Graham was subpoenaed last night as he prayed before persons at the Cow Palace. He was served on the stage by Deputy Sheriff William Louis of San Mateo County.

Assemblyman Louis Francis (R-San Mateo) said Graham was called as an expert on the danger of pornography and its impact on youth. Graham said later that he had never read or seen any pornographic literature in his life.

Francis said today the pastor would be excused if he did not want to appear and was unable to work it into his schedule.

Buddies Watch With Concern As Seal Is Force-Fed By Attendants

—TRANQUILIZERS LITTLE HELP—

'Satellite Seal' Still Going

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Aquarium continued to feed the runaway today from a travel-minded young harp seal.

"Still going," The Coney Island aquarium said. Loaded with tranquilizers, the young seal, however, did get a little nap of about three and a half hours yesterday. He also took a bit more nourishment than previously. But the rest and food apparently did little more than renew his urge to get going again.

Since Sunday the two-month-old seal, named Number One, has been circling the Aquarium's 150-foot tank like a junior satellite. Officials believe it's an urge of nature compelling him to return to the place where he was born off the eastern coast of Canada. He has lost 5 of his 37 pounds.

PATTERN BROKEN

The officials said there was a hopeful break in his circling pattern and that the seal has begun to behave more like seals usually do. But they said it was too early to tell whether he might get back on his merry-go-round kick full time again.

Number One won't rest or eat so long as he's in the tank, and the aquarium is fearful he'll swim himself to death. So attendants have been taking him out of the water from time to time to force food, vitamins and tranquilizers down his throat.

The aquarium figured he might not give up his travel plans for weeks — the time it would take him to swim from here to Canada. The aquarium acquired six of the young harp seals, which derive their names from the fact they develop a harp pattern on their bodies at maturity. They are said to be the only ones in captivity.

So far the five others are content to take it easy.

Heart Attack Fatal To Judge Rousseau

WILKESBORO (AP) — Superior Court Judge Julius A. Rousseau of North Wilkesboro suffered a heart attack and died in a hospital here early today.

The veteran jurist was stricken at his home in North Wilkesboro at 3 a.m. and rushed to the Wilkes County hospital where he died at 5 a.m.

Rousseau had been resident jurist of the 23rd Judicial District since 1934. He recently announced he would be a candidate for reelection. Robert M. Gambrell, Jr., North Wilkesboro attorney, also had announced the first time in 20 years Judge Rousseau had received opposition in a Democratic primary.

The 63-year-old judge's most famous recent case was the trial of Frank Edward Wetzel. Wetzel was convicted of the first degree murder of State Highway Patrolman W. L. Reece. He was given life imprisonment on the jury's recommendation of mercy.

Judge Rousseau had not yet moved into his new home. The jurist attended schools here and was a graduate of Belmont Abbey and University of North Carolina Law School. He was licensed to practice in 1913 and opened an office in North Wilkesboro that year. He was elected mayor of North Wilkesboro and served from 1920 to 1924, when he was first elected judge.

SC Air Base Cancels Show

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — An Armed Forces Day open house at the nearby Donaldson Air Force Base was canceled suddenly this morning.

The base public information office said only that the observance was canceled due to "a military exercise directed by a higher headquarters."

Donaldson is a Military Air Transport Service (MATC) base. From Donaldson, C-124 Globemaster planes can fly almost anywhere in the world, transporting men and heavy equipment.

Newsmen and radio and television personnel who had arrived at the base to cover the Armed Forces Day celebration were ordered from the base and all planned activities were canceled.

"Thanks a lot," exclaimed his pretty wife, Christine, with much sarcasm. Flown here by the Air Force from their Novato, Calif., home for the announcement of his death, she was thinking in doubt of their 1954 wedding day in Arlington, Va.

Pflimlin's Power In Big Test

By GODFREY ANDERSON

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Charles De Gaulle's top legislative lieutenant slipped into the Gaullist stronghold of Algeria today as Premier Pierre Pflimlin struggled against rightists at home.

The arrival of Jacques Soustelle, who had been held incommunicado in Paris after trying to fly to Algeria earlier this week, was announced by radio Alger. His arrival was expected to put new pressure on Pflimlin to reach a settlement with De Gaulle's supporters.

De Gaulle himself announced he would come to Paris Monday from his country home and hold a news conference. He is expected to clarify his statement of Thursday offering to assume full power in France, an offer that deepened the grave political crisis.

Embattled Premier Pflimlin, facing the grim prospect of rising by rightists tonight, sent a special envoy to De Gaulle's home village of Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises, 150 miles from Paris.

The envoy, Marcel Diebold, talked with De Gaulle's military aide but did not see the general himself. Presumably, Pflimlin was seeking clarification of De Gaulle's role in the crisis prior to Monday's news conference.

French air force Mystere jet planes repeatedly flew over the village as Diebold talked with the aide for an hour.

The 19 Social Republic deputies in the National Assembly issued a statement denying De Gaulle would take any step that might mean France was choosing between Pflimlin and De Gaulle.

They said "Republican legality can never be put in peril by the one who, himself, re-established it in 1944."

Pflimlin last night in exercising the emergency powers granted him for three months by an overwhelming vote in Parliament last night. Special agents were sent throughout France. Two Air Force generals were reported among those held.

Ignoring this show of strength, the National Association of War Veterans called for demonstrations tonight and tomorrow at the home of the unknown soldier at the Arc de Triomphe.

BIG FIGHT

If the demonstration is held in defiance of a ban on all public gatherings it will bring a head-on clash with the 35,000 police troops and 10,000 National Guard troops into an armed camp. The association called on all those who served with the French forces of the Gaullist World War II to rally at the tomb.

Motorists driving into Paris found the words "De Gaulle is power" in six-foot letters and the Cross of Lorraine. De Gaulle's wartime symbol, painted across main highways.

A committee of public safety was organized in Paris, similar to the one formed by French civilians and generals in Algeria in support of De Gaulle. The Paris committee issued a communique asserting other committees will be organized throughout France. It claimed to have contact with the Algerian committee.

"Make that the second most exciting day in Paris," cried as they both laughed.

Mrs. Irwin described him "the end of the war. Antiaircraft fire crippled his P-47's engine. He bled in and was captured."

"They held me in a hospital prisoner-of-war camp there for seven days although I wasn't injured," he recalled.

"Then I went over the fence I saw a bike leaning against a barn about 15 miles from the American lines."

He got a previous DFC for destroying a trainload of ammunition in the Ruhr Valley with machine-gun fire in 1944. He flew 84 P-47 combat missions, destroying 15 enemy planes on the ground.

Leaving the Air Force in '45, he flew charter flights and instructed two years for a Wendell T. Two air service. Then he did crop-dusting and instructing at La Grande. One, until the Air Force recalled him in the fall of 1947 in a light commander of the 3rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron, Hamilton AFB, near San Francisco.

De Gaulle Forces Planning Moves

A Final Salute For Unknown Dead At Hawaii

Navy Plane Brings Pacific Dead Home

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A Navy Constellation pauses here briefly to pay for fuel, then continues eastward on a mission culminating in Memorial Day ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery.

It bears the bodies of two U.S. fighting men. One died in World War II in the Pacific, the other in the Korean War. The plane left from Hickam Air Force Base, Honolulu after a short, solemn ceremony yesterday.

The Pacific war victim was selected there from among six who fell in conflict.

FOUR AT FIRST

Four bodies had been flown to Honolulu from the Philippines. Two were taken from the National Cemetery of the Pacific at Honolulu, where Japanese bombs plunged the United States into World War II.

Similar ceremonies Thursday had selected the Unknown Soldier from the Korean War. His remains will be entombed at Arlington on Memorial Day.

The Pacific war soldier's body will be flown to Guantanamo, Cuba, where it will be placed aboard the U.S. cruiser Canberra along with a World War II victim from the European Theater. His remains were selected Monday at Hickam Air Force Base. One will be chosen for burial and the permanent caretaker watch of Pacific sentries at Arlington. The other will be buried at sea with full military honors.

The ceremony yesterday at Hickam AFB, where headquarters still bear scars of Japanese bombing, was the Pearl Harbor Naval Base nearby, was conducted under cloudy skies.

An Air Force bombier, Col. Glenn T. Engstrom, made the selection from the six coffins. He is attached to a jet fighter-bomber division on Okinawa.

Unification Bill Faces Tailoring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense McNamara said today he expects efforts will be made in the House and Senate to tailor a pending defense reorganization plan more closely to administration wishes.

The House Armed Services Committee approved 230 yesterday a defense reshuffling plan based on President Eisenhower's recommendations. The compromise, however, contains two major provisions which the administration does not like.

McNamara, talking with reporters, said he thinks some members of the Senate will "want a bill of a lot stronger bill" than that drafted by the House committee. There has been no Senate action on the Eisenhower plan.

McNamara said the first effort to modify House committee language probably will come on the House floor during debate on the measure.

MAY SIGN

Congressional sources pictured Eisenhower as willing to sign the bill even if Congress makes no changes in the present version. One of these sources, who asked not to be quoted by name, told a reporter: "Without any doubt he will not veto the bill if it is passed as it now stands."

McNamara did not touch on the possibility of a veto.

The House committee's bill would give Eisenhower substantially what he asked for in arrangements for streamlined command of unified forces. But the committee turned down several requests for administrative changes.

There had been criticism that the administration proposals might infringe on the prerogatives of the individual services or of Congress.

Eisenhower referred to two of these in a letter to Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) and said: "I hope this language will be suitably adjusted on the House floor."

McNamara said last night the committee bill "seems to have taken into account most of the President's major objectives." But he added he thinks some of the language will "improve efficient execution."

Republicans joined Democrats on the committee in unanimously approving the bill, which now goes to the House for action, perhaps within two weeks.

NC Boy Given 30-Year Term

WYNDSOR (AP) — J. J. Rivers Hackett, star high school athlete and student leader, was sentenced yesterday to 30 years in prison mainly in the Feb. 12 slaying.

The handsome, 17-year-old Hackett, football and basketball player at Abbeville High School, received the maximum penalty for second degree murder in the death of 16-year-old Delores Renee Hackett.

Hackett received the sentence with no show of emotion, but later his mother broke down and sobbed uncontrollably.

The youth, son of a state highway patrol sergeant, pleaded guilty Thursday of second degree murder. When arraigned Monday, Hackett had pleaded temporary insanity in the Feb. 12 slaying.

Judge Chester Norris said if Hackett "did not have the capacity to know right from wrong when he destroyed this life, for his own sake and the sake of society he should be put away. It is his duty to know right from wrong, this is his duty. He is the worst case of murder I have ever known."

Two psychiatrists testified the youth suffered from schizophrenia — a split personality.

The girl's body was found in a lonely area between Wyndisor and Abbeville an hour after she had been excused from class at Abbeville High School. Hackett had picked up the girl in his father's car.
