Roadblocks Up To Halt Jail's 'Human Flies'

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—Roadblocks were thrown across every highway leading out of Miami today in the effort to ensure an accused cop killer and a rapist who escaped last night from the 3rd floor of Miami's skyscraper jail.

"These men have nothing to lose," officers were warned. "Capturing them will be tough."

At large after the "human fly" breakout from the jail in midtown Miami were Norman J. Mackiewicz, 32, accused murderer of a policeman in suburban Bal Harbour, and Howard B. Picotti, who is charged with the rape of a girl.

They mingled with the crowds on Flagler St. and got safely away after climbing down the side of the building on a rope made of mattress ticking.

Roger Wayne Carter, 18, Chicago, charged with slaying a bar waiter, and Edward L. Kille, 27, held on a federal car theft charge, were collared in the jail-court-house within an hour of the daring escape bid at 7:42 p.m.

Investigators said the quartet swam out a bar of a window with a smuggled hacksaw blade, made fast a rope of torn-up mattress ticks and inched down the north-east corner of the 25-story building in downtown Miami.

Carter kicked in a window pane at 19th floor level, possibly in a misty while "walking" down the side of the building, and got into the County Criminal Investigation Bureau laboratory. He hid in the building after hearing employees who heard the crash of glass smashed help, and gave himself up after about an hour.

Kille was captured downstairs by guards mobilizing to check the break.

Wetzel Trial

Prosecution Nearing End

By BILL HUGHES
News Staff Writer

SANFORD — Testimony in the murder trial of Frank E. Wetzel droned into its second week today with the state expected to finish its circumstantial case by tomorrow.

A jury of 11 white men and one woman this week will begin deciding the fate of the handsome New Yorker charged with coolly shooting down two North Carolina highway patrolmen.

The state is attempting to send Wetzel to the gas chamber for the slaying of Patrolman J. T. Brown Nov. 5. Wetzel already has been sentenced to life for the murder of Patrolman Walter L. Beece, the first policeman killed in the separate shootings.

Bakersfield, Calif., police this morning testified concerning conversation with Wetzel after his arrest there Nov. 13.

The testimony bogged down in detailed questioning about fingerprints found on a 1957 Ford which Wetzel allegedly abandoned in Bakersfield.

Scheduled to testify this afternoon were FBI agents who will attempt to link Wetzel to a 1957 Oldsmobile abandoned in Bakersfield.

The agent's testimony was postponed last week as Solicitor Jack Hooks called witnesses out of order to allow those from scattered cities to return home for the week end.

LONG CHAIN

The state hopes to convict Wetzel with a chain of evidence stretching from New York to California via the Elber-Sanford scenes of the slayings. In four days of state's evidence Hooks has painstakingly retraced Wetzel's alleged route.

Testimony ended Saturday with a Bakersfield, Calif., policeman who said Wetzel told him "If he had to go back here (Alta, N.Y. State Prison) he would have to go in, three or four men."

The witness, detective Henry Lottman, remained unshaken as defense attorney John Page Jr. hammered cross examination questions at him for nearly 30 minutes.

Today's testimony pounded on evidence uncovered in Chattanooga, Tenn., where a 1957 black Oldsmobile was abandoned Nov. 4. Earlier state's testimony stressed that Brown's killer drove a similar car.

The state also introduced testimony concerning a Chrysler stolen less than two blocks from a Chattanooga 15-year-old, Doris Smith, said she saw "a white man leave the Oldsmobile."

Thus the state entered a phase of Wetzel's alleged flight not covered in the earlier trial. Chattanooga Police Lt. G. G. Jennings said the state claims Wetzel drove near the Olds then backed off and sped away.

A stolen Chrysler was found wrecked north of Chattanooga the same night. The state was slated to link Wetzel to the car through a conversation with Bakersfield FBI agent Joseph McKinstry. McKinstry, who testified earlier in the trial, was to be recalled.

Indonesian Troops Storm Rebel Lines

SINGAPORE (P)—Indonesian Central government troops have stormed ashore today at Bengkulu on the east coast of Central Sumatra, revolutionary sources said.

The sources said rebel troops of Lt. Col. Achmad Hussein clashed with the invaders but retreated into surrounding jungle to begin guerrilla activities.

The landings were made about 100 miles west of Singapore at the mouth of the crocodile-infested Siak River leading to the American-owned Caltex oil field headquarters at Pekanbaru.

Informants said 4,000 more troops were crammed aboard transports waiting to land at Dumai, one of the two Caltex oil terminals evacuated on the advice of the Jakarta government.

OIL CUT OFF

Caltex announced it is ceasing production in the oil fields of rebellious Central Sumatra and suspending operations.

A spokesman for the company in Singapore said the action was taken on the advice of the Indonesian Central government in Jakarta.

$4 Billion Earmarked For Major Projects

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) testified today for an accelerated federal public works program and declared, "What we want is action—not credit, not an issue."

"We want to get rid of the issue by putting people on jobs," the Senate Democratic leader said.

Johnson was the first witness at a public works committee hearing on a resolution he and 65 other senators are sponsoring to put the speed on record as favoring a Senate up of civil public works projects.

The Texas said the resolution covered about four billion dollars already appropriated for such projects as dams, rivers and harbor improvements, and public buildings.

Johnson noted that President Eisenhower on Saturday "announced some steps to pump new vigor into the economy."

"I believe most of us would endorse those steps—insofar as they have been explained up to this point," he said. "In return, I believe we should let him know that we endorse the full, practicable use of his resources to battle unemployment."

MORE SPENDING

Eisenhower announced that some already-appropriated public works funds would be released. He also called for extension of the period during which workers are eligible for unemployment insurance benefits.

James C. Hascy, White House press secretary, said a special message dealing with extension of unemployment insurance benefits probably will go to Congress about midweek.

Hascy replied "I just don't know" when asked whether that program will require action by state legislatures, in addition to approval by Congress.

He added that new rates have been fixed for sending other phases of the Eisenhower anti-recession program to Congress.

Johnson and the other senators have introduced a second resolution to be considered by the Armed Services committee. It covers about three billion dollars already voted for military construction projects.

MUCH URGENCY

The Democratic leader told the public works committee that "the question before us involves a high degree of urgency."

"There are men and women out of work—at least five million of them. Their sources of income are vanishing rapidly," he said.

Sen. Martin (R-Pa.), senior Republican on the committee, said if Johnson would favor deficit financing or higher taxes to finance pump-prime efforts.

The Texas answered that he believes that was a matter primarily to be studied by the finance committee on which Martin also is the ranking GOP member.

But, Johnson added, "if it is so."
