.

"NLRB count the votes and give the election to the winner."

"Dewey is a disaster."

The "Dewey" paraders referred to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York who has taken a leading part in investigations of union actions against the non-independent IILA.

The "Served You in 41" reference applied to the wartime period when President Eisenhower was supreme commander in Europe.

In addition to the parades the group carried a number of American flags, and several American Legion banners. Some of the marchers wore overseas type caps with lettering "Port of New York Longshoremen" which police in the guard detail said they understood was the insignia of a New York American Legion post.

WHAT'S INSIDE

IT'S REVIEW DAY on the movie page and columnist Emory Wheeler reports his opinions on two of the pictures currently showing on Charlotte screens. They're on Page 12-B.

NERVOUS AND UNHAPPY these days are Congressional Republicans worried about their tax bill and legislative program. Doris Flesoon gives the details in her column on the editorial page.

Business Page 8A
Classified 8-11B
Comics 6B
Crossword 12B
Editorials 6A
Gardens 7B
Features 2B
Obituaries 8B
Real Estate 7A
Serials 7A
Sports 4-5B
Theaters 12B
Wishing Well 5A
Women 8-11A

See COUNSEL on page 2-A

'Mom Was Real Shook ...
Herman R. Smith of Dallas, Texas, phones his mother in Miami that he's not dead. His car was stolen and he was involved in an accident in Oklahoma. The driver of the car was killed and for four days Herman's family presumed that he was the victim. Herman didn't find out about it until a reporter told him. Then he hastened to call his family. The body of the man was shipped to Miami and the family was getting ready for the arrival. He was happily "shocked" when Herman called. After the call Herman told reporters that "Mom was real shook. I could tell. I bet she nearly dropped." The identity of the dead man has not been established. (AP Wirephoto).

... I Could Tell
MADRID, Spain (AP)—A strong earthquake caused minor damage throughout southern Spain today. No casualties were reported, however.

The Toledo Seismological Institute located the quake's center as 320 miles south of Madrid, or just off the nation's southern Mediterranean coast.

In Malaga and Granada, walls of buildings still under construction toppled. Three jars, lasting from three to eight seconds, were felt here beginning at 7:30 a.m. (1:30 a.m. EST). Inhabitants rushed from their homes in panic.

The Toledo seismograph needles oscillated crazily 50 minutes. The quake was felt also in Cadiz, Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, and in Tangier, the international zone of Morocco.

Strong Quake Rocks Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP)—A strong earthquake caused minor damage throughout southern Spain today. No casualties were reported, however.

The Toledo Seismological Institute located the quake's center as 320 miles south of Madrid, or just off the nation's southern Mediterranean coast.

In Malaga and Granada, walls of buildings still under construction toppled. Three jars, lasting from three to eight seconds, were felt here beginning at 7:30 a.m. (1:30 a.m. EST). Inhabitants rushed from their homes in panic.

The Toledo seismograph needles oscillated crazily 50 minutes. The quake was felt also in Cadiz, Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, and in Tangier, the international zone of Morocco.

Comic Dictionary
YAWN
Bad manners but an honest opinion.

Strong Quake Rocks Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP)—A strong earthquake caused minor damage throughout southern Spain today. No casualties were reported, however.

The Toledo Seismological Institute located the quake's center as 320 miles south of Madrid, or just off the nation's southern Mediterranean coast.

In Malaga and Granada, walls of buildings still under construction toppled. Three jars, lasting from three to eight seconds, were felt here beginning at 7:30 a.m. (1:30 a.m. EST). Inhabitants rushed from their homes in panic.

The Toledo seismograph needles oscillated crazily 50 minutes. The quake was felt also in Cadiz, Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, and in Tangier, the international zone of Morocco.

Comic Dictionary
YAWN
Bad manners but an honest opinion.

OUR WEATHER

Fair and warm today. Mostly fair and cool tonight. Tomorrow, considerable cloudiness and a chance of light showers.

Low temperature this morning 42 degrees.

Low temperature expected tonight 46 degrees.

High temperature yesterday 60 degrees.

High temperature expected today 70 degrees.

Sunrise 6:15 a. m.; sunset 8:02 p. m.

More weather data on Page 2-A

You're In For A Pleasant Surprise!

50c

Worth of Free

Coupons

Read

Betty Boyer

Wednesday

In The Grocery News