Braniff Suspension At Lincoln Big Surprise

The suspension of trunk line service to Lincoln by Braniff Airways came as a surprise to state officials Monday.

The suspension action, the result of an order from the Civil Aeronautics Board, was unexpected by state officials who had urged the retention of Braniff at Lincoln.

Frontier Airlines which headquarters in Denver, will replace Braniff at the Lincoln terminal. It will be one of the 2 lines to serve Nebraska with commuter-type air service.

The Braniff trunk line ran between Kansas City through St. Joseph, Lincoln and Omaha.

To Kansas City The Frontier service will run to Kansas City from Omaha, Lincoln, Beatrice, and St. Joseph.

State Aeronautics Dept. Director Rolland Harr said the state would undoubtedly ask the CAB for a reconsideration of its order on Braniff.

Harr added that the changes in service would be effective 60 days after the CAB final order, but he could not give a date because of a possible reconsideration of the Braniff issue.

John Mitchell, manager for both United and Braniff Airways in Lincoln, said that he had received no official notification of the changes. It had been United's intention, he said, to pull out of Scottsbluff, North Platte and Grand Island when the other airlines took over. Omaha and Lincoln would then be the only United terminals in the state, Mitchell said.

Mitchell received a call from an official spokesman for United Airlines general headquarters office in Chicago.

PATIO TEMPS TO CONTINUE OVER STATE

Continued warm weather is the outlook for Nebraska Tuesday, with temperatures rising into the 75-85 degree range.

Widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers are on tap for the west. The Weather Bureau said, Lincoln reported the state high of 81 Monday.

A few scattered showers splashed the North Platte vicinity as partly cloudy skies prevailed over most of the state.

Killer 'Can't Act Or Feel Like Normal Person'

Starkweather Says He'd Like To Bomb Psychologist

By Del Harding

Two defense medical witnesses testified Monday that murder defendant Charles Starkweather is unable to think, act or feel like a normal person, especially when he is under stress.

Dr. John J. O'Hearne of Kansas City, Mo., said that the 19-year-old redhead does not appreciate the value of any human life, even his own.

Asked by Co. Atty Elmer Scheele if Starkweather realized during an Apr. 9 interview with the psychiatrist at the State Penitentiary that he (Starkweather) would soon be on trial for his life, Dr. O'Hearne said Starkweather not only recognized it "but laughed about it."

Dr. O'Hearne said Starkweather is much more worried about being found insane than he is in going to the electric chair for the shooting of Robert Jensen of Benet Jan. 27. He has a severe lack of realization of the consequences of an act of violence, Dr. O'Hearne said.

Dr. John F. Steinman, Lincoln psychiatrist, will be first on the stand Tuesday morning as the trial enters its 12th day in Lancaster District Court before Judge Harry A. Spencer. He will be the 28th defense witness.

Asked About Testimony Dr. O'Hearne said that during the Monday noon recess he asked Starkweather what he thought about the testimony of Dr. Nathan Greenbaum, his former boss (John Hedge of 801 Eastridge, who appearing as a defense witness termed Starkweather his "dumbest" employee) and his opinion that he "goes to pieces" under stress.

Dr. O'Hearne said Starkweather declared that "if I had a grenade (bomb) I'd kill Greenbaum with it."

"What about the other people in the courtroom?" Dr. O'Hearne said he asked him. "To hell with them," the redhead reportedly replied.

Dr. O'Hearne said Starkweather also wants to shoot his former boss (John Hedge of 801 Eastridge, who appearing as a defense witness termed Starkweather his "dumbest" employee) and his opinion that he "goes to pieces" under stress.

Dr. O'Hearne said he believes Starkweather has a "disordered and a defective mind," and that he "goes to pieces" under stress.

Soviet Tells U.S. Diplomat To Stay Out

Washington (AP) — The State Department disclosed Russia's ouster of a young American diplomat.

He said his offense seemed to be that he was friendly toward fellow students at Moscow University.

The department appeared to be getting ready to eject a Soviet diplomat in return.

Declared unwelcome in Moscow was John A. Baker Jr., 26-year-old second secretary of the U.S. Embassy.

A Soviet diplomat of approximately equal status is expected to get his walking papers in Washington.

Baker, whose home is Westport, Conn., is vacationing in London with his wife, the former Sally Bragg of Cambridge, Mass., and their 18-month-old child.

His offense, the Soviet Foreign Ministry said, was that he "systematically violated the norms of behavior for diplomatic representatives."

The department said U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson protested at Moscow that this was not true. It said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko rejected the protest and refused to spell out what Baker was accused of doing wrong.

Yugoslav Prince Visits Here

Prince Alexander of Yugoslavia, (left) in exile from his country since 1941, was a visitor in Lincoln briefly Monday en route from a week's vacation in Colorado as the guest of Horace Watkins (second from left) to his home at Versailles, France. In Lincoln as the guest of Dr. Robert York, (3rd from left) Prince Alexander termed Nebraska's Capitol "one of the most beautiful buildings in the world," and after sampling some Nebraska beef, said he found it the "best in the world."

His views on the culinary achievements of our state were concurred in by Leon Rudd of Paris (right), an owner of the famed Lido Club of Paris and who also owns several "snack bars" in France. (Star Photo.)

Yugoslav Prince Alexander 'Impressed' With Midwest

By Betty Person

A suave, young prince, exiled from his country since advent of the Communist regime of Tito in 1941, visited Lincoln briefly Monday stating that he was "very much impressed" with the entire Midwest, and particularly impressed with the beauty of Nebraska's capital.

Prince Alexander of Yugoslavia not only was taken by the grandeur of the State Capitol which he toured, but noted as well that the building was "warm" which he found unusual for such a large masonry structure.

The 33-year-old prince said similar buildings in Europe are so cold they are practically uninhabitable during the fall and winter months.

An enthusiast of "airplanes and water skiing," Prince Alexander stopped here on a pleasure tour to "start some real good meat," and after sampling some of Nebraska's famous corn-fed beef, he termed it "the best in the world."

Prince Alexander had spent the past week at Loveland, Colo., as the guest of former Nebraska Horace Watkins, an independent oil dealer whom he met on one of Watkins' frequent trips to Europe.

NAACP Blasts Rep. Powell For 'Preaching Hate'

New York (AP) — The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People Monday denounced Rep. Roy Wilkins, secretary of the NAACP from Powell's fight with Tammany Hall, the Manhattan Democratic party organization.

The Harlem legislator and minister is under indictment for alleged income tax evasion and has been dunned by Tammany Hall. He suggested that Tammany leader Carmine DeSapio and Jack, who supports DeSapio, "better not walk up and down Harlem streets too much."

The NAACP accused Powell of having tried to drag its name into his personal political feud with Tammany Hall.

Webb Sued

Hollywood (INS) — A C. S. G. Webb, the police Sgt. Joe Friday of the "Dragnet" television series, was sued for $100,000 by a studio painter over an accident.

Dictator Role Over France Renounced

Paris (AP) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle declared Monday he is again at the disposal of France to bring order out of chaos. He renounced any role of dictator, but said he would require extraordinary powers if he took the helm of government.

The towering giant World War II hero spoke out at a crowded Paris news conference. Then he returned to his village home to await his country's decision.

His statement brought a slight easing of tension in France. Some thought it appeared de Gaulle might come to power through constitutional means in the crisis arising from the Algerian rebellion.

Allied officials in London suggested he had lowered his price to boost his prospects for assuming leadership.

Civilian Agency Okayed

Washington (AP) — The House Space Committee Monday unanimously approved a bill to set up a strong civilian agency to direct America's non-military space ventures.

The committee, headed by House Democratic leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, said:

"The task of a space agency, and the major task of the nation behind it, is to initiate and follow the boldest and most sustained large scale effort in the history of man's exploration."

The new bill closely follows recommendations of President Eisenhower for an agency to help overtake Russia in the space race.

Stronger In some respects it would make the civilian unit stronger, as compared with the military space effort, than the administration first requested last month.

A copy of the document was immediately sent to Eisenhower's science adviser, Dr. James R. Killian. This was an unusual gesture of courtesy between a congressional committee and the White House.

McCormack called the measure vital to the nation and held out prospects for House passage before the end of this month. That would send it to the Senate space committee which is considering a similar bill.

Earlier Monday the committee staff issued a report calling for broad civilian control over space development.
