Mid-East To Get NC Chicks

RALEIGH — Some 20,000 North Carolina baby chicks will be shipped by plane to the Middle East yesterday by the Chick Project East next fall.

Plans for the shipment were set by the North Carolina Crop Organization and Heifer Project Inc. The committee will invite North Carolina's 200 hatcheries, its poultry producers, and the North Carolina Feed Manufacturers Assn. to contribute eggs and cash toward the project.

The chicks, it was explained, will be donated to Middle East farm families for improved egg production and upgrading of native poultry stocks. About 15 chicks will go to each family or individual. In turn, recipients must give 30 eggs or allow the use of their cockerels to repay the gift or to continue the spread of the improved purebred stock.

The U. S. Foreign Operations Administration and the government and agricultural extension personnel of the country selected to receive the shipment will cooperate in placing the chicks.

McCarthy Says Adams Attempted Blackmail

repisal against Maj. Gen. Kirk B. Lawton because Lawton cooperated with McCarthy's investigations. McCarthy said he believes Lawton, commander of Ft. Monmouth, N.J., failed to get promotion to the rank of major general because of such cooperation.

Both Stevens and Adams, under oath, have denied they tried to divert the subcommittee to investigation of the Navy and Air Force.

McCarthy testified that at a June 8 Pentagon luncheon, Stevens and Adams indicated "they were unhappy" about the subcommittee's investigations of the Army.

They told him, McCarthy said, that the Navy and Air Force "must be just as bad as the Army."

Under questioning from Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel to the Senate, McCarthy brushed away any idea that he was responsible for bringing about the current public controversy with Army officials.

McCarthy said he and his staff merely reacted to the charges filed against him by Stevens and Adams.

"I don't like to quibble about the question of charges," McCarthy said. "What we did was to answer their charges."

But McCarthy agreed with Jenkins that his case consists of three principal points:

1. That Stevens and Adams "sought to discredit" the work of McCarthy's investigations subcommittee.

2. That Stevens and Adams sought to prevent, or to stop or to block your investigations of subversives "as Jenkins stated."

3. That Stevens and Adams sought to prevent the subcommittee from calling before it for questioning Army Loyalty Board members.

Additionally, the McCarthy camp has charged that the Army officials tried to use Scheme as a "hostage" to stop the investigations of the Army.

CLASH WITH WELCH
McCarthy first took the witness chair late yesterday, brought to in a bitter clash with Army Counsel Joseph N. Welch who denounced McCarthy as a "reckless and cruel" man without a sense of decency. With the outburst, Welch stopped questioning Cohen and called for the next witness—McCarthy.

Welch's emotional flare-up came when McCarthy spoke of Frederick G. Fisher, a young member of Welch's law firm, as having had Communist front associations, referring to an acknowledged one-time membership in the National Lawyers Guild.

The guild denies any Communist connections but McCarthy said a House committee had described it as the "legal bulwark" of the Communists and the government is seeking to have it formally declared a subversive organization.

Getting in his story of receiving reports on Communist infiltration of the Army, McCarthy said he wanted to make it clear "we do have a good Army."

He said that 99 per cent of the men are loyal and "willing to die in defense of their country."

At the outset of today's sessions, Chairman Mundt (RSD) asked all members to "search our souls and consciences" to determine how long the inquiry—now in its 31st day—should continue.

Mundt said the adjournment of Congress is approaching, and that the hearings are a heavy burden on the subcommittee's members.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) had just excused himself to attend a Senate Armed Services Committee meeting, and Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) had announced he would absent himself later to attend an Appropriations Committee meeting.

Mundt asked the members to give him by 2 p.m. the names of all witnesses they want called, but said this would not necessarily preclude the calling of essential other witnesses later.

Welch listened with his head cocked attentively to McCarthy's testimony. He seemed to have thrust aside any emotional hangover from his clash yesterday with the Senator.

Welch hotly replied that "if there is a God in heaven" the senator would reap the benefit from his attack. After an impassioned defense of Fisher, Welch abruptly halted his questioning of Cohen and left the room.

Tears came to his eyes as he paced a hallway outside during a hastily called recess. He murmured to bystanders that McCarthy had struck a blow "unfair, unjust, indecent to this young man."

Korean Vet's Wife Barred

PITTSBURGH — A National

Guardman who sent his wife to stay with her mother in Europe while he went to serve in Korea, say he hasn't been able to get her readmitted to this country. His wife is not an American citizen.

She's now stranded in Niagara Falls, Canada, say Charles Irvine, 31, who commands Battery B, 387th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion of the National Guard.

After returning from Korea, he says, he wrote his wife Lori to come home. She had been with her mother, Mrs. Arthur Mullin, in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany.

"Last month she and our son and our dog, arrived in Montreal," Irvine said. "I went up to bring her back. And, golly, the immigration officials said she couldn't come in on a visitor's visa."

"I didn't know what to think but they wanted papers about our marriage, papers about everything. Hell, I just gave up and came home."

He said he was "getting damned mad."

"I guess it's just because of red tape but it's difficult to understand that kind of red tape. I have my dog but my wife and child are in Niagara Falls, Canada. How about that?"

Irvine said he was World War II. He said after the war he returned to Europe and they were married in 1950 at South Sea, England.

"We got a visitor's visa for my wife and entered the U. S. with no trouble at all," he said.

He was shipped to Korea in 1951 to do anti-aircraft service in the reserve.
