

THE CHARLOTTE NEWS

*****
FINAL

Established Dec. 8, 1888.

Largest Evening Newspaper In The Two Carolinas
Charlotte, North Carolina, Friday, January 18, 1952

26 Pages — Price Five Cents

Carolinas To Receive Repeat Winter Show

Detroit Fireman Imitates Icicle After Coupling Slips

Northeast Snow, Cold Continue

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
More snow and continued cold was the wintry weather outlook for broad areas of the country today.

The season's longest cold wave—more than a week in some Midwest and Eastern areas—has brought record low temperatures and heavy falls of snow.

Nearly a foot of snow fell yesterday in the Buffalo, N. Y., area as a near blizzard whipped off Lake Erie. Snow fell during the night and early morning in most of the Great Lakes region and southward into the Ohio valley and also in the middle Mississippi Valley.

Heavy snow was expected off the east end of Lake Ontario with lighter amounts for central New York and sections north of Albany.

Readings near or below zero were general again today in most of Pennsylvania and New York and northward into New England as well as across the northern Great Lakes into the upper Mississippi valley. It was also below zero in most of the northern Rockies and in some parts of the northern plateau region. It was fairly mild in the far southwest.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Myers Park Students Bundled Warmly Against the Cold at Recess Today

Mercury Plunges To Teens

By EMERY WISTER
Charlotte News Staff Writer
A new and powerful cold air mass was roaring down on the ice-crusted Carolinas today, threatening a repeat performance of this morning's weather show that brought the lowest temperatures of the season.

A low of 17, one degree over this morning's ear-tingling 16 is forecast for Charlotte.

The cold air, rushing in with a fury that leaves no notion of the state untouched, threatens a low of 8 to 15 degrees in mountain areas, from 15 to 22 in the Piedmont and about 20 on the coast.

Winston-Salem had a 12-degree low, the coldest morning in 41 years. Greensboro's 10 was the lowest for the Piedmont, and New Bern's 18 was the lowest on the coast.

The temperature dropped to 5 below zero on Mt. Mitchell and Asheville had a 13.

Charlotte's 16 degrees was the lowest in almost two years and equaled the low reading of 16 degrees in Jan. 15, 1951.

The freezing cold which completely wiped out the overcast skies of yesterday also reached its icy fingers into South Carolina. It was 16 in Greenville, 17 in Spartanburg, 18 in Florence.

The weather Bureau said the cold air will keep a firm grip on the Carolinas today and will be reinforced by a fresh batch of cold air tonight.

The temperature should rise to freezing or slightly above in most areas of the Carolinas today, but should tumble to low readings again tonight. A low of 17, a high of 42 is forecast for Charlotte tomorrow, with skies expected to remain clear through Sunday.

Snow and freezing rain ended last night but evidences of yesterday's bad weather were still on the greater this morning.

Snow was still on the ground in Asheville and Buncombe County. Schools were still closed. Some snow fell in some locations but no serious accidents had been reported.

ICY STREETS
Greensboro, which felt the brunt of yesterday's storm, still has icy streets today. City schools reopened but county schools remained closed. Actually, Wednesday's weather gave residents a worse time than yesterday's and city hospitals were kept busy treating persons for reports.

See ANOTHER on page 2-A

Associate Says MD Denied Patient Hospital Treatment

EASTBOURNE, England (AP)—A medical associate, Dr. John Borkin Adams said today Adams would not allow a rich widow he is accused of poisoning to be moved to a hospital.

Dr. Ronald V. Harris testified he told Dr. Adams of his suspicion that Mrs. Gertrude Hullett was suffering from an overdose of drugs.

"He said this was not possible," Harris told the five justices of the peace holding a preliminary hearing into charges that Adams poisoned for profit.

The 57-year-old society doctor is appearing before a magistrate's tribunal on the formal charge that he murdered another of his rich elderly patients. The prosecution also accuses him of killing Mrs. Hullett and her husband out of "greed for money."

Adams benefited from the will of all three.

Dr. Harris said he first saw Mrs. Hullett three days before her death last July in answer to an emergency call because Dr. Adams was not available.

"I found her in a comatose state and she could not be roused," he testified.

Harris said he consulted later with Adams and asked him about the possibility of an overdose of drugs.

"He said this was not possible," Dr. Harris related, "I asked him what he considered the diagnosis was and he suggested cerebral hemorrhage."

Also scheduled to testify today was the coroner who held the inquest into Mrs. Hullett's death.

Evening Prayer
Lord, we all have gone astray and become lost. But thou dost bring us to the way of life in Christ and admit us into Thy family. Thou hast given us many blessings. In still in us the desire to lead others to Christ. In the name of our thorn-crowned Lord we ask it, Amen.

last summer. The prosecution wants to ask him about a missing 1,000-pound ($2,000) check which Scotland Yard says Mrs. Hullett gave Adams just before she died.

The missing check was 1 a 41 cent at an inquest last August conducted by Coroner A. C. Somerville.

Prosecutor Melford Stevenson said he also wanted to question Somerville about a telephone call the coroner received from Dr. Adams late one night last July.

NOT SATISFIED
Police said Dr. Adams told the coroner he was not satisfied about the death of a patient and asked if the coroner could arrange a private post-mortem.

When the coroner asked when the patient died, Dr. Adams was quoted by police as replying, "She hasn't died yet."

Dr. Adams late one night last July.

Dr. Adams late one night last July.

Dr. Adams late one night last July.

Dr. Adams late one night last July.

Dr. Adams late one night last July.

Dr. Adams late one night last July.

Dr. Adams late one night last July.

Dr. Adams late one night last July.

Dr. Adams late one night last July.

Dr. Adams late one night last July.

Dr. Adams late one night last July.

Ingrid Flying Out Of 'Exile' To U.S.

PARIS (AP)—With a lump in her throat, Ingrid Bergman flies to the United States tonight for the first time since she began her self-imposed exile seven years ago.

"I can't help being emotional about the trip," she said in her hotel suite before the departure. "I love New York and I miss it terribly."

She will be in New York just 36 hours—long enough to receive the New York Film Critics' Award as best actress of 1956 and to see "My Fair Lady," the Broadway hit musical.

"I've been wanting to see that show for months," explained the actress. "Friends have been giving me records of 'My Fair Lady' and this will be a wonderful chance to see it."

Then she will rush back to Paris—leaving New York Sunday night—in time for the curtain on Monday night's performance of Robert Anderson's "Tea and Sympathy," the play in which she is starring with great success. The play will close for three days as Miss Bergman can make the trip.

The blonde, Swedish-born actress has not been in the United States since she left to make the film "Stromboli" with Roberto Rossellini in Italy. She and the Italian film director had a son and then married after Miss Bergman's divorce from her American husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom.

Her daughter, by Lindstrom, Jenny Ann (Pia), is a college student in Colorado but Miss Bergman says her visit will be her first meeting in years.

"To see Pia," she explained, "I would need a lot of time and privacy. I couldn't very well do it with all the publicity and television that will undoubtedly accompany my trip."

Sitting in the living room of her hotel suite surrounded by her three children by Rossellini—7-year-old Roberto and 4-year-old twins Isabella and Ingrid—Miss Bergman insisted she is perfectly happy with her European career.

"Movies are made all over the world, not only in America," she said. Then, as an afterthought, "But maybe one day I'll return to America."

MUSEUM DEDICATED
FT. BRAGG (AP)—The 82nd Airborne Division dedicates its permanent war museum today with its World War II commander, Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, the featured speaker.

FREEZING IN SOUTH

Colder air extended southward into the south Atlantic coast states and only extreme southern Florida was out of the rigid belt. Temperatures were below freezing along the middle Gulf coast region with readings near freezing extending into the extreme northern Florida. Showers accompanied the advance of colder air into Florida.

Richmond, Va., reported record low marks of 8 above for both yesterday and today. Temperatures failed to climb above freezing in Virginia yesterday. Two deaths were attributed to the cold weather.

The first below zero weather of the season hit the Baltimore area. Shipping was slowed by ice on Chesapeake Bay. Two deaths in Maryland were attributed to the cold weather.

Readings near or below zero were general again today in most of Pennsylvania and New York and northward into New England as well as across the northern Great Lakes into the upper Mississippi valley. It was also below zero in most of the northern Rockies and in some parts of the northern plateau region. It was fairly mild in the far southwest.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Temperatures moderated from the Great Lakes southward into eastern Texas and Oklahoma but it was still cold, with temperatures ranging from near zero in the northern Great Lakes to around 30 in eastern Texas. The warming trend was expected to move into some eastern areas during the day.

Short Food, Unemployment Bleak Hungarian Outlook

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(AP)—U. N. observers reported today that revolts in Hungary face a severe food shortage and 12 per cent unemployment by mid-year.

The four-man mission visited Budapest Jan. 4-7 to look into relief needs as a result of the rebellion against Soviet domination.

The group said that to stave off the food shortage Hungary needs 440,000 tons of various foods: 14,300 tons of seed, and 10,150 tons of chemical fertilizer.

The food items included 400,000 tons of wheat; 20,000 tons of sugar; 10,000 tons each of lard and tallow, and 5,000 tons of lemons.

The observers approved a suggestion from the international committee of the Red Cross, which has been distributing U. N. relief goods in Hungary, that Hungary be given the needed foods and farm supplies but that they in turn be sold to the Hungarian people through normal economic channels and at the basic average world prices."

PLAN RECOMMENDED
The Red Cross and the observers recommended that the funds thus realized be paid to the Hungarian Red Cross for "assistance to the needy, hospitals, social institutions and related welfare programs as well as operational costs of the relief program."

The international Red Cross committee also recommended that Hungary be provided 200,000 tons of coal for hospitals, schools and other institutions.

The U. N. group said free distribution of the relief supplies would be difficult if not impossible and would be "undesirable on general economic grounds."

Channels for distribution of free supplies are mostly in the hands of the Soviet-supported Communist government. Some refugees have fled to Hungary's economic situation and relief needs. The Hungarian government still refuses to admit U. N. political observers.

The report said Hungary's chronic coal shortage "was greatly intensified by recent events, which resulted in a sharp drop in the labor force." As a result, "the heavy industry of the country has either been brought to a standstill or is working at a low level."

Unemployment is expected to reach "possibly as much as 300,000 by mid-year." That would be upward of 12 per cent of the last reported total of 2,432,000 Hungarian wage and salary earners.

The program, announced yesterday by the governor's inaugural committee, will begin on Wednesday, Feb. 6, with the convening of the Senate at 11 a. m. The House will convene an hour later.

State Sen. James M. Poyner of Raleigh, committee chairman, said a special session of seats in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium is being reserved for citizens from Rockingham County, the governor's home county. The committee is anxious, Poyner said, that the governor's friends and neighbors from Rockingham be assured of seats at the inauguration. He said their requests for reservations should be received by Jan. 29.

Inaugural Plans Set For Hodges

RALEIGH (AP)—An elaborate two-day program, including a 19-gun salute, has been worked out for the inauguration of Gov. Hodges.

The program, announced yesterday by the governor's inaugural committee, will begin on Wednesday, Feb. 6, with the convening of the Senate at 11 a. m. The House will convene an hour later.

State Sen. James M. Poyner of Raleigh, committee chairman, said a special session of seats in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium is being reserved for citizens from Rockingham County, the governor's home county. The committee is anxious, Poyner said, that the governor's friends and neighbors from Rockingham be assured of seats at the inauguration. He said their requests for reservations should be received by Jan. 29.

A preinaugural ball honoring Gov. and Mrs. Hodges, Lt. Gov. Lather Barnhardt and Mrs. Barnhardt and members of the Council of State and their wives will be held Wednesday night, Feb. 6.

At noon on Feb. 7, the governor will be inaugurated in traditional ceremonies before a joint session of the General Assembly. When Gov. and Mrs. Hodges leave the Capitol building, they will be given a 19-gun salute.

The inaugural parade will follow. For the first time, members of the State Supreme Court will wear their robes in administering the oath. After Hodges is sworn in, the oath will be administered to Barnhardt and members of the Council of State.

What's Inside
Business ..... 6A
Classified ..... before 7:15B
Comics ..... 8A
Crossword Puzzle ..... 14A
Editorials ..... 12A
Everyday Counselor ..... 12A
Obituaries ..... 7B, 12B
Radio-TV ..... 6A
Serials ..... 4A
Sports ..... 4B
Theaters ..... 11A
To Your Good Health ..... 4A
Women ..... 8:30B
Worry Clinic ..... 13A

Loan Shop Window Smashed For Watch

Policemen working an early evening midtown beat discovered a front windowpane smashed at Duke's Loan Shop, 205 E. Trade St., last night.

Inside the store window officers found a brick which had been tossed through the glass. Missing from the window was a pocket watch valued at $27.50.

See ANOTHER on page 2-A

Boy Gets Helping Hand After Extortion Attempt

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP)—A 14-year-old boy who tried to extort $50,000 from his favorite movie star, cowboy Roy Rogers, is going to be helped instead of punished by authorities.

Postal inspectors and police said the boy, who was charged with filing against the youngster and that he would be put on probation.

The Barberton Juvenile Court, made up of church, school and juvenile court representatives, will center tomorrow in getting for professional help in arranging for the boy back on the right track.

HONOR STUDENT
An honor student, the boy—whose name was withheld—was trapped yesterday in the boiler room of the U. L. Light Junior High School. A police officer, masquerading as a Western Union messenger, had taken a fake money package to the school, following out an elaborate and well planned plot the boy had thought up.

In brief, the plot which postal inspectors said the boy admitted, consisted of mailing to Rogers Dec. 22 a threat that unless he paid a half-million dollars, he would be subjected to "moral disgrace." That "disgrace" would be to have "altered photographs" which would show him nude distributed to school children. Rogers was instructed to send a coded message to the Akron Beacon Journal to indicate the money package had been sent to a "Teter Jones" at an Akron bus terminal where the boy had a Western Union messenger pick it up.

"I did it as a big joke," the frightened boy said after his arrest. He insisted he didn't mean to harm anyone or cause concern to Rogers and his family.

—NON-STOP ROUND THE WORLD FLIGHT—

First Globe-Circling Jet Planes Due Home

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The first globe-circling flight by jet planes was expected to end at this southern California base today.

These Are B52s—Type Which Circled Globe Nonstop

The Air Force would neither confirm nor deny reports that three B52 intercontinental jet bombers were winging homeward after a record nonstop round-the-world flight. But a spokesman did issue this announcement:

An event of historical importance will take place at 10:10 a. m. Friday (11:10 p. m. EST) at March AFB, Riverside, Calif. Newsmen were invited to be present and special buses were dispatched to bring reporters to the base from Los Angeles, 60 miles west of here.

Select Foremost Milk Products at your favorite store.—Adv.

Officials at Castle AFB, Merced, Calif., the home of the swept-wing B52s, were also vague in replying to inquiries. Capt. James Brady, Castle Intercom of Officer, would say only that "all activity" would be concentrated at March because of weather conditions in the Merced area.