City Wars

On Sidewalk 'War' Signs
Those service station signs proclaiming dropping prices on gasoline had better stay back off the sidewalks.

As the result of insistence by City Manager Henry A. Vancey for enforcement of the law a memorandum has been issued for violators "today went out from the office of Capt. L. W. Henkel of the city police department's traffic division."

There's a law against signs and other obstacles being on the sidewalk and Mr. Vancey said repeatedly numbers of service stations have been warned about infractions.

In his memorandum to officials in the police department, Capt. Henkel said:

"About every 30 or 60 days it is necessary for us to have these service station operators believe if we would issue citations for this violation and allow the posting of a bond so that they can't stay on the sidewalk for more than 30 days the practice of using the sidewalks for signs, etc., would stop."

The city code makes it unlawful to place "any sign, garbage can, or any other obstruction of any nature upon the sidewalk in the City of Charlotte."

The Tall Snowman

(AP Photo)

If this is not the biggest snowman in the country, it's the biggest in Kansas City. Painstakingly constructed by brothers Bob and Mike Downs and Phil Barnes and George Reed, it towers 25 feet above the ground.

How in the world do you make a 25-foot snowman? The Kansas City boys made theirs in three days by using cardboard and wooden forms into which they dumped packed snow. As the snowman grew they hauled fresh snow to the top on a sled which they pulled up an inclined ladder.

Mystery Witness

Wetzel Indicted In Brown Shooting
(Special To The News)
SANFORD—A Lee County grand jury today indicted Frank E. Wetzel on a charge of first degree murder in the slaying of Highway Patrolman J. T. Brown.

Wetzel, already convicted of killing Patrolman Wister L. Reece, is accused of shooting Brown about an hour after the slaying of Reece Nov. 5.

The grand jury returned the bill in Superior Court after hearing five witnesses, one a woman whose role in the case remains a mystery.

Solicitor W. Jack Hooks deposed to say what connection Mrs. Louise Southard of Sanford had in the case. She was one of five witnesses called to testify before the grand jury.

Other witnesses were: Robert Terry, 35-year-old Negro who rode with Reece's slayer and who was a state star witness in the slaying in Rockingham earlier this month.

Lee County Sheriff D. F. Hildner, who participated in the investigation of the Brown shooting.

Patrolman Roy Gates, who was assisting Brown the night of the slaying and who took Brown to the hospital. Gates and Brown were operating in separate cars when Brown stopped the slayer's car.

Lee County Coroner Dr. J. H. Byrly, who participated in the investigation of the Brown slaying.

Wetzel, a 36-year-old New York State native with a long criminal record, was sentenced to life for slaying Reece. The Richmond County jury recommended the life term in returning a guilty verdict.

The shootings came within an hour of each other. Both were shot with a high powered pistol after they stopped a speeding driver.

Cole Trial Postponed By Extradition Fight

Klan Chief Will Get Hearing

(Special To The News)

LUMBERTON — Trial for North Carolina Klan leader James Cole and aide James Martin, slated for tomorrow, will be postponed.

Solicitor Maurice Braswell said today the trial would be postponed unless Cole could be brought into court by tomorrow morning.

In Marion, S. C., Cole's home, it became evident that extradition proceedings cannot be completed in time for the trial. Cole officially informed a Marion Sheriff J. Leon Gasque that he will fight extradition to North Carolina.

This means a hearing will be necessary, James Mason, legal assistant to North Carolina Gov. George Bell Timmerman said the hearing probably will be scheduled next week.

SESSION ENDS

Thus, the possibility of trying Cole and Martin in the current term of Robeson County Superior Court, became remote. The session is slated to end Friday.

Braswell said the State will not try Martin separately. Martin, a resident of Reidsville, posted bond in Lumberton last week.

Cole refused to come into hostile Robeson County where Lumbee Indians, who dominate the population, broke up a Klan rally Jan. 18.

The charge of inciting a riot, for which Cole and Martin were indicted, grew out of that rally. The Indians descended on the gathering firing rifles and shotguns. Four persons were injured slightly.

Cole, who claims to be a Free Will Baptist minister, says he became involved in the case because he fears he can't get a fair trial. The extradition hearing will be before Mason or an officer of the Attorney General's office.

The hearing officer will make recommendations to the governor.

The final decision on Cole's extradition will be up to Gov. Timmerman.

Cole today said he plans to come to a North Carolina Klan rally scheduled near Burlington Feb. 1.

Martin posted bond following a lower court conviction on charges of public drunkenness and carrying concealed weapon.

The student told Coroner Underwood that the librarian was sent up to the room before the firing ended. However, M. L. Wilson, principal at the school, said he heard five shots. He said that there was a fire in the room.

Meanwhile at Raleigh, Police Lt. L. T. Bailey said that Parks walked up to Patrolman R. L. Bum in downtown Raleigh and surrendered. Johnston County Sheriff B. A. Henry and Selma Police Chief P. L. Moore went to Raleigh to question Parks.

Wilson said Miss Tomlinson had been at the school four years—one as a math teacher and three as a librarian. He said Parks had been a science teacher at the school for five years.

Teacher Shot In Library

SELMA (AP)—Miss Lois Tomlinson, librarian at Richard B. Hixson Negro High School here, was shot to death shortly after classes began today.

She was killed by a fusillade of shots fired from a .22 caliber pistol. Miss Tomlinson, about 28, lived at Clayton.

Johnston County Coroner V. J. Underwood said a science teacher, Frederick L. Parks, 31, of Goldsboro, fled after the shooting. He surrendered to officers in Raleigh about two hours later.

Underwood said the shooting occurred in the school library at around 8:55 a.m. He said that a student, Lela Williams, 17, witnessed the incident.

The coroner said he was told that Miss Tomlinson had been going with someone else and was engaged and he was jealous.

The student told Coroner Underwood that the librarian was sent up to the room before the firing ended. However, M. L. Wilson, principal at the school, said he heard five shots. He said that there was a fire in the room.

Army Awaits Try At Moon Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A mighty Jupiter-C missile stood poised on its launching pad here today, ready for its effort to propel a 30-pound American earth satellite into orbit around the moon.

This is a chance the Army has long awaited. It claims it could have fired a satellite into orbit as far back as 1955, long before the Russian Sputniks, if it had not been ordered to stand aside and let the Navy do the job with its Vanguard rocket.

Now, in the wake of the Navy's latest failure to get the temperature of the rocket motor just right, the Army is ready to try.

Many experts have expressed the opinion that the Jupiter-C, a creation of the German scientist Wernher von Braun, has a better chance than the Vanguard to put the first American "moon" into orbit around the earth.

The first Vanguard blew up on its firing pad here Dec. 6 after an immense publicity buildup. Last week, a four-day effort to shoot a second Vanguard ended in failure. Bad weather and mechanical difficulties were blamed.

ROCKET APART
Following that attempt, the Vanguard was dismantled and there seemed no chance that it could be put back together and readied for shooting for several days. That cleared the way for the flight of the Jupiter-C.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, chief of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, told a Senate committee after Sputnik I was launched that the Army could have done the same thing in 1955, if the Navy hadn't been given exclusive operating rights in the satellite field.

The Jupiter-C satellite will weigh 29.7 pounds, nine times more than the little aluminum sphere the Vanguard has tried to launch.

The wreck and bodies lay roughly along the course the 66-ton interisland ferry was taking across the 28-mile strait Sunday when it radioed the single word "danger," then disappeared in an 85-mile-an-hour windstorm.

3 Hurt In Rock Fight

Three Hawthorne Junior High School boys were injured in a rock throwing melee after a Hawthorne-Wilson Junior High School basketball game Thursday night, county police said today.

Police said the injured boys were Joe Liles, 14, hit in the forehead with rock; Douglas Finch, 14, hit in face with glass; and Gordon Richards, 14, who got a piece of glass in his eye.

Police said James Klier, coach of the Hawthorne team, said a group of about 20 boys gathered around his team's dressing room at the end of the game and said, "There's going to be trouble if Hawthorne wins the game."

School officials reported the incident to police yesterday.

Girls: Going Steady Bad For Future

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Going steady at too early an age can hurt a girl's chances of getting married, warns an expert on the subject of the unwed woman.

"It stunts her intellectual and social growth," says Dr. Richard H. Klemmer, 39, associate general director of the American Institute of Family Relations.

"Suppose she doesn't marry this boy she's been going with since grammar school. She is then far less intellectually and socially equipped for marriage than girls who have been dating lots of boys."

"And women shouldn't be angry or upset about other girl friends' steady relationships or husbands may have had. They're the ones who polished that diamond in the rough the woman now loves."

Dr. Klemmer, interviewed at the institute, added that after a girl passes her early 20s, going steady is desirable if she wants to get married.

"After that age, if she is still flitting from one casual acquaintance to another, it could indicate she is unable to develop the deep emotional relationship needed for marriage."

Venezuelan Rulers Win Civil Backing

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuela's ruling junta won the support today of the civilian group that sparked the overthrow of dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez.

The civilian "Punto Fijo" group issued a new manifesto declaring it had confidence in the national unity and was fully backing the military.

Order was being restored quickly. Only a few scattered rifle shots were heard in the capital last night.

The armed forces earlier promised their all-out support.
