Sgt. and Mrs. Rhodes As Court Opened

Embassy Leak Charged

GI Denies Spying For Moscow Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—M. Roy A. Rhodes denied guilt today as he went on trial by court-martial on charges of spying for Russia.

Rhodes is accused of passing secrets to the Soviet while on duty at the U. S. Embassy in Moscow from 1951 to 1953 and after his return to this country. He admitted to the Soviet while on duty at the U. S. Embassy in Moscow from 1951 to 1953 and after his return to this country. He admitted to the Soviet while on duty at the U. S. Embassy in Moscow from 1951 to 1953 and after his return to this country.

TO STAND BY

Beside the lanky 40-year-old sergeant was his wife, saying: "I'm here to stand by. He isn't guilty. He was in no position to do it."

Rhodes said the reason he was Russians was that he had only Russian mechanics to deal with while he was chief of the motor pool at the embassy in Moscow. On his chest was a good conduct medal, plus a combat infantry badge, three battle stars for the European theater and the Bronze Star. He was dressed in the old drab army uniform.

The court-martial began with legal technicalities in a soundproof courtroom with red drape.

Rhodes is being tried by a 10-man court headed by Col. Milton S. Glatter, assistant chief of staff for logistics and supply of the Military District of Washington.

FOOTWATCHERS OFFER HINTS FOR SEASON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cold feet? The current cold wave is taking its greatest toll below the ankles, says the American Foot Care Institute, Inc.

Here's what the institute says:

1. Bathe your feet alternately with hot and cold water after your bath or shower. This stimulates blood circulation.
2. Wear closed shoes.
3. Men should wear two pairs of thin socks instead of one heavy pair. The space between will help retain body warmth.
4. Women, prone to cling to nylon, can rub lanolin or baby oil into the skin to prevent chapping.
5. Exercise your feet briefly, by wriggling the toes and rotating the feet from the ankles.
6. Stay indoors if you can.

—DID IT BELONG TO MELVIN WEST?—

Overtured Motorboat Found At Sea

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Navy Reserve officer just returned from a training cruise reported to day that two destroyer escorts came upon an outboard motorboat drifting southward on the Atlantic on Feb. 5. There was no sign of life aboard the tiny craft, the officer said.

WEST'S BOAT

The find, as reported by Lt. Commander Richard Trip, immediately aroused speculation that it might shed light on the fate of Melvin West, who set out 13 days ago from Morehead City in an outboard motorboat.

Trip, however, said he was under the definite impression that

Schwartz Says Rights Violated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Bernard Schwartz, fired as counsel to a special House investigating committee, went before his erstwhile employers today with a staggering armload of documents.

Schwartz was subpoenaed as a witness in the committee's investigation of federal regulatory agencies and instructed to bring all his personal files.

In any tones, Schwartz told reporters outside the committee room.

"Compared to this kangaroo committee, the star chamber itself was the very paragon of justice."

"DENIED BASIC RIGHTS"

"I have been denied basic procedural rights which would be accorded to the most blatant criminal."

The committee's 7.5 vote last night to fire Schwartz, a New York University law professor, from his $14,000-a-year job had left an explosive atmosphere.

In the wake of that action, Chairman Moulder (D-Mo) announced after midnight that he was quitting as head of the dissen-sion-ridden investigation.

LAWYERS RESIGN

Two lawyers resigned from the staff this morning. They are Herbert M. Wachtell and Paul Berger, both of New York. They had come to Washington to assist Schwartz with the investigation.

Wachtell is a former Asst. U. S. Attorney. He was connected with the prosecution of racketeer Johnny D.

The investigating group is technically a subcommittee of the House Commerce Committee, and Chairman Harris (D-Ark) of the parent committee called the subcommittee into closed session. Moulder was present. Moulder had told reporters he would continue to serve on the subcommittee although resigning as its chairman.

Harris told newsmen that the meeting was about to open that he had not yet actually received Moulder's resignation, but "I received it through the press."

Schwartz, his voice at times shaking with emotion, came down a hallway to the committee room heading a procession of staff members loaded with investigative files.

SERVED WITH SUBPOENA

"I was served with a subpoena at 12:35 a. m. to appear with my files," he said to reporters.

"I spent most of the night trying to seek counsel."

Schwartz said that he had succeeded in obtaining George Aronson and Wachtell—the man who resigned from the subcommittee staff—to represent him.

"What is my crime?" he demanded. "The newsmen clustered about the committee room door."

He said his only crime was that he tried to conduct "in good faith" the investigation of the federal regulatory agencies.

Schwartz went on: "I made mistakes but they were honest mistakes. I couldn't turn back on the strength of evidence which was to be produced before this subcommittee. I couldn't turn back on the strength of evidence which I had. That is the only crime I have committed."

"The only mistake I have made is trusting in the toes of power."

RIVER SHIVER

DETROIT (AP)—Despite 13-degree temperatures, Bill Wiercinski, 44, a five-foot swimmer, was in the ice-choked Detroit River. "It's the best way I know to prevent cold," he said.

Emergency Ends In Jersey City As Leak Found

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—The water main leak draining this city's supply of water at an alarming rate was located today and the state of emergency was declared finished.

August W. Heckman, commissioner of Public Works, announced that the leak had been "pinpointed" in a 36-inch main starting at the city's small reservoir and running under the Hackensack River.

The main, Heckman said, was not in use at the present time.

Since the leaking water was not undermining the downtown area, the state of emergency declared early Monday is over, he added.

City workers had concentrated their search for the mysterious water main break at two points today—the line running under the Hackensack River and a 10-block area near the Hudson River.

EMERGENCY STATE

The leak, with millions of gallons of water going to waste, had led to a state of emergency for a third of this port city. Hundreds of water works employees had been searching for the break since Sunday night without success.

Most of the 40 control valves in that section were cut off yesterday one at a time in an effort to find the leak.

The possibility of cave-ins caused by the eating away of under earth was still considered the greatest danger, and police and firemen continued through the night to search for the break on foot, bicycle and auto.

READY TO EVACUATE

Deputy Police Chief Joseph B. Foley, the city Civil Defense director, said he is ready to evacuate 1,000 residents to the Jersey City armory should the leak be found under any tenement area. National Guard trucks would be used and commercial buses commandeered, he said.

The search thus far has been confined mainly to the downtown and Lafayette areas, where about 100,000 persons—one third of the city's population—were without water for a time early yesterday.

The pressure was restored later in the day, however, and public works director August W. Heckman said the danger from fire was greatly reduced.

A total of 195 plants employing 23,500 workers have been placed in an effort to conserve water and keep the pressure up, while 20 schools in the area were also shut down, giving some 15,000 students an unexpected holiday.

Heckman said the schools would remain closed until the leak was "found and repaired."

EXPECT NO HARM

Winter Retains Grip Upon East

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter's worst and longest spell of cold and stormy weather in the eastern half of the nation showed little indication of a general break today.

The arctic air, which has kept temperatures near zero for almost a week in some northern sections, remained stationary. The huge mass of cold air also held fast across the country's eastern half except in southern parts of Texas and south of Florida.

Faint Horn Beep Reveals Cold Tragedy

BALDWINVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—She moaned and shivered beside her dead husband in an automobile buried in snow for two nights.

Finally, Mrs. Henry Allen heard footsteps yesterday and leaped the horn. A faint beep reached rescuers.

They found Allen, 46, dead of a heart attack. Mrs. Allen, 44, was suffering from shock and

"Thank God, it's about time!" she murmured.

Just how long Allen had been dead was not determined. To Mrs. Allen, it was "several hours." She was treated at a Syracuse hospital and discharged.

She said a blizzard that struck this central New York area halted the car Saturday night as the couple drove toward their home near here after shopping in Baldwinsville. They were to celebrate her birthday at home.

Allen tried twice to shove the car free, then complained of a pain in his chest. He slumped over the wheel and she could not wake him.

Allen had been a foreman for The Carrier Corp. in Syracuse for 20 years.

Chou En-Lai Leaves Post Of Minister

LONDON (AP)—Peiping radio announced today that Chou En-Lai has been "relieved" as Communist China's foreign minister on his own recommendation. The broadcast said he retained his post as premier.

The Red radio said Chou was appointed to succeed Chou as foreign minister.

The actions were taken at a plenary session of the National People's Congress, which began meeting in the Red Chinese capital yesterday.

The Red radio said Chen Yi would continue to hold his post as a vice premier. He also is a marshal in the Chinese Army.

The broadcast said: "The National People's Congress in a decision at its plenary session this afternoon appointed Vice Premier Chen Yi concurrently foreign minister on the recommendation of Premier Chou En-Lai."

"The premier was relieved of his concurrent post as minister of foreign affairs."

Chen Yi has been a rising star in the Peiping hierarchy since

His 3rd Field Army was first over the Yangtze River and first into Shanghai during the Red conquest, which drove Chiang Kai-shek to Formosa. For awhile he was shunted into relative obscurity as military mayor of Shanghai, then in 1955 was named a vice premier under Chou.

Royal Auto Club Told Yanks Better At Wheel

LONDON (AP)—A British government spokesman today says Americans are better drivers than Britons.

Richard Nugent, parliamentary secretary to the Transport Ministry, told a meeting of the Royal Automobile Club last night. Americans drive at higher speeds but have more skill at the wheel than the British.

"They pay heed to their highway safety rules," Nugent declared. "They accepted discipline, and that is what the drivers of this country need."

—STANDING TRIP WELL—
Moon Boy 'Bright, Chipper'

By GARTH JONES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Airman Donald G. Farrell brushed his teeth and shaved this morning just like many other husky 22-year-olds—except that he is pretending to be on a trip to the moon.

The blond six-footer from the Bronx was squeezed Sunday into a 3-by-5-foot experimental sealed cabin, quickly dubbed a space barrel, at nearby Randolph Air Force Base.

EXPECT NO HARM

Space medical experts at the base's School of Aviation Medicine expect Farrell to crawl from the cabin and keep the pressure up, unharmed by the seven days in a make-believe space ship.

"Very bright and chipper" was the way Lt. Col. George R. Steinkamp, chief of space medicine, reported Farrell's condition. "At this point I see no reason why he should not last the full seven days."

Steinkamp described how Farrell spends his time in the hermetically sealed cabin. He sees and hears nothing on the outside. All instructions are relayed to him by a closed-circuit television hookup or by prearranged signals on a panel of buttons and switches.

WORK PERIODS

He said Farrell has "work periods" of about four hours that might be compared with standing a shift at the controls of a space ship. He has a rubber mattress he can inflate and stretch out on during a specified sleeping period. Otherwise he must sit almost bolt upright.

However, it is not all work and sleep. There are "rest periods" during which he reads, including two textbooks on accounting and English grammar. In these periods he also listens to hi-fi record music piped into the cell—mostly George Gershwin and Cole Porter selections that he picked before the trip started.

The scientists figure it would not be impossible for space travelers to hear radio music broadcast from the earth or maybe from a space station relay point.

MASTER MENU

Farrell follows a master menu that Steinkamp said was "high in protein and highly nutritious." It does not consist entirely of condensed or dehydrated foods. He had an orange with his breakfast. To test Farrell's reactions from day the day's alarm signal may be sounded during any of his rest periods. He is expected to respond and take over the controls of the make-believe space ship as soon as possible.
