Plot Fails To Hijack Airplane

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Crewmen of a South Korean Air Force transport overpowered one of their mates who tried to hijack the plane at gunpoint to the Communist north today. The plane's radio man was shot and killed and the pilot and engineer were seriously wounded.

The copilot took over the controls of the C-46 and landed it in South Korea at Pyongyang, 40 miles south of Seoul.

It was the second such incident in two months. On Feb. 16 North Koreans forced the two American pilots of a South Korean civilian airliner to fly into North Korea. Later the Communists released the two Americans and 24 of the 32 others aboard but are still holding the plane and its cargo.

Air Force officials identified the captain who tried to take over the plane today only as Choi. They said he was about 30 years old and a native of North Pyongan Province, north of the Communist Korean capital. Part of his family lives in the north, they added.

There appeared to be some belief that Choi was not necessarily a Communist agent but just wanted to return to his birthplace. A special investigation board left for Pyongyang today.

An Air Force announcement said Choi made his attempt 40 minutes after the plane, with seven South Koreans aboard, took off on a flight from Taegu to Seoul. In the ensuing battle in the sky the crew fought heroically and courageously, the Defense Ministry said.

Sgt. Kim Sang Bok was the radio man who was slain. The wounded men were Capt. Kim Kyo, the pilot, and Sgt. Chon Byong Hon, the engineer. The copilot who made the landing was Lt. Chong Byong Lin. The plane was reported undamaged.

Son Takes Mother's Opinion

NEW YORK (AP)—A young married clerk got a bad case of itchy fingers. He walked out of his office with envelopes containing $4,347, topped a plane to Chicago yesterday, and then thought better of the whole thing.

He phoned home here and asked, "What should I do, mama?" "Come back and give yourself a good spanking," his mother said, and that's what he did, police, who gave this account:

Richard Thiele, 21, of Queens, son to be married, received the money from the crew of an armored truck to distribute to 36 employees of the Extra Film Co., Astoria.

Notified that Thiele was coming home, detectives waited for him at La Guardia Field last night.

Having had some money in his own when he left out, he handed over all of the payroll money except $32. He was released on a grand larceny charge.

Meanwhile, shows are being handled by more than 300 super-spy and executive personnel who received a production training course last fall.

CBS has stayed on the air with most of its TV programs. Tonight two live shows—Climax and Playhouse 90—will be replaced by film dramas.

Airman Is Victim

Clogged Exhaust Pipe Causes Death

By JOHN KILGO
News Staff Writer
A 33-year-old Air Force sergeant died from carbon monoxide poisoning early today when the exhaust pipe of his car became jammed in a muddy ditch.

County police identified the man as Master Sgt. John Thomas Leach of Arlington, Va. He was in Charlotte visiting his sister, Mrs. Lydia Widner, of the Sunset Trailer Park on Blank Rd.

Police found the body in the front seat of a 1957 Oldsmobile parked in the 200 block of Center St. just off Highway 16W.

The car was in a ditch, officers said, and the exhaust pipe was jammed into the muddy bank. The motor was still running when police arrived at 4:15 a.m.

The Charlotte Life Saving Crew administered oxygen to the sergeant but it was too late to revive him.

County Coroner W. M. Summerville viewed the body and said death was caused by carbon monoxide poisoning. The body was moved to the McEwen Funeral Home.

Police gave this account of the freak accident: Sgt. Leach had apparently taken the wrong road and was in the process of turning around when his car slipped into the ditch, causing his exhaust pipe to jam into the earth.

Mrs. H. C. Jones of 225 Center St. told officers she saw car lights outside her window around 2 a.m. and thought someone might be coming up to her house.

After several minutes, police quoted Mrs. Jones saying, she went back to bed. At 4 a.m. she looked out the window again and saw the car still parked in front of her house.

She called police and they found Sgt. Leach crumpled over in the front seat of his car. Dr. Summerville said he appeared to have been dead since about 2 a.m.

Travelers Tell About Violence

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Travelers who saw violence erupt in yesterday's abortive rebel coup told of rough treatment and close calls.

Two U. S. newsmen reported they were beaten by government police and soldiers.

Neal Wilkinson, 37, a correspondent for the New York Daily News, said in Miami he was beaten on the arms and back by a national policeman with a "thing like a carriage whip," as he stood watching the police break up a group of youths who were chanting "Fidel, Fidel" (rebel leader Castro's first name) on the Prado.

Wilkinson said the policeman beat him until he lied into his nearby hotel.

Bernard Brennan, 30, Moodus, Conn., a free-lance writer, said soldiers banged him with a gun butt and destroyed some of his film as he shot pictures of a marching band spraying an alley street where they were trying to flush out rebels.

Mike Mannheim, Greensboro, N.C., who stayed at the Havana Hilton Hotel, said telephone service went off after a series of explosions Wednesday. Mannheim said a policeman was driving pedestrians to cover with a bull whip.

The rebels insisted the 2½-hour outbreak had been launched as a rehearsal for the long-promised all-out attack. But they were shocked and bitter that the public failed to heed their strike call, broadcast from briefly captured radio and television stations.

In the government cleanup heavily armed nationalist suspected to kill any leftist suspect or to carry weapons. Two men were hauled from an automobile carrying 19 gasoline bombs and slain. Another was shot down when he lurched for gasoline bomb at a police car.

By the time Havana quieted down around midnight, at least 29 rebels had been counted dead in the capital. Two policemen were killed in the suburbs and a number wounded.

The outbreak was the first fighting in Havana since Castro called for a general "preventive" war against Batista beginning last Saturday.

Sabotage By Rebels Continues

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Clashes between rebels and troops spread today in the wake of yesterday's abortive uprising. The death toll passed 40 as bombings, killings and sabotage continued in all six Cuban provinces despite an Army claim that everything was quiet.

Rebels burned trucks and buses in three towns of Havana Province and exchanged gunfire with soldiers. The Army said several were killed on both sides. One Cuban province despite an Army claim that everything was quiet.

Rebels shot up three buses in western Havana, wounding a bus driver. The bombs exploded in southern Havana, damaging private properties.

CHURCH NO REFUGE
Troops captured a band of rebels who took refuge in a church after sabotaging water and electric power plants at Mariel, near Havana. A worker was killed in Mariel while trying to throw a bomb.

Among nearly 30 rebels known killed in Havana was Marcelo Salado, called a Communist terrorist. Police seized arms in raids on rebel hideouts in Havana.

Troops clashed with rebels who wrecked communications near Santa Clara, in Las Villas Province. The Army said a number were killed on both sides. One band of rebels was barricaded in a church.

Rebels bombed a bus station in Pinar Del Rio. Police threw munitions from Army barracks to disperse the armed forces to some with any rebel attack.

ARMS SEIZED
Authorities seized a big arms cache in the town of Artemisa, including machine guns, grenades and fire bombs.

Police were shooting on sight as they pressed a roundup of rebels in Havana and at Matanzas, 63 miles to the east. These were the only two cities to respond to the rebel call for an armed uprising and general strike yesterday.

Rebel leader Fidel Castro's utterances said they would try again to overthrow Batista, "probably very soon." Instead of the 30,000 armed revolutionists the rebel chief had said would rise up, probably less than 20 answered the call.

The rebels insisted the 2½-hour outbreak had been launched as a rehearsal for the long-promised all-out attack. But they were shocked and bitter that the public failed to heed their strike call, broadcast from briefly captured radio and television stations.

CBS Strike Talks Pushed

NEW YORK (AP)—Steps were way today toward resuming negotiations in a strike of Columbia Broadcasting System television and radio technicians in New York and other cities.

The system still was operating in the fourth day of the strike, stemming from a contract dispute.

There are attempts in various quarters to get the parties together, said a spokesman for striking Local 122, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Harold A. Felix, city labor commissioner, sent telegrams to CBS and Local 122 of the union offering his services as mediator.

CBS yesterday tentatively turned down a city mediator's offer to help end the strike. The network noted the walkout was national rather than local.

Meanwhile, shows are being handled by more than 300 super-spy and executive personnel who received a production training course last fall.

CBS has stayed on the air with most of its TV programs. Tonight two live shows—Climax and Playhouse 90—will be replaced by film dramas.

The CBS radio network also is involved in the strike but its programs have not been affected.

Ogan will play in the box high—long as he is able. Harber hopes the student will last 72 hours.

Ogan will wear gloves, shuttered goggles and ear plugs. A sensitive microphone will pick up any noises in the pitch dark chamber while a polygraph and electroencephalograph measure the effect of a minimum of sensory stimulation.

Harber's first human guinea pig, a volunteer, is Richard Ogan, 25, Tulsa.

Ogan isn't worried. "I hope to get a lot of sleep," he said.

Harber says that in similar experiments, subjects were unable to remain out of touch for more than a few hours. Some persons experienced hallucinations.
