Enraged Suitor Held In Death, 3 Woundings

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — An enraged suitor charged with slaying a deputy sheriff was captured in a highway telephone booth today. He said he was calling the sheriff's office to give himself up.

Officers said Ed Golden, 25, fatally shot Deputy Burt Adams, 44, and wounded another deputy, Leslie Brock, 38, who was listed in fair condition today from a bullet wound in the neck. Mrs. Jessie Jerigan, the girl's mother, suffered a flesh wound in the shoulder.

Officers said Golden, operator of a used car lot, was unarmed and offered no resistance when he was spotted in the telephone booth on the Mobile highway near Pensacola.

Rowley, one of the officers who took Golden into custody, quoted the man as saying he panicked when the deputies approached him. "I thought he was going to kill me," Golden said.

The fugitive said he spent the night in the woods.

Rowley said Golden will be charged with first degree murder in the slaying of Adams and with charges of attempted murder in the shooting of the other three.

Rowley said the dead man is deputy sheriff Burt Adams, 44, who was shot in the head.

The wounded were identified at a hospital as deputy Leslie Brock, 38, wounded in the neck; Pierce Jerigan, 45, in critical condition with an arm wound, and Mrs. Jessie Jerigan, treated for a shoulder flesh wound and dismissed.

Rowley said Jerigan summoned deputies after he and Golden argued over family objections to him seeing the Jerigan girl. The deputy said the father threatened Golden with a shotgun.

The young couple was sitting in Golden's auto at a Jerigan house when Brock and Adams arrived.

Rowley gave this account: Brock walked to the car.

asked Golden for a pistol he held and was shot. Adams started toward the car and was shot. Golden then re-entered the Jerigan home, shot his girl's parents and fled.

Rowley said Jerigan's son, a boy of about 15 whose name he did not know, picked up Brock's service revolver and fired two or three times at the fleeing Golden.

Adams And Goldfine Case Closing Tied By Probe

SHERMAN ADAMS

Manufacturer Paid Waldorf-Astoria Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators produced evidence today that industrialist Bernard Goldfine paid bills for Sherman Adams at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York at about the time a government agency was closing out a case against Goldfine.

Adams is President Eisenhower's No. 1 aide. The Waldorf bills for Adams and Mrs. Adams came to $267.65.

They were run up at the New York hotel in January and February, 1954.

In the same period, investigator Francis X. McLaughlin told the House subcommittee, the Federal Trade Commission was settling a $60,000 suit against Goldfine's Northfield Mills.

A Goldfine textile company promised that it would halt alleged mislabeling of certain cloth, and the matter was closed on that basis.

VARIOUS ALTERNATIVES

The law provides various alternative actions in cases of charges of mislabeling.

Later Goldfine and some of its mills were involved in other charges of alleged mislabeling. This resulted in a "cease and desist" order, to which Goldfine and the companies consented, though admitting no wrongdoing. There was a criminal prosecution.

After an opening statement saying the subcommittee was going to push its probe "without fear or favor," Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark) called McLaughlin to the stand in a surprise move.

McLaughlin produced photographic copies of Waldorf-Astoria records which he said were obtained through a subpoena served last Friday.

McLaughlin said a Goldfine bill for Jan. 23-26, 1954, totaled $314.75, including $47.40 which had been transferred from Adams' account.

ADAMS INCLUDED

Then for Feb. 12-15, McLaughlin said, Goldfine paid a $2,822.29 bill for Adams and Mrs. Adams.

McLaughlin testified that FTC records showed a complaint against Goldfine's mills had been settled by FTC about the time Adams visited the Waldorf-Astoria.

He said that on Jan. 19, 1954, two days before the first visit, Northfield Mills submitted to FTC a general statement in which it gave assurances that it would not.

U.S. Citizens Ready To Quit Bloody Lebanon

By TOM MASTERSON

BEIRUT (AP) — American families had the go-ahead to move out of Lebanon today as the anti-government rebels kept up a determined, bloody stand before U. N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjöld arrived to direct the international team of observers.

Bitter fighting broke out in the capital, Beirut, and continued yesterday until government security forces pinned down the insurgents in their strongholds at the center of the strife-torn country.

Heavy shooting stopped by noon, but sporadic firing and bombing were heard the rest of the day.

In the latest warning to Americans in the Middle East since the 1956 Suez crisis, the U. S. Embassy offered free transportation out of the strife-torn country to dependents of embassy staff members. The 5,000 other Americans in Beirut were urged to stay off the streets.

NONE HURT

So far no foreigners have been hurt in the month-old rebellion against President Camille Chamoun's pro-Western government, which charges the insurgents have been directed by President Nasser's United Arab Republic and inspired by its pan-Arab expansionist policies.

The Lebanese casualties have been reckoned with upward of 500. Fighting Saturday killed 90 persons, and the large number of ambulances in Beirut yesterday was evidence of the continuing bitter battle.

ROSE GROWER DIES

ANTIBES, France (AP) — Francis Meilan, world-famous rose grower, died yesterday at the height of the rose season on the French Riviera. He was 46. His room was banked with his favorite flower to the end.

Reds Reject Release Bid

BERLIN (AP) — The United States said today—in its second contact with Communist East Germany—to win the release of five U. S. Army men held prisoner.

Responsible diplomatic sources said the Communists insisted that the helicopter case be negotiated on a government-to-government level.

East Germany's Foreign Ministry rejected a compromise formula on protocol put forward by the American negotiator, U. S. Army Col. Robert B. McQuail of Bluefield, W. Va.

In a 40-minute meeting at the ministry, McQuail reportedly presented credentials from Gen. H. H. Rodes, the U. S. commander in chief for Europe. He also indicated he was negotiating with the approval of the State Department.

Seeking international prestige for their regime, the Communists apparently demanded that McQuail show accreditation.

McQuail walked into the ministry at noon. He was accompanied by Maj. Raymond J. McRory Jr., of Wauwatosa, Wis., of the U. S. liaison mission in Potsdam, and three soldiers who kept quiet on getting close enough to ask questions.

11-Month Gross For Local Bondsmen Tops $50,000

News Staff Writer

Charlotte bondsmen in the past 11 months have grossed over $50,000.

Their bond forfeitures to City and County Recorder's Court amounted to $3,550.

Top bondsmen financially—according to their reports in the Clerk of Superior Court office—was Leo Reynolds.

His monthly reports show he grossed $16,375 in fees on 904 bonds written from July, 1957, through May of this year.

SECOND MAN

Running second for the same period was C. B. Bridges with a gross fee collection of $14,600.

Records in the clerk's office at City Recorder's Court show that Mr. Reynolds forfeited $200 in bonds for this period. His amount of forfeitures in County Recorder's Court, according to the clerk's records was $1,550.

Mr. Bridges paid $50 in City Recorder's Court and none in County Recorder's Court.

County Recorder's Court. Fee collections by other bondsmen from July through May are: J. H. Brantley—$8,354.25; Jim Poplin—$6,200; Edward Weddington—$1,270.

Records show that Mr. Weddington during this period forfeited $650 in bonds in County Recorder's Court.

Mr. Brantley forfeited $450 in County Recorder's Court and Jim Poplin $400 in the same court.

Of the $50,825.75 in fees $25,355 was collected by Mr. Reynolds and the Poplin brothers—agents for S. P. Risley.

The fee for bond is a $3 minimum.

Roof Repair Delay Likely

(Another picture on 1-B)

Repair of the Charlotte Coliseum roof, much of which was ripped off in yesterday's freak wind and rain storm, may require some time. The News learned today.

A construction industry executive who was connected with the erection of the $5 million coliseum and auditorium, said specially-designed aluminum sheeting must be fabricated and shipped here.

"This sheeting is not a stock item and has to be cut to fit," he said. "We can't just go and buy it."

MORE WORK?

He said it is also "conceivable" that some of the roof not blown off, particularly that around the edges, may have to be replaced. In addition, left purling which was between the roof and the concrete dome, will have to be replaced.

A crew from the F. N. Thompson Co., which constructed the coliseum and auditorium, began removing the aluminum strips from the coliseum grounds this morning.

Some workmen also climbed to the dome and removed loose stripping which had been loosened but had not blown off.

The Aluminum Structures Co. of Pittsburgh will repair the roof. The company has been notified and officials have been in contact with the Charlotte construction executive.

The Pittsburgh firm likely will send a man here to make preliminary survey of the damage, though the company has shop drawings and specifications of the aluminum roof.

The freak wind struck the coliseum about 1:45 p.m. and ripped away about three-eighths of the shiny dome.

The wind that brought in a thunderstorm turned its full fury on the building and stripped the dome of much of its shiny cover about 1:45 p.m.

The metal got between the roof and the concrete dome and stripped off the metal as it went.

The metal was buried from the roof to the ground near the Independence Blvd. side of the building.

Indiana Flooding Threat Increases

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Swirling floodwaters of a Wabash River tributary picked up speed today after overtopping an earthen levee protecting the city of West Terre Haute and spread out to inundate 30 per cent of the community.

The 4,000 residents of this western Indiana town near the Illinois border had been alerted last night to the danger from swollen Sugar Creek, and Civil Defense officials reported no casualties among the 1,000 persons forced from their homes.

An Indiana National Guard truck, a jeep and a pickup truck were swept away when the river poured over the levee at 2:30 a.m. about a mile upstream from where the creek empties into the Wabash.

SIX MEN RESCUED

Six men working on the levee were rescued by boat after being cut off for a short time in the darkness.

The water flowed across U. S. 41 five blocks west of the Wabash and closed the heavily traveled highway to all traffic. West Terre Haute firemen prepared to sink their equipment to a schoolhouse on higher ground as the river crept close to the station-house.

Engineers inspected the main Wabash bridge on U. S. 41 connecting Terre Haute with its sister city and decided not to close the structure.

Residents piled themselves and their furniture on trucks standing by, and many of them were taken to a Red Cross emergency center in the central grade school.

Many had to be forced to leave. Authorities estimated 40 per cent of the West Terre Haute community would be flooded before the Wabash reached its predicted crest of about 28 feet.

—SENATORS DISSATISFIED—

Labor Bill Being Reshaped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators dissatisfied with a bill to curb labor abuses pushed ahead today with last-ditch efforts to reshape it more to their liking.

As a wrangling Senate headed into a fourth day of debate on the measure, Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said he hoped to finish action on it tonight under an agreement limiting debate.

Awaiting action first was an amendment by Sen. Charles E. McNair (R-Mich.) to let union members resister any dues money used for political purposes or other non-union activities they oppose.

"It's a violation of a worker's rights to appropriate hard-earned dues money for political shenanigans," Potter said in arguing for the amendment. Sens. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) and Carl T. Curtis (R-Nebr.) agreed.

However, Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said Potter's amendment is "as absurd and as completely without justification" as any yet offered.

Morse denounced it as "a union-busting amendment" and said it would "play into the hands of the type of employer who employs the stooge and spy."

It is designed to help drive racketeers out of the labor movement and to give rank and file members more control over union affairs.

It also would make a number of changes in the 1947 Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act, including some long sought by labor leaders.

senhower administration has gone down in defeat.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California also lost out Saturday in an effort to provide that 20 per cent of a union's members could force secret balloting on recalling union officers and on changing union constitution and by-laws.

However, the Senate later adopted an amendment of Sen. Sam J. Ervin (D-N.C.) providing for the recall of local union officers at any time by majority vote of the members.

Ervin's amendment also provided a section of the bill requiring periodic elections of union officers by secret ballot. It would set the maximum term for officials of local unions at three years instead of four and for officials of international unions at four years instead of five.

Billy's California Crusade In 'Red'

By RICHARD A. MEISTER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billy Graham, who has ended his seven-day evangelistic battle with the Devil here, wants the fervor to carry.

Graham said the spirit of revival back to your churches, he told a crowd of 15,000 jammed into the Cow Palace for the final crusade session yesterday.

"Get into that church," Graham pleaded. "If you wait a week or two, Satan will take advantage of you."

He declared to the throng packed into the 16,500-seat arena that "some of you are like Judas. You are greedy and will sell your soul and your future for a few pieces of silver. Some of those few will steal from God as those with the most money."

Turning to another matter of money, the North Carolina preacher said advance contributions and weekday offerings for the free meetings might not have met all expenses of the crusade, which he estimated at $400,000.

As assistants toured the aisles collecting offerings, he asked that you give generously to make sure all expenses are met. "Totals were not immediately available."

686,325 ATTENDANCE

Total attendance for the seven weeks rose to 686,325. The 570 going forward "decisions for Christ" brought that total to 25,375.

"If you live less than your best you are committing a sin. Just enough religion to be respectable is one of the sins that nailed Jesus to the cross," Graham said.

"Christ went a long way for you. You can take a few steps for him."

After visiting Yosemite National Park tomorrow with his 15-year-old daughter Virginia, Graham will rest and Sunday when he will speak at a Seals Stadium rally. Then he'll tour California.
