No News Conference

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The White House said today President Eisenhower has no intention of firing Sherman Adams, his chief aide who is a target of House investigations.

White House Says Adams' Job Safe

At the same time, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said there will be no White House reply to an earlier question by a reporter as to whether Adams' good friend, industrialist Bernard Goldfine, once gave Adams a $700 coat.

Adams acknowledged yesterday that on three occasions he contacted federal agencies regarding Goldfine's business troubles with the agencies. Adams said Goldfine so no favored treatment from the agencies in return, and that he—Adams—ought none.

PAID BILLS

Adams also acknowledged that Goldfine paid hotel bills for him during a period when the wealthy Boston industrialist was in trouble before the Federal Trade Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

He said, however, that it was only a matter of accepting hospitality from an old friend, and that he had thought Goldfine kept the hotel quarters on a permanent basis.

The affair had prompted Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr. (D-Ill.) to say Eisenhower should fire Adams. Mack said that would be in keeping with an Eisenhower campaign pledge for a government "clean as a house's tooth."

Asked if he could say whether Eisenhower has any intention of firing Adams, Hagerty shot back: "Sure I can. The answer is of course not."

HAGERTY ASKED

At a news conference yesterday, Hagerty was asked whether Goldfine ever gave Adams a $700 coat. The press secretary replied he had no information on that, but would check into the matter.

When the matter was raised again at his news conference today, Hagerty said Adams had set forth his position in his letter yesterday to Rep. Oren Harris (D-Vt.), chairman of a house investigating subcommittee, and Adams would have nothing more to say.

The Adams letter to Harris did not deal with any question about a coat. Hagerty was asked whether Adams and the White House are taking the position that the question of whether Adams got such a coat is none of the public's business.

Airman Dies In Stolen Bomber

HUNTINGTON, England (AP) — A U. S. Air Force mechanic stole a bomber plane early this morning and zoomed off alone on a mystery flight. He crashed to his death a few miles away in the kind of mishap that gives the British the jitters.

Left-wing leaders here insist that the presence of American bombers armed with nuclear weapons adds to the island's dangers—that someone might go berserk or accidentally drop one of the atomic bombs on Britain.

The plane that crashed this morning carried no bomb of any sort. A hurried announcement said that the plane was not combat-ready.

The Air Force said it was an obsolete Thorneo light bomber one of the last two in use at the U. S. air base at nearby Alconbury.

Action On Court Ills Is Urged

Strong sentiment was developing in the City Council today for a grand jury investigation of the disorderly conditions in the clerk of city court's office.

And Solicitor Grady Stott of Superior Court told The News he certainly will order the investigation if the Council asks for one.

Five of six Councilmen contacted by The News said they would favor a grand jury probe. The sixth, Ernest Ford, said merely "the situation has got to be cleared up."

STRONG STATEMENT

Strongest statement came from Councilman Steve Dellinger. He said:

"Sure, I would be in favor of the Council calling for an investigation by the grand jury. I think the grand jury should conduct the investigation of the criminal aspects of the auditor's report, but I also think we should go further and have an investigation by some agency, such as the State Bureau of Investigation, which is more familiar with court procedure and which would be able to do a more thorough job."

Mr. Stott said it was his opinion the grand jury, under the statutes, has the authority either to initiate the investigation or to conduct one upon request of the Council. He said he had not yet received his copy of the report of an auditor's investigation of records in the clerk's office.

City Manager Henry Yancey had said yesterday the report was being sent to Mr. Stott.

LEFT OFFICE

But the solicitor, talking to The News by phone from Myrtle Beach, S. C., where the state bar association is meeting, said he had left his office in Gastonia at 5 yesterday afternoon and the report had not reached him by that time.

Mr. Stott will be holding court in Charlotte next week. Police Chief Littlejohn yesterday suspended Capt. Lloyd W. Henkel and Lt. Allen M. White of the police department for 30 days and recommended to the Civil Service Commission their dismissal from the service.

Capt. Henkel, head of the city's police division, had cashed checks totaling more than $28,000 through the clerk's office in the past year, the auditor's report revealed.

Lt. White, who has been clerk of the court for 16 years, was relieved of those duties in mid-May when the investigation began.

HEARING ASKED

Both men asked for a hearing before the Civil Service Commission on the clerk's charges and it will be held at 9 a.m. June 23.

Lt. White told The News today he is pleased with the opportunity for a hearing and "I am confident I will be exonerated."

Comment by Councilmen concerning the proposal for a grand jury investigation of the clerk's office.

Councilman Claude L. Albright said a full and complete investigation whether by the grand jury or somebody else should be made. An honest effort should be made.

To Enlighten Public

Bell Asks Debate On Court Reforms

By NOEL YANCEY

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C. — (AP) — A blueprint of a unified court system intended to improve administration of justice in North Carolina was presented to the state's Bar Assn. today.

J. Spencer Bell of Charlotte, chairman of the committee which drafted the court reform proposals, called for a great public debate so the people can "render an enlightened and intelligent judgment" on the program at the polls.

"We are prepared to fight, at whatever level is necessary, to have these proposals discussed," said Bell as the committee presented the fruits of two years of study to the bar association, holding its 60th annual meeting here.

SINGLE HEAD

The proposals call for a single court system which would bring all of the state's courts, from magistrate to supreme court, under a single administrative head.

They would bring changes in the method of selecting persons for jury service and a uniform system of selecting grand juries. Another change would permit solicitors to present the state's evidence before grand juries are considering bills of indictment. Under present law, solicitors are not permitted in the grand jury room.

The committee report did not include a proposal that North Carolina's Supreme Court justices and superior court judges be appointed instead of elected. A tentative proposal to do this was withdrawn after it met heated opposition, and

Wife 'Rings' Bell's Big Toe

By MARTHA LONDON

OCEAN FOREST MOTEL, MYRTLE BEACH, S. C. — It's all in good fun, but Charlotte's J. Spencer Bell is reportedly looking for a good lawyer.

His complaint, he says, is wife Kitty, who's been drafting him at 4 in the afternoon for an early morning swim.

But Kitty says it isn't hard to do. "I just grab him by the belt and say, 'Spencer, time to get up!'"

By comparison, other Charlotte delegates to the State Association meeting here get a late start in the day. The Frank Stepps, for instance, was until 9:30 o'clock for their first visitors.

Curfew Is Ordered In Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus — (AP) — Only British troops walked the streets of Nicosia today as authorities clamped on the first 100 per cent curfew in an effort to end communal fighting.

Britain also ordered paratroopers to the Mediterranean island colony to strengthen her troops trying to end continuing clashes between Greek and Turkish cyprits. Eleven cyprits have been killed since Saturday.

Since the outbreak of communal rioting, the Greek and Turkish communities had been allowed out of doors separately for several hours daily to get food and other essentials. Today even that was prohibited and such pass holders as doctors, civil servants and reporters were included in the prohibition.

British plans for the future of Cyprus—to be announced Tuesday—are expected to intensify the violence by failing fully to satisfy either the 400,000 Cypriots of Greek descent or the 100,000 Turks.

The Greeks want the island annexed to Greece. The Turks want Cyprus partitioned if the British leave.

The situation approached civil war yesterday with the bloodiest battle yet. A gang of 300 Greek Cypriots tried to raid a Turkish village near Nicosia and were met with gunfire. Three Greeks were killed and nine wounded.

More headed off

British troops headed off part of the Greek mob, arresting 30 and dispersing the rest, but one group set fire to crops and fire to crops, attacked by hidden Turks. Seventeen Turks were arrested.

In another clash, club-swinging British troops broke up a Turkish mob trying to storm a Nicosia police station. Authorities clamped an earlier curfew on the Turkish section of town.

Off and on for several years Greek Cypriots have attacked British troops in a terror campaign for independence and a chance to join Greece. Now the British find themselves in the middle as the Turks strike at their Greek neighbors in opposition to the campaign.

SITUATION WORSE

The War Office in London said the situation on Cyprus is deteriorating and more troops are needed to bolster the British forces that make this an East Mediterranean stronghold. A boat 500 paratroopers are expected to be flown here tomorrow. Other troops in England have been alerted.

Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Ruhsat Zorlu said in Ankara he had received a copy of the new British plan for Cyprus and he understood Athens also had been informed. Zorlu refused to reveal the provisions but said the Turkish government would never back down on partition demands.

Evening Prayer

O God, we are weak, but Thou art strong. Teach us Thy wisdom. May we be directed by Thy spirit to speak kindly to our neighbors and to look for the good in all men, for we are brethren, and Thou art our Creator. In His name . . . Amen.

Dr. R. A. King, of the college's department of agricultural economics, was a chief speaker at yesterday's session of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation.

—MISSING IN RENTED PLANE—

Suicide-Bent Airman Sought

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — A loveless airman who threatened a suicide crash in his rented plane was sought in northern Louisiana and northeastern Texas today.

Airman C. Donald Keeton, 39, of Dallas, Tex., who was stationed at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., flew about 200 miles yesterday before pursuers lost track of him in northern Louisiana near Monroe. He was flying a two-seater Cessna 120, painted yellow with black trimmings, which he had rented at Gulfport, Miss., about 20 miles from Biloxi. Keeton had less than two hours fuel when he left this central Louisiana city.

When he disappeared he had covered about half the distance from Gulfport to Dallas. He had been under way about four hours. In Dallas 19-year-old Lynn Bowling staked "He's the most wonderful person in the world. I wanted to get married, but called it off because I thought I was too young."

The airman's mother, Mrs. Ann Keeton, said in Dallas her son had lost weight "because of worry over a love affair."
