Two Boys Slashed

NEW YORK (AP)—Two white boys were slashed slightly on their faces by one of four Negro youths today as they stood outside their vocational high school on the lower East Side. There was no apparent reason for the attack.

Netherlands Protest

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Netherlands protested today against reported U. S. arms deliveries to Indonesia. The Netherlands Ambassador, Dr. J. H. Van Roijen, spent more than an hour with Secretary of State Dulles and told reporters afterward that he "made representations in connection with press reports about arms deliveries to Indonesia."

Satellite Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today formally proposed economic aid for Russia's European satellites with the argument this is the area of "maximum vulnerability" in the Soviet complex.

Content Agreed

LONDON (AP)—British and Singapore representatives agreed today on the contents of a constitution granting self-government to the Asian colony, but they differed on whether known Communists should be allowed to seek office there.

Trade Clearance

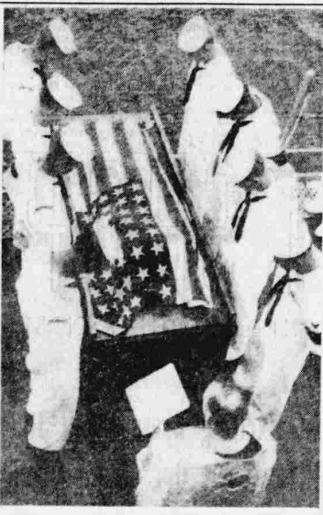

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Rules Committee today cleared for House consideration next week legislation to extend this country's reciprocal trade program.

More Questions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Max Black faces more questioning about his finances today from a Senate Rackets Investigating Committee he says he can "outlast and out-talk." The boss of the New York Butchers Union was polite but noncommittal yesterday in replying to all questions.

Home Building Receives Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration today released an additional 300 million dollars to carry out the government's anti-recession housing program. Without the new allocation, the program would have run out of funds in about two weeks. The Budget Bureau made the money available to the Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA) to buy government-backed home loans. FNMA can commit itself to buy at par mortgages of not more than $13,500 on homes not yet under construction. In an effort to revive home building as a counter to the recession, Congress made available up to one billion dollars for FNMA purchases of FHA and VA mortgages. The administration allocated only 200 million when the law went into effect last month, however, and 220 million of this already has been committed. With this second allocation, the Budget Bureau still has authority from Congress to release an additional 400 million dollars in the future.

Arlington Rest

Unknown Soldiers Back For Burial

WASHINGTON (AP)—A grim, gray warship threaded its way up the Potomac River today, returning the bodies of two unknown fighting men to the country for which they died.

In twin barge caskets, the two will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery Friday to symbolize all the nameless dead of World War II and Korea. A third, brought with them from foreign battlefields, was given a sailor's burial in the sea yesterday after a final selection was made during a rendezvous off the Virginia Capes. He was one of two picked from the anonymous dead of World War II.

Tomorrow morning the two caskets containing the Unknowns will be removed to the rotunda of the Capitol. There they will lie in state, in the place reserved by custom for presidents and other famous men who have died. On Memorial Day, they will be entombed in Arlington close by the Unknown Soldier of the First World War. The three men — one from Korea, one from the European-North American battlefields of World War II, the other from the Pacific theater of that war — came to the seaway yesterday of their homeland yesterday.

The man from Europe was aboard the destroyer Blandy. Aboard the guided missile cruiser Boston were the bodies of the Pacific War II dead and the man who died in Korea. In the rain, on the gray swells of the Atlantic off Cape Henry, Va., all three bodies were transferred to the missile cruiser Canberra.

WASHINGTON (AP)—American singer Jerry Lee Lewis and his 13-year-old bride packed up and headed for home today as British theaters canceled the rock 'n' roll shouter's tour in the face of rising public resentment.

They checked out and told us they were catching the first plane for the United States," said a reception clerk at the singer- pianist's hotel.

"It's all very unfortunate," said Oscar Davis, manager of the three-married Lewis, "and there could be a reaction in the States."

Lewis has a role in the film "High School Confidential" which is about to be released in the United States. The big Rank organization called off 27 appearances in Britain by the 22-year-old singer. Lewis was greeted in London last night with catcalls, boos and shouts of "Go home, you cradle-snatcher." While this was going on in one theater, another teen-age idol, British-born Shirley Bassey, dodged rotten eggs and ripe tomatoes in another theater. Miss Bassey was making her first London appearance since her successful six-month tour of Australia.

Reasons for the resentment against her were less obvious. But, before Shirley showed off for Australia, she made headlines when a jilted boy friend held her prisoner at gunpoint in a London hotel. The spurned suitor is now serving three years in jail.

Rayburn Backs Ike Tax Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said today he is "in full accord" with President Eisenhower's recommendation against substantial tax reductions this year.

Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.), chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, concurred in Rayburn's statement at a joint news conference. Mills said his committee will start consideration tomorrow of a bill to continue corporate and estate tax rates at their present levels.

AUTOMATIC DROP

These rates, under existing law, would drop automatically July 1. Eisenhower has asked Congress to continue them to prevent an estimated three-billion-dollar drop in revenues.

Several members of Congress have said they will seek a reduction in the estate tax on automobiles, whose sales have been lagging.

A bill to extend the present corporate and estate rates is expected to reach the House floor early in June.

Rayburn said he does not favor a general decrease in taxes now. He said both he and Mills are "in accord with the statement (from the President) that there will be no further recommendations for tax reductions this year."

"I have never thought that a tax reduction would be very potent in stopping a recession," Rayburn said. He added he could not comment on whether the recession is tapering off.

UNEASY SITUATION

Republican congressional leaders said the administration's stand against any antirecession tax cut is prompted by the uneasy international situation and the threat of a new Communist Party leadership. William F. Knowland of California gave newsmen that word after he and other GOP chiefs had held their weekly meeting with President Eisenhower.

Eisenhower yesterday said he opposes any general tax reduction now. In doing so he renewed his request for a one-year extension of corporation and estate taxes at current levels. At a news conference, Knowland was asked whether Eisenhower had explained why he had decided against any general tax reduction. The senator replied Eisenhower would have to speak for himself. But Knowland added that the Secretary of the Treasury Department, who attended today's session, had made it clear the administration was concerned about the revenue loss which would result from any cut.

13-YEAR-OLD BRIDE WITH HIM— 'Baby-Snatcher' Heads Home

LONDON (AP)—American singer Jerry Lee Lewis and his 13-year-old bride packed up and headed for home today as British theaters canceled the rock 'n' roll shouter's tour in the face of rising public resentment.

Flier For Rebels

Indonesians Down B26, U. S. Pilot

JAKARTA (AP)—The Indonesian Army said tonight the pilot of a Rebel Indonesian bomber shot down by government forces is an American. The army identified him as Allan Lawrence Pope of Miami, Fla.

The army said Pope was one of two airmen captured after the U. S. built B26 bomber was shot down in flames near Ambon May 18 while attacking Indonesian government ships.

The government said at the time that one of the two was a foreign national, but refused to disclose his nationality.

The chief army spokesman, Lt. Col. Pirngadi, said both captured airmen have been brought to Jakarta and were held at an undisclosed place. He said Pope is 29 years old and has a wife and two children.

He said documents found on him showed that Pope formerly was a U. S. Air Force lieutenant, and was now with the "Civil Air Transport," with headquarters in Taipei, Formosa. "CAT" is the air line founded by Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault of Flying Tiger fame.

He said Pope admitted having been paid $10,000 by the rebel leader Lt. Col. Ventje Sumitral.

The other captured airmen was identified as an Indonesian, Jan Harry Ranting.

U. S. embassy officials here said they knew nothing about Pope and had not been told of his capture.

Lt. Col. Pieters told a news conference for Indonesian newsmen he was in the convoy of ships attacked by the B26 off Ambon when anti-aircraft gunners shot it down in flames. The two men bailed out over a nearby island.

Pope's parachute became entangled in a coconut tree, and he fell to the ground, injuring his right leg, he said.

Peters showed papers and money he said were found on Pope. He also showed newsmen U. S. Air Force parachute equipment which he said Pope used.

The emergency bill, already passed by the House, follows closely Eisenhower administration recommendations in this field.

A drive to strengthen the bill was announced by a group of Northern Democrats led by Senators John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.). They were joined by some Republicans from industrial states.

Douglas and Kennedy prepared amendments that would both broaden the temporary features of the bill and write in higher permanent standards for jobless payments. Such payments now vary in duration and amount under state laws.

The group favoring a stronger bill contended the House-passed measure would provide no help for many jobless workers who have exhausted unemployment payments.

Socialists Refuse To Accept Changes

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle today started forming a new French government. There were growing indications that he would have the assistance of President Rene Coty and Premier Pierre Pflimlin.

His plans ran into difficulty when Socialist members of the National Assembly agreed they would not support de Gaulle under any circumstances. With their 97 votes in the badly split National Assembly, the Socialists made parliament de Gaulle's chances of coming to power constitutionally on an assembly vote.

A source at the President's Elysee Palace, who would not be named, said the resignation of the Pflimlin Cabinet could be expected tonight.

The same source said de Gaulle saw the Premier during his mysterious visit to Paris last night. The two agreed on the formation of a new government, which would be headed by de Gaulle but include at least some of the ministers now in office.

The meeting between de Gaulle and Pflimlin took place at the country estate of Defense Minister and Pierre de Chevigne, a few miles west of Paris.

The two men talked over the grave political situation France is facing as result of the virtual breakdown of the French generals in Algeria and the mounting clamor for the World War II hero to take over.

De Gaulle announced earlier in the day he was moving to take over the government. He urged the nation to remain calm.

De Gaulle promised quick contact with his supporters in Algeria who precipitated France's gravest postwar crisis by seizing control of that vast North African territory in defiance of Paris.

But de Gaulle's arch foes, the Communists, lashed out with a general strike that idled coal fields and factories. Paris suburban train service was halted.

Socialists called for a day of national protest. Non-Communist unions ignored the strike call. Transportation inside Paris was about normal. Subways were running and only 40 of the city's 1,700 buses quit.

ASSEMBLY RECESSES

National Assembly was in recess after a morning's debate on Pflimlin's plan for strengthening the executive when the news of de Gaulle's statement arrived. Lobbying buzzed with the news.

The Elysee source said de Gaulle's statement that he had already started forming a government was issued ahead of time in order to avoid grave incidents which might have broken out with the news of Pflimlin's resignation.

De Gaulle has always insisted he would only take power legally and that when the proper moment came he would speak to the right man. Apparently Pflimlin was that man.

Pflimlin, who had rushed to see Coty immediately after de Gaulle issued his statement, was the President against this alteration.

As the National Assembly reconvened, speaker Andre Le Troquer told the deputies that Pflimlin would shortly come to Parliament.

Faculty's Report influenced Board

RALEIGH (AP)—A study made by a faculty committee played a major role in the decision of the Board of Trustees of the Consolidated University of North Carolina to seek a reduction in the powers of the State Board of Higher Education.

This was revealed today when a report of the faculty group was made public.

The University Trustees yesterday adopted unanimously the report of a special Trustees' Committee which proposed that the State Board be stripped of many of its powers.

The faculty group, headed by Dean Henry Brandis Jr. of the University of North Carolina Law School, expressed the opinion that the board believed that the UNC Board of Trustees "is completely deprived of the legal right to control the education policies of the University."

It asserted the law should be changed to restore this authority to the Trustees.

Discussing what it described as an invasion of the University's autonomy, the faculty group said, "the danger signals have become increasingly apparent. The Board of Higher Education's action in reducing a proposed housing program for North Carolina State College from 500 to 300 units. It did not criticize the board's action in reducing the size of the project, but said the board may have exceeded its authority by fixing priorities on the assigning of housing units to married students."

The faculty committee also told of recommendations received from the Board of Higher Education dealing with salary scales at the University.

It added, "The exact extent to which the board believed that the UNC Board of Trustees has the legal authority (over salary scales) is not clear. But the apparent intention was to assert a position in the matter superior to that of the University and virtually equal to that of the state budget division."
