Sergeant Denies Cruelty Charges

FT. JACKSON, S. C. (AP) — M Sgt. George Sovie of Ogdensburg, N. Y., denied at his general court martial today seven charges of recruit maltreatment. He admitted he ordered 20 young privates to eat dollar bills.

The greying, 29-year-old Purple Heart veteran said he had occasionally made recruits hoist foolcorks, weighing about 30 pounds, as penalties for violating discipline. He admitted also that on instructions from a commissioned officer he ordered two recruits to eat dollar bills.

Sovie denied, however, that he ever had a trainee dipped head first into a mess hall grease trap and said he had never ordered recruits to jump bodily into the pit of slimy grease.

The government rested its case against Sovie at the outset of the second day of the court-martial. Defense Atty. William Townsend of Columbia put two captains and another sergeant on the stand as character witnesses before Sovie testified in his own behalf.

Capt. Robert J. Crossland of Boston, Mass., and Capt. Ernest W. Moore of Havant, Fla., testified that they considered Sgt. Sovie one of the finest non-commissioned officers ever to serve under them.

Sgt. Leslie G. Duncan of Arcadia, N.M., the clerk in the recruit training company, described Sovie as an extremely competent first sergeant who "has a knack for getting the job done and is always fair."

1st Lt. John Shea of Rochester, N.Y., prosecuting attorney, questioned Duncan closely about the chain of command in Co. B. Duncan said Sovie, not the company commander, usually handled disciplinary matters.

Col. John R. Smook of Orangeburg, S.C., the presiding officer, called for help, and police, firemen and others answered the call. They couldn't find the snake, so they dismantled the stove. Still no snake. They turned their attention to the house, but still didn't find the reptile. Then after three and a half hours, the snake crawled out of the pile of stove parts.

Mich. went pheasant hunting while his wife remained at home. He returned empty-handed, found a pheasant in his wife's hands. The bird, she said, flew into the side of the house and killed itself.

Southern Democrats Hit Butler

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern Democrats were feuding today with their party's national chairman — just as President Eisenhower was saying the Democrats are a hopelessly split party offering only deadlocked government.

What aroused the ire of the Southerners was a statement Sunday by Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler. He told interviewers Southern Democrats ought either to accept a strong civil rights plank in the 1960 Democratic platform or leave the party.

Several Dixie Democrats said Butler should leave the party. One called him a radical and another said he was pitching for "Northern radical votes and special interest groups."

In Wheeling, W. Va., Butler appeared to soften his stand somewhat Monday night, saying, "We're certainly not going to read anybody out of the party."

LITTLE HARM

"Inevitably there will be some people who will not go along with the party platform," he added. Butler said he did not think such a split would hurt the Democrats in the 1960 presidential campaign.

Eisenhower, in a hard-hitting speech for Republican candidates in California, said the Democrats have "political schizophrenia" — split personality.

Without referring to the Butler-Dixie row, Eisenhower said the Democrats are divided into two widely separated wings — one in the South and "at the other extreme the stronger wing, dominated by political radicals."

"In Congress," he said, "they crash headlong into each other on the most important strategic issues. In short, our opposition can offer America only deadlocked government that wages war on itself."

Eisenhower spoke to a party rally in Los Angeles and his words were broadcast over a regional radio-television hookup.

The President defended his ad-

Suspect Given Lie Checkup

MARION (AP) — One of three Negro brothers questioned in a completed tests of fingerprints found at the home of the victim, Mrs. J. F. Wilkinson.

However, Anderson declined to disclose the results of the lie detector test or any information on the fingerprints. He said this case has to come from Marion Police Chief D. W. Smith.

Anderson said the FBI had not completed tests on a bloodstained shirt belonging to one of the brothers.

Mrs. Wilkinson, 69-year-old widow of a paper box manufacturer, was found beaten to death at her home.

The three brothers, Edgar Logan, 36, Eulas, 44, and Williams, 51, were picked up for questioning shortly after discovery of the body. Edgar and Eulas had worked for Mrs. Wilkinson.

Officers declined to say which of the brothers underwent the lie detector test.

Officers Monday found a shirt belonging to Edgar with bloodstains on the sleeve. He said the blood came from a chicken he killed Sunday.

Pamela Smith Wasn't Lost, She Just Went To See Dad

By JOHN KILGO

News Staff Writer
Little Pamela Smith—a three-year-old blonde cutie who loves her daddy and doesn't like policemen—will be a long time forgetting yesterday.

Pam, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, 3227 Draper Ave., decided she'd go see her daddy—and the fact that he was three miles away didn't bother her in the least.

She, with her little white dog "Spitsy," started walking to Mr. Smith's place of business on The Plaza around 10 a.m. yesterday. "She and 'Spitsy' were out in the backyard with me while I was running out clothes," Mrs. Smith said today.

"The dog went through a hole in the fence and went around to the front of the house. Pam went back near our house and Pam loves water and I was scared to go down there."

"I was going to make that my last place to go. I was scared to death."

"A lady that was helping me look kept saying, 'Don't get excited. No news is good news. No news is good news.'"

While Mrs. Smith was looking, Pam and "Spitsy" were walking down Eastway Dr. on the way to see Mr. Smith.

A woman noticed the little girl and her dog and tried to find out where they were from. She called police and County Patrolman W. S. Allison rode Pam and "Spitsy" around for over an hour in a police car looking for "home."

"I'd ask her where she lived," Allison said, "and she would point one way and then the next."

WORD BY MAIL
A mailman came by Mrs. Smith's house and told her a little girl was lost about six blocks away.

quarters and found out that their Pam was safe, but a little scared.

Officers bought her a drink and candy, but the strange surroundings frightened her.

"She wouldn't let go of 'Spitsy,'" Mrs. Smith said. "She was scared to death and she wasn't about to let go of the only thing she knew."

"The first thing she said to me was, 'Mama, I just HAD to see daddy.'"

"This morning Pam slept a little later than usual. Her mother said she was still tired from yesterday."

"She doesn't like policemen for some reason," Mrs. Smith said.

"She told me last night, 'I'm not going off again!'"

Evening Prayer
Heavenly Father, how humble we are because of our ineffectiveness as Thy instrument in this world. O Lord, help everyone to realize that there can be no peace unless we become reconciled to Thee through Jesus Christ, our Redeemer. Amen

Winds Chill Queen City
Cold northeasterly winds chilled Charlotteans today and brought rainfall which ended early in the morning.

High today was expected to be a cool 58 degrees, but a rise to 71 tomorrow is expected in a forecast which calls for a cloudy but warmer day.

Rainfall up to noon was .20 of an inch.

It brought other temperature forecasts down also. The forecast calls for occasional rain and wind this afternoon and night.

Expected low tomorrow morning is 50 degrees. Low this morning was 48 degrees.

300 In Classes At Private School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The bell at a private, segregated school rang today for approximately 300 white high school seniors, shut out of public schools here for more than six weeks.

Students, carrying text books and lunches, filed into a leased, red-brick building for the first day of classes conducted by the Little Rock Private School Corp.

The opening, even on its limited basis, marked a milestone in a prolonged battle to keep Little Rock schools segregated.

The Corporation school was placed off-limits to newsmen. Even as the seniors were registering yesterday, a legal challenge to the private school's operation was promised by the National Assn. For the Advancement of Colored People.

Another 400 students of all high school grades registered at the Second Baptist Church for classes which will start next Monday at Baptist High School, a branch facility opened by Ouachita Baptist College. These classes will be held in education buildings of the Second Baptist and two other Baptist churches. A tuition of $20 per month is charged.

The corporation school is free of W. C. Brashears, principal, said the corporation would have no space for 10th and 11th graders until Nov. 1, when it will get other quarters at an undisclosed location.

The senior high building is a 32-room building formerly used by the University of Arkansas Graduate Center.

An estimated 2,700 high school students including those at Horace Mann, a Negro institution, were shut out when Gov. Orval F. Faubus closed the city's four high schools Sept. 12 to block integration. The schools were scheduled to open Sept. 15.

RUMOR DIES
A reported possibility that two Negro colleges would establish high school classes for displaced Little Rock Negro students was squelched.

Roads And Phones Out In Places

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A storm described by the Weather Bureau as a severe northeasterly lashed North Carolina's central and upper coastal areas with howling winds of near hurricane force today and brought tides of 5 to 6 feet above normal at places.

Reports from New Bern said that the storm which struck before dawn uprooted large trees, sent river waters rising into waterfront businesses and plunged part of the town in darkness.

No deaths or injuries were reported.

The Weather Bureau said that winds reached 70 miles per hour in gusts in the Manteo-Nags Head area and said that severe beach erosion had been reported from Nags Head. The wind reached 53 miles per hour in gusts at New Bern, 45 miles per hour at Wilmington, 44 at Cherry Point and 40 at Morehead City and Topsail Island.

Tides at New Bern, where the northeast wind backed up waters of the Neuse and Trent Rivers, were reported 5 feet above normal and six feet above normal in Core Sound. However, near normal tides were reported at Morehead City.

CONTINUE TODAY

The Weather Bureau's Raleigh-Durham station said the storm probably would continue during today and tonight, but gradually diminish tomorrow as the storm, centered about 150 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, slowly drifts away from the coast.

It said rain and strong winds and high tides probably would continue during the day and gradually diminish tomorrow.

W. N. Spruill of Ansonia, first division highway engineer, said two or three automobiles were stranded where water washed over the road near Little Kinnakeet on the Outer Banks island of Hatteras. He said he believed highway forces and Coast Guardsmen had succeeded in getting their occupants to high ground.

Spruill said water covered the road in the Little Kinnakeet area but highway forces had not been able to determine the extent of the damage.

He reported some water and mud on the area but highway forces over the highway in the Nags Head area but he understood that highway crews had succeeded in clearing the same sufficiently for traffic to move.

Telephone communications in the Mantea area were out of order.

SERVICE HALTED

Ferry service across Hatteras Inlet, Oregon Inlet and the Alligator River were halted because of the weather. High water and heavy rain at Oregon Inlet and low water, strangely, forced suspension of the Alligator River service, Spruill reported.

C. F. Boyette of Ocracoke reported high winds—up to 70 miles per hour in gusts—and tides 2 to 3 feet above normal there Monday night.

The island was virtually isolated. Mail service to Atlantic and ferry service to Hatteras have been suspended since Sunday.
