Looters Draw Prison Terms

YORK, S. C. (P)—Two Gastonia brothers have drawn prison terms for looting the Catawba River summer home of W. H. Bell Jr., Charlotte department store executive.

Mrs. Bell had estimated the value of stolen furnishings at $75,000, including $4,000 in 100 bills in a piggy bank.

Judge Steve C. Griffith of General Sessions Court sentenced Carl Edward Riddle, 35, to 18 months and Jim Riddle, 38, to 24 months in prison yesterday.

The three pleaded guilty to the housebreaking charge. Solicitor George Coleman said Wood, a brother-in-law of the Riddles, had denied taking many of the items listed as missing and insisted they had never seen the money in the piggy bank.

The three men admitted taking one household furnishing, but denied taking many of the items listed as missing and insisted they had never seen the money in the piggy bank.

Defense attorneys told the court Carl Riddle had been hired for $5 and a pint of whiskey by a Gastonia real estate man to go to the Bell home and transport some of the furnishings in a truck. He said that when the Riddles and Wood came to the house, the agent did not appear.

Lawyers said the three began to drink and were drunk when they robbed the home.

Man Sought

Police Push Hunt For Girl's Killer

HENDERSONVILLE—City, county and state police plan to search all the summer homes of the Mountain Home community in hopes of capturing a man they believe killed 18-year-old Lulu Bell Robinson.

The Flat Rock High School senior was found choked to death yesterday in the rooming house where she was staying.

Coroner Dr. Richard Porter placed the time of death at about 5 a.m.

City Police Chief William V. Powers has signed a murder warrant against James Stanley Allison Jr., 35, a service station attendant who only recently returned to his native Hendersonville after living several years in California.

City Police Capt. Debois L. Edmundson told The News today "Late of summer homes are taking out there Mountain Home community and we believe he may be hiding out in one of them."

A taxicab driver told Chief Powers he took Allison to the Mountain Home community, about four to five miles north of here, at about 7 a.m. yesterday. The taxi driver told Chief Powers Allison was bleeding when he picked him up.

Friends of Miss Robinson, who described her as a "nice" girl, doubted that she knew Allison. She was a part-time waitress in a dairy bar here and had been residing in the rooming house for the past few months.

Allison moved into his room, which was next to Miss Robinson's, Sunday night. A note was found in Allison's room saying "Don't any of this girl's people feel bad at me. I met her today. That is why I'm here. I told her I wanted to die from the way things have been going and she said she wanted to go with me. She was a sweet girl and I don't what she asked me to do."

Large amounts of blood and a bloody razor were found in the suspect's room, and police theorized he may have slashed his wrists. The taxi driver told police Allison was bleeding when he picked him up.

Prior to discovery of the murder, Chief Powers had issued a first degree burglary warrant against Allison. He said Mrs. Nina Miller reported that Allison broke into her home at about 3 a.m. Monday.

He scuffled with a resident of the home, was recognized, and fled. Powers said that Allison had at one time roomed at the Miller home.

Miss Robinson had left a call to be awakened at 7 a.m. when she didn't answer, other residents of the rooming house discovered her body. Coroner Porter said finger marks indicated she was strangled by hand.

Sen. Martin Reports No Decision Reached

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) reported today that a White House conference canvassed—without a decision—the possibility of cutting taxes.

The talk ranged over withholding taxes on individuals, excises, and levies in which a cut might spur venture capital into business.

Martin was the first to emerge from the regular Tuesday meeting President Eisenhower holds with GOP congressional leaders in a session which Martin said concentrated for half an hour or more on the tax question.

The conference, as on last Tuesday, was expanded to take in members of key congressional committees, as well as Secretary of the Treasury Anderson.

Martin told reporters the White House conference looked over the possibility of tax reductions which would have an immediate impact in stimulating purchasing power as well as those which would take hold a year or more. He said there were "no conclusions."

Asked whether a combination of both approaches might be resorted to eventually, if business fails to pick up sufficiently, Martin replied, "That might be."

Secretary Anderson, he said, raised the withholding tax question during a general discussion of the various kinds of cuts which might be attempted if the administration finally decides to go in for this type of anticession program.

Martin said Anderson didn't leave the one or two alternatives in particular. Neither, Martin said, was there any indication when a decision might come.

ONE PLAN
Congressional Democrats are drafting a proposal for $40 lump-sum tax cut to boost the economy.

As outlined by a responsible official, who did not want to be quoted by name, the proposal would involve a $40 rebate on tax withholdings in the pay periods immediately after passage of any such bill. This amount of tax liability would be wiped out.

If $40 or more were withheld in a pay period, the individual would get that amount in a lump sum. If less than $40 were withheld, the rebate would be reduced to the amount as fast as it could be made.

The official who disclosed that the bill was aimed primarily at putting into the hands of those who file 48 million tax returns enough money in the sum to encourage immediate expenditures.

Man 'Haunted By Feeling' He Killed Wife, Children

ELLIOT LAKE, Ont. (P)—A 28-year-old woman and her two young daughters were found slashed to death in a trailer a few miles north of the uranium mining center early today. Provincial police found the bodies about 3 a.m. as the result of a report that a man identified as Roland F. Sabourin, 28, had been shot in the back of the head in a rooming house in Elliot Lake. The victims were identified as Mrs. Lucille Sabourin, Lorraine, 7, and Jeanette, 3.

Charles of murder were sworn out against Sabourin. Provincial police headquarters at Toronto said an officer has gone to Detroit to arrange Sabourin's return to Canada.

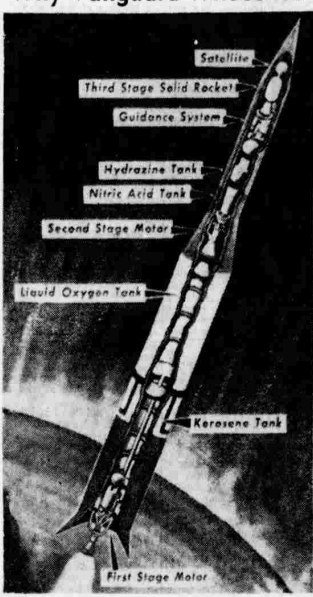

Who'll Succeed Judge Parker On Bench?

By JULIAN SCHEER
News Staff Writer
The death yesterday of Federal Judge John J. Parker has caused immediate speculation on who'll get President Eisenhower's nomination to fill the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals vacancy.

The big question which arises is whether North Carolina will get the judgeship.

The Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals is made up of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and North Carolina. North Carolina and West Virginia are without representation.

Vanguard Record U.S. Will Boost Satellite Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (P)—Three U.S. moons whizzed around the earth today in company with the sole surviving and already doomed Soviet Sputnik satellite.

And the United States continued to press on with programs to launch additional space craft. With Sputnik II given less than a month remaining life, the Soviet Union for the first time since Sputnik I came into being Oct. 4, was at a numerical disadvantage in the international space light competition.

The Navy Vanguard satellite was launched early yesterday into an orbit that pushed new frontiers out into the unknown.

FARTHEST OUT
The announced orbit ranged from 400 miles above the earth to a peak of 2,500 miles, the highest yet attained by a man-made satellite.

The Vanguard orbiter represented not one but two satellites. Its true artificial moon was a 300-pound aluminum sphere only 6.4 inches in diameter and weighing 15 pounds.

Somewhere close behind it in an 88,000-mile-an-hour orbit hundreds of miles out from the earth was the 50-pound third-stage rocket that pushed Vanguard to orbit.

It was 5 feet long and 20 inches wide. The Navy estimated that the sphere would stay in orbit 5 to 10 years. The dead rocket in its

Storm Finder Installed At NC Airport

RALEIGH (P)—A "very powerful eye" to detect and track severe storms in this area has been placed in operation by the U.S. Weather Bureau at the Raleigh-Durham Airport.

Charles B. Carney, Meteorologist in charge of the weather bureau, announced today that installation of a storm-tracking radar set had been completed and the instrument is now in operation.

With the radar set, Carney said the weather bureau hopes that it will be able to "detect more severe types of local storms and to give more accurate forecasts of the approach of these storms."

He said "we certainly hope" that it will prove highly useful in detecting and tracking the severe type of local storm of them all—the tornado—and that it will help in tracking hurricanes.

The radar installation at the Raleigh-Durham Airport is the second the weather bureau has placed in operation in the state. The other is at Hatteras and was installed primarily to track hurricanes.

Carney explained that the radar operates by sending out electromagnetic waves which penetrate fog and darkness and light rainfall. However, the waves are deflected by large drops of precipitation—such as rain or snow or hail. These bounce back to the radar set and show up on the radar scope. The radar has a radius of about 100 miles.

Carney said he expects the radar set to be "of considerable benefit to aviation in this area, for we will be able to tell pilots the position, the extent, direction, height and rate of movement of such things as thunderstorms."
