Civil Rights Study Begins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's new Civil Rights Commission is launching a nationwide study this month in the three major fields of racial discrimination — voting, education and housing.

Commission Staff Director Gordon M. Tiffany said the decision to concentrate on these three fields doesn't close the door in investigations into other civil rights areas. But at this time, he said, the commission has no certified complaints before it except a few which he said were incomplete and were returned for further information.

Tiffany said for this reason the commission deferred a decision whether to investigate reports of police brutality toward Negroes in the Dawson, Ga., area.

The brutality reports were denied by Dawson's Mayor V. L. Singletary and two Dawson Negroes, Tom Moore, an undertaker, and E. E. Sykes, principal of Carver High School.

The commission decided, Tiffany said, "that it will not determine on an investigation, until complaints are filed."

He said the inquiry will cover nearly every state and will be undertaken in conjunction with non-salaried state advisory committees now being set up by the commission.

Two-Year-Old Ricky Knox And "Topsy," Who Were Lost Four Hours

—TO SEARCHERS: 'THANK YOU'—

Lad Found Asleep On Tracks

By JERRY REECE
News Staff Writer

A local housewife and mother of three today said she wanted to "thank everybody who helped" find her lost son last night.

Mrs. G. Richard Knox of 3601 Tipperary Pl. told a News reporter she wanted to express her thanks to members of the Charlotte Police Dept., Fire Dept., Life Saving Squad, and Hickory Grove and Delta volunteer fire departments, plus volunteers from her neighborhood.

All of them were involved in a four-hour search last night for Ricky Knox, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Knox. Ricky was found by members of the Delta volunteer group asleep on the tracks of the Norfolk and Southern Railway Co. about a mile from his home near midnight last night.

His mother said today that Ricky wandered out of the front yard about 7:45 p.m. yesterday while his father unloaded some things from the family car. "We missed him in about five minutes," Mrs. Knox said, "and looked all around before we got worried and called the police."

"I still don't know why a train didn't come along while he was on the tracks," she said. "They are always coming through here at odd hours."

When Ricky was found by the searchers, he and the family dog Topsy (a two-year-old cocker) were both asleep on the tracks.

Mrs. Knox said that the dog didn't come home until early this morning. "All of the excitement must have frightened her," said Ricky.

"It was sure no trouble to get him to go to sleep last night. The fact he slept all the way home after they found him," his mother said.

NOT FRIGHTENED

"He was covered up with cinders when he got home. But he didn't get scared or anything."

The Knoxes have two other children, daughters aged four and seven. They remained at home with some friends of the family, heard bedtime stories and slept while the whole Shamrock section searched for their younger brother.

This morning the little girls were more interested in all the mosquito bites Ricky had gotten than they were in the fact that he had been lost for four hours.

The dog, a constant companion of Ricky's, is almost the same age as the little boy.

Charge By Chief Riles Yancey

City Manager Henry A. Yancey, bitterly angry at charges by Police Chief Frank Littlejohn that he had held up an auditor's report on the clerk of city police court's office so Judge Basil M. Boyd could "start cleaning up his own house," labeled the allegations as "utterly false" today.

Five minutes after reaching his office at City Hall this morning, Mr. Yancey had Chief Littlejohn on the phone to demand an explanation of the charges as published in this morning's Charlotte Observer.

After talking twice on the phone to the Chief, who said he had not at that time read the story, Mr. Yancey issued the following statement to the News:

"I am amazed to note in the morning's Charlotte Observer a statement in which Police Chief Frank N. Littlejohn is quoted as follows:

"The chief said the audit had been ready for several days, but was held up on orders from City Manager Henry A. Yancey 'in order to give Judge Basil M. Boyd a chance to start cleaning up his own house.'"

CALL MADE

"I immediately called the chief by telephone and asked him whether he had been correctly quoted. His reply was that he had not seen The Observer."

"I asked him to read the story and advise me in writing whether or not he is correctly quoted. In the event he is correctly quoted, he is guilty of an utterly false charge and one which may be libelous."

One of the reasons the audit report was delayed was a request from a member of the City Council Monday morning that copies be provided to council members.

Mr. Yancey thought that a good suggestion and requested the additional copies.

The typing of these extra copies delayed the completion and delivery of the report.

Yesterday Mr. Yancey was in Greensboro attending a regional meeting of the North Carolina League of Municipalities. This meeting was scheduled more than a month ago.

SEN. WALLACE

Clerk Of Court Held As Slayer Of SC Senator

(More S. C. election news on Page 4A)

BENNETTSVILLE, S. C. — The slayer of Sen. Paul A. Wallace is being held without bond today in the State Penitentiary in Columbia.

County Clerk of Court Henry A. Rogers, 67, eyewitnesses said, walked into the sheriff's office here about 9:15 last night and fired five bullets into Wallace. The 57-year-old legislator had been listening to election returns that gave him a fourth, four-year term.

Witnesses said Rogers opened fire without a word.

Unofficial returns gave Wallace a 2,864-2817 edge over William A. Rogers, who is also the slaying clerk of court. Rogers (the political opponent) has announced his withdrawal from the race.

Wallace's family, sitting in an automobile outside the courthouse, rushed him to the local hospital where he died in the emergency room ten minutes later.

PERSONAL MATTER

The police said the shooting apparently resulted from "a personal matter" between the two men. Townspeople, who asked not to be identified, said there had been "political differences of opinion."

Wallace was sitting with Sheriff William J. Weatherly, a Democrat, when the shooting occurred. Mayor Josiah Evans, who is also the chairman of the County Democratic Committee.

He was sitting with the senator, Evans said, "listening to the results when... well, I'd rather not discuss it."

"He was shot probably four times. No one else was hit. And the sheriff took the man into custody," Mayor Evans said.

John Grunert, engineer for Radio Station WBCS, was an eyewitness.

Henkel Cashed Checks In Amount Of $26,524

BULLETIN

City Council voted today to hold a special session this afternoon to discuss the auditors' report on the office of the clerk of recorder's court. Councilmen called Police Chief Frank N. Littlejohn to meet with them in this session.

The long-awaited report of a special auditor's investigation of the clerk of court's office was made public today.

The report, signed by George G. Scott & Co., auditors, said, "At the conclusion of our examination, we have determined that there is no record cash unaccounted for in any of the funds of the clerk of recorder's court."

The investigation was set off by reports a member of the police department had been cashing checks on funds of the clerk's office.

The audit report said "... the bank statements revealed that a number of checks had been charged back to the bank accounts of the clerk of recorder's court, and the return slips from the bank supporting these charges for returned checks indicated that they had been drawn by Capt. L. W. Henkel."

The report also said deposits to the office's bank accounts from July 5, 1957, through May 15, 1958, listed checks cashed by Capt. Henkel totaling $26,524.

The report also said, "The examination of deposit slips... also indicates that checks totaling $32,911 drawn on the Bank of Charlotte and covering the same period had been deposited by the clerk of the court. However, no names were mentioned on the items totaling this latter amount."

BOND FUND

"These checks... were deposited in the appearance bond fund and since there is no evidence on the records to show that these checks were issued for appearance bonds posted, it is evident that the checks were cashed through this fund."

A member of the police department for 22 years, Captain Henkel is head of the department's traffic division.

After reading the audit report this morning, he told The News: "I am pleased that the audit report does not show any shortage involving me. The audit report confirms my opinion because all along I was confident there was no shortage on my part."

Capt. Henkel had continued to perform his duties while the investigation was going on.

Lt. Col. W. W. Goodwin, clerk of the city court, however, was relieved of his duties and has been awaiting reassignment to another post.

NO COMMENT

He said today he was still studying the report and had no comment to make.

The report, delivered to Mr. Yancey by H. E. Colvin of the Scott firm, was in two parts. The first was titled "Report on Examination of Records of Clerk of Recorder's Court July 1, 1957 through May 15, 1958."

The second was titled "Information Relating to Certain Warrants, etc., As Shown On The Records of the Clerk of Recorder's Court."

The first part of the report included:

1. The covering letter already published.

Twister Kills 13 In Kansas Town

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP) — A tornado devastated 40 square blocks of a modest new residential area of El Dorado late yesterday.

At least 13 persons were killed and 49 injured.

Lt. Col. W. W. Goodwin of the 37th Infantry Regiment of the National Guard, in charge of the searching operations, said other bodies might be found in the rubble.

The commander of the Kansas Turnpike Highway patrol unit, Maj. Lloyd S. Vincent, said his men were unable to account for the occupants of three automobiles which the twister apparently swept off the tall highway into the northeast edge of El Dorado.

Searchers found a 13th body today, identified as that of Miss Bessie Dine, 48. She was found in the rubble of her home.

CARS MISSING

One of the cars missing from the turnpike apparently was driven by J. Gordon James of Dallas, Tex. Mr. James was in critical condition at the El Dorado hospital. Her husband could not be located after reporting to police that he could not find two teenage daughters.

James said he parked under an overpass on the turnpike in an attempt to find refuge from the wind and heavy hail. James and his family left the car only to see it swept away by the winds.

James said his daughters disappeared at about the same time. He said the other two cars were their mothers and pieces of fenders.

Some houses utterly disappeared leaving only foundations and the concrete floor of garages. Others lost only their roofs. Some brick houses had only broken windows and other minor damage.

Goldfine-Adams Ties

White House Plans To Refute Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today institutions that Bernard Goldfine got preferred treatment from federal agencies because of friendship with Sherman Adams "will be proved completely false."

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the matter will be quickly disposed of when Adams, chief aide to President Eisenhower, returns to Washington later in the day from a New England fishing trip.

Hagerty said that Adams "has the complete confidence of the President."

Hagerty refused to discuss evidence produced by House investigators yesterday that Goldfine, a Boston industrialist, paid Adams $200 in hotel bills over the last four years for Adams.

Hagerty brought up the subject at a news conference. He said he anticipated questions about it and then dictated this statement.

"After his (Adams) return, investigations made yesterday that Mr. Goldfine received any preferred treatment from federal agencies because of his friendship with Gov. Adams will be quickly disposed of and proved completely false."

The press secretary indicated that Adams would deal with the matter on his return to the White House.

But Hagerty declined to provide any information on the expected time of Adams' return, or to say what form Adams' refusal might take.

"You will have to wait until Gov. Adams gets back," the press secretary said.

Hagerty said in response to questions that he reached Adams by telephone last night at Berlin, N. H. He said Adams had been fishing in northern Maine.

A reporter told Hagerty that his statement did not amount to a denial that Adams' hotel bills at the Sheraton-Plaza in Boston were paid by Goldfine.

In response, Hagerty said he must refuse to elaborate on the statement he had made.

Algerians Told 'Quit Meddling'

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle today told the defiant Algerians to quit meddling in Algerian government, and slapped down his military commander there.

De Gaulle sent off a sharp note to his military commander in Algeria, Gen. Raoul Salan, after a Cabinet meeting devoted mainly to foreign affairs.

De Gaulle's most immediate problem was to restore his authority over the troublesome territory of Algeria.

De Gaulle replied sharply to a resolution of the Algerian Committee of Public Safety yesterday opposing his plan for local elections in Algeria today to quell interfering in government, and slapped down his military commander there.

He criticized Salan for letting his name be used as approving the committee action, even though Salan later disavowed the resolution.

ONE DUTY

"Concerning the regrettable and inopportune incident caused by the intermediary action of the Committee of Public Safety in Algeria, I remind you that the committee has no other rights and no other role than to express under your control the opinion of its members," de Gaulle messaged Salan.

"Regular authority, and first of all yourself, could not associate itself with such a subject as the committee or any other political organization can express or ask," he went on.

De Gaulle's Cabinet went ahead with plans for the local elections in Algeria in the face of the committee criticism.

Evening Prayer

Our Father, cure our near-sightedness, we pray. May we see gladly the resources of our world, and the needs of the people of all the world. Help us to widen the boundaries of our neighborliness, to the end that this world may truly come to be one Christian neighborhood. In Jesus name... Amen.
