Rail Grade Separation Work Given State Key

The go-ahead signal has been given on Charlotte's plans for a $4,000,000 railroad grade separation program on the Southern Railway's westside mainline tracks.

City Manager Henry A. Yancey said today that approval has been given at the state level of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Mr. Yancey and Frank T. Miller of Greensboro, consulting engineer for the local project, were in Raleigh yesterday for a conference with A. L. Hooper, state engineer of the Bureau of Roads.

Said Mr. Yancey: "We presented our plans and they were carefully inspected by Major Hooper and his associates. At the end of the day, Mr. Hooper said he liked the plans and in answer to our query said we could proceed with preparation of the detailed plans."

Of course, the bureau's representative could make no financial commitment and that was not expected, Mr. Yancey said.

FOUR PROJECTS
Hope is that state and federal aid will be forthcoming in financing construction of underpasses at W. Trade St. and W. 4th St., and reconstruction of underpasses at W. Morehead St. and W. 7th St.

The original agreement provides for a four-way split of the cost with the Southern Railway and the city government sharing the costs with the State Highway Commission and the U. S. Bureau of Roads.

The proposed underpass on W. Trade St., designed by the project engineer, makes the project eligible for state and federal aid.

Emergency School Plans Are Readied

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Plans are being made to provide educational facilities for some of the 17,000 youngsters displaced by school closings in Arkansas and Virginia and the dynamiting of the high school at Clinton, Tenn.

Fourteen schools are shut down in the three states. In several sections legal sparring continued between state and federal authorities while statements on the integration crisis came from Supreme Court Justice Frankfurter yesterday asked for a constructive use of time in school integration in general but said that lawlessness if not checked is the forerunner of anarchy.

He issued an opinion concurring with the court's unanimous decision in the Little Rock case last week.

NEW IDEAS

Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida appealed to church leaders for "new ideas for resolving the racial conflicts." He spoke at the triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church at Miami.

In Little Rock, Gov. Orval E. Faubus expressed belief that private all-white schools would be in operation by mid-October. He made the statement a few hours after an appellate court in St. Louis extended until Oct. 15 a ban on operation of the four high schools of a private segregated institution.

Dr. J. Roney, president of the Little Rock Private School Corp., said his group planned to begin operation in one or two buildings in private buildings without waiting for the Oct. 15 federal court decision.

At Clinton, state and federal authorities continued searching for clues to the identity of the dynamiters while 60 high school pupils, including 11 Negroes, prepared to shift classes to an elementary school at Oak Ridge six miles from Clinton.

"We've been knocked down but we're not out," principal W. D. Human said in outlining plans to send the youngsters to Oak Ridge by bus, probably starting Monday. The Atlanta-based U.S. Commission authorized use of the vacant school at Oak Ridge because some children of employees attended Clinton.

Clinton High was integrated by federal court order two years ago. Several incidents occurred the first year but the situation quieted down after John Kasper, a racial agitator, was given a federal sentence for stirring up violence.

In Virginia, Duncan C. Gibb, chairman of a citizens' committee which formed an educational foundation in Warren County, said juniors and seniors of the closed high school at Front Royal would start emergency classes Wednesday. Eight other schools in Charlottesville and Norfolk remained closed.

Nationalist Guns Fire On Planes

TAIPEI (AP)—Nationalist Chinese anti-aircraft guns on Quemoy punctuated the cease-fire in the Formosa Strait this afternoon, firing on eight Communist planes which flew over the offshore island.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said the Red aircraft did not attack and were not hit by the Nationalist fire. They flew back toward the mainland.

The Quemoy anti-aircraft batteries were the first guns to go off in the area since the Communists proclaimed a seven-day cease-fire, effective 40 hours before.

Observers in Taipei did not consider the Quemoy truce had necessarily been broken, since the earlier Communist announcement had spoken only of halting the artillery bombardment against besieged Quemoy and the neighboring Nationalist islands.

MORE SUPPLIES

U. S. Navy ships escorted more supplies to Quemoy today, again defying the Red demand that the cease-fire be accompanied by a halt to the American convoys.

The Reds had announced they would halt their attacks on the islands for a week beginning Sunday midnight if the Americans stopped escorting the Chinese Nationalist supply ships. But Monday and again today they offered no opposition to Nationalist convoys which were escorted by ships of the U. S. 7th Fleet to the three-mile limit off Quemoy.

Supplies also were dropped on Quemoy from Nationalist C-46 transports.

Reports from Washington said it was expected there the American escort operations would be suspended in a day or two, and that the suspension would continue as long as the cease-fire held.

The Nationalists had virtually no expectation that the Reds would prolong the truce beyond the one-week period they set themselves.

The local air was filled with predictions of major Communist military action when the period expired Sunday midnight — or even before.

Nationalist intelligence sources reported that the Communists had been commandeering motorized jeeps along the China coast from Hong Kong area northward for a possible invasion of the Quemoy's.

Red China's Foreign Minister Chen said the United States should not "misinterpret this suspension of bombardment as meeting its demand for a cease-fire. He said the Chinese people are determined to liberate Formosa, the Pescadores, Quemoy and Matsuen."

"No foreign interference will be tolerated at all," he said.

NICKEL BALANCE

OTTAWA—After many years of nickel shortages for civilian uses, supplies came into closest balance with demand in 1957 in nearly all parts of the free world. In fact, in the largest market, the United States, supply exceeded demand.

Fever Abates

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope Pius XII rallied today. He was lucid. His fever abated and his respiration was normal. He ate solid food.

The 82-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church rallied yesterday by a cerebral stroke, recognized persons in his sickroom and spoke a few words.

When his temperature was taken, the pope himself removed the thermometer from his mouth to read it.

Physicians said he ate cereal both and shredded chicken.

A medical bulletin indicated the pope's tremendous continuing resistance to his second serious illness in four years.

There were cautious expressions of hope he could recover.

One of his doctors said at noon that if his condition continued to improve further medical bulletins might be postponed until tomorrow.

The pope had recovered from a kidney block, which for a time had threatened dangerous complications.

Even so, his condition continued to be regarded as grave. Plans to remove him from his summer palace here to the Vatican were held in abeyance.

A gateman at Highland Park Mill waved a preliminary hearing on a murder charge in City Recorder's Court today following the fatal shooting of L. C. Childers.

Police said Mr. Childers was shot five times yesterday by Denver Lloyd, 1901 N. Caldwell St., after Lloyd accused Childers of "talking about me."

The shooting occurred about 6:30 a.m. in the 300 block of E. 10th St. Childers — wounded in the left wrist, chest, shoulder and back — died about 11 a.m.

No bond was allowed the 47-year-old Lloyd, who has been transferred from city to county jail to await trial in Mecklenburg Superior Criminal Court.

City Coach, Union Still Meeting

By DICK YOUNG
News Staff Writer

If the local bus strike is not settled by Thursday morning, Mayor James Smith, representing the public, will enter the situation.

"We will wait until Thursday morning to see if representatives of the company and of the union can reach an agreement," he said.

"If the strike is not settled by then I will, as the Mayor of Charlotte, enter the picture."

The Mayor gave no inkling of what he had in mind, what proposals he had to offer settlement of the strike or what he proposed to do to get the buses running.

"We aren't taking any sides except the side of the public and we don't care what they do except to settle the strike and get the buses running."

Mr. Smith said the public has been inconvenienced and the inconvenience has mounted as the strike has continued.

LONG SESSION

He said he was in conference until 11 o'clock last night with state and federal mediators.

Last night's conference with the mediators, which has been carefully watched in recent days by him, City Manager Henry A. Yancey and members of the city council.

This morning Mayor Smith issued this statement:

"Following further discussion some length last night between Mayor Smith and state and federal mediators the mediators will proceed to confer further with company and union officials and report back to Mayor Smith. It is trusted that some basis for agreement may be found."

MEET TODAY

Federal conciliator D. Yates Heafner said there was to be a joint meeting of union representatives and city officials today at 1:30 p.m. This is the first joint meeting since a late Saturday meeting broke up early Sunday morning.

Mr. Heafner said although no joint meetings have been held since early Sunday morning, he has held conferences with other individuals concerning the strike.

The meeting today was to be in Mr. Heafner's office.

Storm Deals Nassau Blow

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Janice dealt the honeymoon town of Nassau in the Bahamas a stinging blow and headed northeast into the open Atlantic today.

Heavy weather broke slip against rocks in Nassau harbor and killed one man.

Carrying top winds of 75 mph, the hurricane was located at 5 a.m. about 230 statute miles east of Melbourne, Fla.

Forecasters looked for Janice to continue moving away from the U. S. mainland during the next 12 hours.

Gale warnings were displayed from Cape Hatteras, N. C., south to Vero Beach, Fla.

Janice left a Nassau skipper drowned several boats lost and destroyed or unestimated damage.

Driving across Nassau harbor, Janice carried peak winds of 60 m.p.h.

A 15-foot sailing dinghy with one man aboard plunked into a heavy swell and sank within seconds.

A 30-foot ketch was broken on rocks a mile west of the Nassau shipping district. Jack Carleton of Nassau, the owner and skipper, got safely ashore.

Rescued Trio On Way Home

Those Charlotte fishermen who were picked up by a yacht after drifting at sea for one night and most of Sunday will be back at their homes today.

Mr. David McCall, 1708 Pecan Ave., said he expected her husband home "either late this afternoon or early tonight."

She said her husband telephoned her last night from Murrell's Inlet, S. C., having driven there by rental car after being put ashore at Savannah.

Mr. McCall and his companions — J. W. Aycock, 1121 Parkwood Ave. and George (Pete) Baucum of Mint Hill — were planning to pick up their car and boat trailer when the yacht came by. They sailed to retrieve Mr. McCall's 16-ft. outboard motorboat.

The boat was towed into Savannah by a Radio Corporation of America yacht, the Electron. The RCA craft spotted the fishermen's flashlight signal as the Charlotte outboard bobbed alongside a sea buoy, three miles off the coast of Charleston, S. C.

"I fished four lines to that buoy — I'm not kidding, four lines," Mr. McCall said when contacted by his wife by telephone.

"And we sat there from 8 a.m. Sunday to 3 p.m. Sunday night and three in a line there. We signalled to them with a flashlight. They came alongside and threw us a line. There we cut our lines to the buoy; I mean we literally cut them, and they took us aboard."

Mr. McCall said her husband kept talking "about the service they got on that beautiful yacht — they let them steaks and everything."

The yacht attempted to go in
