Clad in the fragile green finery of shrub and tree, the churchyard surely was never more beautiful. These surroundings of pastoral simplicity will, we hope, provide spiritual refreshment for the busy commissioners who have come here to wrestle with the complexities of the church's business.

The business includes the church's attitude toward segregation and discussion of whether if should reaffirm or reverse its stand supporting the Supreme Court's deservergation ruling. The relationship of the races perhaps is not a pleasant topic for any convention.

Especially in the South, it is a matter that deeply troubles individuals singly

RADIO PARTIES

RADIO PARTIES

WHEN radio was still a novely there were usually only about three or four sets in the average small rown. The local rich man who was first in everything else that Washington wasn't, had a set. As part of his program of public benevolence, he infrequently had a radio "party" Certain neighbors were invited in to hear Startion KDKA, in pitisburgh However, these invites were so straid they were a paroxysm of coughing they came down much at truty the magic stuff from Pittaburgh was unintelligible.

Another man had a set, a man who was thought to be half-screwball and half-genits. He was nessure type who half-genits. He was nessure type who half-genits. But there was a radio at the drug store, and people collected after supper.
The tables were filled and many lounged over the counters. Somebody always said the whole thing was a fake. This
