

THE CHARLOTTE NEWS

*****
FINAL

ESTABLISHED DEC. 8, 1888.

Largest Evening Newspaper In The Two Carolinas

Charlotte, North Carolina, Friday, May 28, 1954

36 Pages—Price Five Cents

SIAMSE TWIN SURVIVOR Rodney Droe holds a trumpet to his mother's mouth and teases her to look it as they play in the yard of the Droe home at Ferris, Ill. Rodney, not yet three, loves to hear music. While in the hospital he moved his legs to its rhythm. Rod-ney's brother died following an operation that separated their skulls. Since then he has had several operations to provide a skin covering for his brain. He wears a crash helmet to protect his head. (AP Wirephoto from Life Magazine).

Children Outwit Policeman In International 'Incident'

By EDDY GILMORE
GENEVA.—An apparent preoccupation with neutrality to-day engulfed a group of small boys and girls at a private school, accused of "demonstrating" against the Red Chinese.

"It's hard to believe," said the American mother of one of the children, "but the Geneva cops almost took my girl into custody."

It happened this way: The school—it's called the "privat"—is located next to a building in which a number of members of the huge Chinese Communist delegation are staying for the Geneva convention. Only a high wall separates the school grounds from the Reds' quarters.

Things went well for a while, then a neighborhood policeman noticed a column of the children marching back and forth beside the wall. Two young Chinese boys apparently headed the marchers.

The next thing, the directors of the school had a case of cops on their hands.

"Those children," said a serious officer, "are demonstrating against the foreign visitors across the wall."

"How do you mean, they are demonstrating," asked one of the teachers.

"Soldiering," said the policeman. "They are marching and perhaps shouting. This cannot be. Switzerland is neutral."

The teachers questioned the pupils. Yes, they had been marching back and forth. Yes, they did know the Red Chinese were just across the wall. Yes, they did know the Red Chinese were just across the wall.

"Our two Chinese boys," she said, "are not Communists. They said the Communists have taken the land of their fathers. They just plain don't like Communists."

"But," persisted the policeman, "is it not true that insults were hurled across the wall?"

"Yes," persisted the policeman, "is it not true that insults were hurled across the wall?"

"Yes," persisted the policeman, "is it not true that insults were hurled across the wall?"

"Yes," persisted the policeman, "is it not true that insults were hurled across the wall?"

"Yes," persisted the policeman, "is it not true that insults were hurled across the wall?"

Administration Takes Issue With McCarthy

Security Called Duty Of Executive

WASHINGTON.—The Eisenhower administration today directly disputed the declaration by Sen. McCarthy that it is the duty of federal leaders to report to Congress what they know of communism, treason or other crimes.

In a statement issued at the White House, Atty. Gen. Brownell said the Constitution gives the executive branch of the government the "sole and fundamental" responsibility for enforcement of laws and Presidential orders, including those to protect the nation's security.

"That responsibility," Brownell said, "can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

Press Secretary James C. Hagerly said the statement reported McCarthy's remarks at the Army-McCarthy hearings yesterday when McCarthy said:

"As far as I'm concerned, I'm going to tell you that I feel it is their duty to give us any information which they have about graft, corruption, Communism, treason, and that there is no loyalty to a superior which can tower above and beyond their loyalty to their country."

Hagerly said he had received queries from newspapers to comment on McCarthy's remarks.

"I talked this morning with the President and the Attorney General," Hagerly said, "and at the direction of the Attorney General I feel like now to issue the following statement in his name with the approval of the President."

Hagerly then dictated the following from notes:

"The obligations and duties of the executive, judicial, and legislative branches of our government are defined by the Constitution."

"The executive branch of the government has the sole and fundamental responsibility under the Constitution for the enforcement of our laws and presidential orders. They include those to protect the security of our nation which were carefully drawn for this purpose."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

"That responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

STURVE HENSEL FRANCIS P. CARR ROY COHN

Democratic Primary Tomorrow

RALEIGH.—Political campaigners got in their last looks today.

Tomorrow voters in the state's 1,000 - odd precincts will decide which of the office seekers will appear on the general election ballot in November.

The weather, and interest in local races, will have a big hand in determining how many voters cast their ballots in the primaries.

The Weather Bureau has predicted warm weather with spotty showers throughout the state.

SEK SENATE
Leading the list in importance is the selection of a Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate. Top contenders in this race are incumbent

Sen. Alton A. Lennon and former Gov. W. Kerr Scott. Others seeking the nomination are Alvin Wingfield Jr. of Charlotte, Henry L. Sprinkle of Greensboro, A. E. Turner of Palm Bay, and W. M. Boslock, Cary, and Olla Ray Boyd of Pineview.

In addition to a number of other top state races, there will be many local races for such positions as county commissioners, sheriffs, and other county offices.

There also are contests for state representative and senator.

OTHER CONTESTS
Here are the other state positions for which there will be primary contests: Five congressional districts, two superior court judges, nine superior court solicitors, plus the offices of state treasurer and state insurance commissioner.

Lennon on air
For today's final day of campaigning, Sen. Lennon is scheduled to make a statewide radio speech tonight which also will be televised. He is slated to appear at a Young Democrat club rally at Winston.

Scott has no definite itinerary planned for today, according to his headquarters, but will visit with friends in various sectors of the state.

In the congressional races Rep. L. H. Fountain is opposed by Herbert T. Bailey of Tarboro in the second district; Rep. Carl T. Durham is opposed by H. C. Sprinkle of Durham in the sixth; Rep. F. Ertel Carby by Seay of Fayetteville in the seventh; Rep. C. B. Deane by Cole of Funderburg of Monroe in the eighth, and in the 10th J. C. Sedberry and Marvin Ritch of Charlotte are battling for Democratic nomination for the seat held by Republican Rep. Charles R. Jones.

State Treasurer Edwin Gill faces a challenge from former State Commissioner Joseph H. Jones. State Insurance Commissioner Charles F. Gold is opposed by John F. Fletcher of Raleigh.

SENATE
When a political storm erupted following the appearance of the ad and the issuance of the reprints, Graves stated that a stranger, who gave the name of B. J. Edlow of Raleigh, persuaded him to sign the ad through subterfuge.

Sanford contended the "use of the Winston-Salem Journal" was an indirect device to give authenticity to the advertisement handbills.

He said "this shameful practice of stirring up strife between the races, this appeal to prejudice, will sign the ad through subterfuge."

Sanford said the Upchurch, publicity man for Sen. Alton A. Lennon, was responsible for the mass distribution. Upchurch commented that the ad which appeared in the Journal was authentic.

The ad carried a picture of Dr. Harold L. Trigg, Negro college president named to be the State Board of Education by Scott when he was governor, under a line which said "Vote for Scott."

It was signed by J. H. R. Graves as president of the Civic Progressive League, a Winston-Salem Negro organization.

OWN IDEA
Mayor Marshall Kurfess told the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel last night he wrote the controversial ad, persuaded a Negro leader to sign it, and then personally paid for its publication.

Wednesday morning in the Journal, the ad caused repercussions yesterday. Terry Sanford, W. Kerr Scott's senatorial campaign manager, declared thousands of reprints of the ad were distributed in the eastern part of the state.

Sanford said he has "positive evidence" that copies of the ad were left at a service station in Columbia by David Q. Holton, state director of purchase and contract, and that Bill Cook, "Winston attorney and Lennon worker has distributed these leaflets."

Sanford said the Upchurch, publicity man for Sen. Alton A. Lennon, was responsible for the mass distribution. Upchurch commented that the ad which appeared in the Journal was authentic.

The ad carried a picture of Dr. Harold L. Trigg, Negro college president named to be the State Board of Education by Scott when he was governor, under a line which said "Vote for Scott."

It was signed by J. H. R. Graves as president of the Civic Progressive League, a Winston-Salem Negro organization.

OWN IDEA
Mayor Marshall Kurfess told the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel last night he wrote the controversial ad, persuaded a Negro leader to sign it, and then personally paid for its publication.

Wednesday morning in the Journal, the ad caused repercussions yesterday. Terry Sanford, W. Kerr Scott's senatorial campaign manager, declared thousands of reprints of the ad were distributed in the eastern part of the state.

Sanford said he has "positive evidence" that copies of the ad were left at a service station in Columbia by David Q. Holton, state director of purchase and contract, and that Bill Cook, "Winston attorney and Lennon worker has distributed these leaflets."

Counsel Recalls No Request At Breakfast

Admits He Requested Schine Commission

STURVE HENSEL FRANCIS P. CARR ROY COHN

Democratic Primary Tomorrow

RALEIGH.—Political campaigners got in their last looks today.

Tomorrow voters in the state's 1,000 - odd precincts will decide which of the office seekers will appear on the general election ballot in November.

The weather, and interest in local races, will have a big hand in determining how many voters cast their ballots in the primaries.

The Weather Bureau has predicted warm weather with spotty showers throughout the state.

SEK SENATE
Leading the list in importance is the selection of a Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate. Top contenders in this race are incumbent

Sen. Alton A. Lennon and former Gov. W. Kerr Scott. Others seeking the nomination are Alvin Wingfield Jr. of Charlotte, Henry L. Sprinkle of Greensboro, A. E. Turner of Palm Bay, and W. M. Boslock, Cary, and Olla Ray Boyd of Pineview.

In addition to a number of other top state races, there will be many local races for such positions as county commissioners, sheriffs, and other county offices.

There also are contests for state representative and senator.

OTHER CONTESTS
Here are the other state positions for which there will be primary contests: Five congressional districts, two superior court judges, nine superior court solicitors, plus the offices of state treasurer and state insurance commissioner.

Lennon on air
For today's final day of campaigning, Sen. Lennon is scheduled to make a statewide radio speech tonight which also will be televised. He is slated to appear at a Young Democrat club rally at Winston.

Scott has no definite itinerary planned for today, according to his headquarters, but will visit with friends in various sectors of the state.

In the congressional races Rep. L. H. Fountain is opposed by Herbert T. Bailey of Tarboro in the second district; Rep. Carl T. Durham is opposed by H. C. Sprinkle of Durham in the sixth; Rep. F. Ertel Carby by Seay of Fayetteville in the seventh; Rep. C. B. Deane by Cole of Funderburg of Monroe in the eighth, and in the 10th J. C. Sedberry and Marvin Ritch of Charlotte are battling for Democratic nomination for the seat held by Republican Rep. Charles R. Jones.

State Treasurer Edwin Gill faces a challenge from former State Commissioner Joseph H. Jones. State Insurance Commissioner Charles F. Gold is opposed by John F. Fletcher of Raleigh.

SENATE
When a political storm erupted following the appearance of the ad and the issuance of the reprints, Graves stated that a stranger, who gave the name of B. J. Edlow of Raleigh, persuaded him to sign the ad through subterfuge.

Sanford contended the "use of the Winston-Salem Journal" was an indirect device to give authenticity to the advertisement handbills.

He said "this shameful practice of stirring up strife between the races, this appeal to prejudice, will sign the ad through subterfuge."

Sanford said the Upchurch, publicity man for Sen. Alton A. Lennon, was responsible for the mass distribution. Upchurch commented that the ad which appeared in the Journal was authentic.

The ad carried a picture of Dr. Harold L. Trigg, Negro college president named to be the State Board of Education by Scott when he was governor, under a line which said "Vote for Scott."

It was signed by J. H. R. Graves as president of the Civic Progressive League, a Winston-Salem Negro organization.

OWN IDEA
Mayor Marshall Kurfess told the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel last night he wrote the controversial ad, persuaded a Negro leader to sign it, and then personally paid for its publication.

Wednesday morning in the Journal, the ad caused repercussions yesterday. Terry Sanford, W. Kerr Scott's senatorial campaign manager, declared thousands of reprints of the ad were distributed in the eastern part of the state.

Sanford said he has "positive evidence" that copies of the ad were left at a service station in Columbia by David Q. Holton, state director of purchase and contract, and that Bill Cook, "Winston attorney and Lennon worker has distributed these leaflets."

Sanford said the Upchurch, publicity man for Sen. Alton A. Lennon, was responsible for the mass distribution. Upchurch commented that the ad which appeared in the Journal was authentic.

The ad carried a picture of Dr. Harold L. Trigg, Negro college president named to be the State Board of Education by Scott when he was governor, under a line which said "Vote for Scott."

It was signed by J. H. R. Graves as president of the Civic Progressive League, a Winston-Salem Negro organization.

OWN IDEA
Mayor Marshall Kurfess told the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel last night he wrote the controversial ad, persuaded a Negro leader to sign it, and then personally paid for its publication.

Wednesday morning in the Journal, the ad caused repercussions yesterday. Terry Sanford, W. Kerr Scott's senatorial campaign manager, declared thousands of reprints of the ad were distributed in the eastern part of the state.

Sanford said he has "positive evidence" that copies of the ad were left at a service station in Columbia by David Q. Holton, state director of purchase and contract, and that Bill Cook, "Winston attorney and Lennon worker has distributed these leaflets."

Counsel Recalls No Request At Breakfast

Admits He Requested Schine Commission

WASHINGTON.—Roy M. Cohn swore today Sen. McCarthy never in his presence requested a direct commission as an Army officer for G. David Schine—thus refuting testimony by Secretary of the Army Stevens.

"I say he's made an error," Cohn said of testimony by Stevens that, as he recalled, McCarthy made such a request at a breakfast last Sept. 16 in the New York apartment of Schine's parents.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Reber, the Army's lead-off witness when the McCarthy-Army hearings began April 22, testified he got calls from Sen. McCarthy's office—most of them from Cohn—two or three times a day in the period from July 8 to July 30.

Cohn acknowledged he had taken testimony from Maj. Gen. Miles H. Reber who said Cohn exerted great pressure last July for a commission for Schine, young millionaire and unpaid McCarthy subcommittee consultant who then faced the draft.

Arms-Carrying Ship In U.S.

WASHINGTON.—The Swedish ship which delivered Communist-made arms to Guatemala is now at Key West, Fla., where the captain and crew are being questioned by U.S. officials.

This was disclosed today by State Department Press Officer Lincoln White in response to questions by newsmen. White issued a brief statement and said he could add nothing to it at this time.

The statement said the owners of the Swedish ship Alphon ordered it to put in at Key West, Fla., this was the first chance U.S. officials had to get information about the delivery of arms to Guatemala from the Communist port of Stettin in Poland.

The captain and crew are being questioned "on a purely voluntary basis," White said.

The State Department revealed May 17 that the Alphon had unloaded at Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, about 10 million dollars in small arms and ammunition.

The United States reacted by flying about 70 tons of war goods, including light arms and jeeps, to Nicaragua and Honduras, neighbors of Guatemala. Other deliveries by sea are expected to follow.

Fishing In Jail
Would Be New Angle
DANVILLE, Va.—Sgt. A. W. Wiggs of Danville police called on a friend and to open the conversation in a jocular mood asked him if there was anybody there he wanted sent to jail.

"I don't believe so," the friend replied.

"Go on," "Go ahead," shouted his wife from an inner room.

The puzzled pair found that the wife thought her husband was being invited to go fishing.

OUR WEATHER
Partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow. Scattered afternoon showers or thunderstorms this afternoon and again tomorrow afternoon.

High temperature yesterday, 82 degrees.

High temperature expected today, 85 degrees.

Low temperature this morning, 63 degrees.

Low temperature expected tonight, 66 degrees.

Sunrise, 5:11 a.m.; sunset, 7:23 p.m.

More Weather Data on Page 2-A

Panamanian Concerned Over Arms Incident

By LUCIEN AGNIEL
Charlotte News Staff Writer

"Wherever Russian arms arrive, it marks the death knell of freedom," said Don Roberto Huertemate, Panamanian ambassador to the United States, who flew into Charlotte today.

His statement was in response to the question: "How seriously do you regard the arrival of arms shipments in Guatemala from Communist Poland?"

He said he regarded the shipment as "very serious, and I think that applies to all of us in the Western World." He emphasized he was talking about Russian arms, even though the shipment comes ostensibly from Poland.

The ambassador, wearing a gray business suit and blue tie, was met at the plane by Mayor Phil Van Every, Councilman Herman Brown, Miss Alice Ehrman, Mrs. Lyon K. Flint, and Marie Ehrman.