

Wreck Kills Two

SALVADOR, Brazil (P)—A train bringing injured victims to Salvador from a disastrous fireworks explosion in the north Brazil village of Santo Amaro was derailed last night, killing two persons.

Help Requested

ROME, Italy (P)—Aminore Fanfani, a tough anti-Communist, was asked by President Giovanni Gronchi today to form a new left-of-center government.

Restrictions Begun

PARIS (P)—Premier Charles de Gaulle today clamped restrictions on French military commanders ruling Algeria and emphasized they hold civilian administrative powers only temporarily.

January In June

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (P)—It was January in June today in the southern Wyoming. Light snow fell and temperatures dipped into the 30s. Laramie had 45 degrees and one inch of snow was on the ground.

Rate Cut Ordered

WASHINGTON (P)—The Federal Communications Commission today ordered American Telephone & Telegraph Co. to cut its rates for the private telephone line service by about 15 percent. The order becomes effective in 60 days.

Hodges Named

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (P)—Gov. Leroy Collins, chairman of the National Governors Conference, today appointed Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina and Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois to the special committee on federal-state relations.

Volcano Kills 12

KUMAMOTO, Japan (P)—Mt. Aso still spewed smoke today after an eruption that came without warning, killing 12 Japanese and injuring 28. Six of the injured were in serious condition.

Holiday Freedom

ALGERS (P)—Gen. Raoul Salan has called on his military governors throughout Algeria to release as many political prisoners as possible for a Moslem holiday beginning tomorrow.

Caudle Defense In New Move

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Attorneys have taken another step toward a new trial for T. Lamar Caudle of Wadesboro, N.C., and another former Truman administration official convicted in a tax conspiracy case.

Lawyers for Caudle and Matthew Connelly notified the U.S. Justice Department here yesterday they would take depositions July 1 in New York of the defendant in the case, attorney Harry I. Schwimmer who was stricken and granted a mistrial. Caudle headed the Justice Department's Tax Division under Truman while Connelly was White House appointment secretary.

Convicted two years ago, they were reprieved last Saturday from starting two-year prison terms until the question is settled of a new trial on charges they abetted St. Louis shoe distributor Irving Sachs in evading taxes. Schwimmer was attorney for Sachs, who was convicted of tax evasion. The government charged Caudle and Connelly with accepting favors — oil royalties. Caudle's attorney said Schwimmer had made a sworn statement that he bought oil stock for Caudle without Caudle's knowledge and that he never conferred with Connelly on the Sachs case. Caudle has maintained he made Schwimmer take the stock back. The defendants asserted Schwimmer, who fell ill during the trial here, now can clear up matters affecting the cases.

Crowd Under Control

1,000 Russians Stage Protest At U. S. Embassy

County Denies Reassignment Requests Of 10

By JULIAN SCHIEER, News Staff Writer

The County School Board today denied requests for reassignment of 10 Negro children to white schools.

The requests were made by four Negro families in behalf of their children now attending Negro schools in Mecklenburg County.

Eight of the applications were turned down in consideration of the "welfare" of the student, School Board officials said. Two were denied because the Negro children were mistakenly enrolled in county schools while living in city school district limits.

SAME PARENTS

The parents are the same who applied for reassignment last year. They will have 10 days from the time they are notified of today's action in which to file notice of appeal.

County School Board attorney Paul Ervin said the requests were rejected after the board took into consideration the crowded conditions in schools and gave careful consideration to the welfare and best interest of each child involved and based its decision on those points.

The applications considered were those of: Claudette and Nathaniel Abraham, the former from J. H. Gunn to East Mecklenburg, and the latter from Gunn to Hickory Grove. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Abraham, Rt. 1, Box 612. The board ruled that these children live within the city school limits and technically have been mistakenly attending the county schools.

Frank Boyce Jr., requested reassignment from the tenth grade at Terrence Lytle to North Mecklenburg High School. Request denied.

Barbara Dianne Boyce, requested reassignment from the fourth grade at Lytle to Derita Junior High. Request denied. (Derita has grades one through nine.)

Clarence Edward Boyce requested reassignment from the eighth grade at Lytle to Derita. Request denied.

Jerry Nathaniel Boyce requested reassignment from the ninth grade at Lytle to Derita. Request denied.

Howard Eugene Boyce requested reassignment from the second grade at Lytle to Derita. Request denied.

See SCHOOL on Page 3-A

'Love' For Men Leads To Trouble For Yvonne

SALTASH, England (P)—Nineteen-year-old Yvonne Clements started a six-month jail sentence today—blaming it on her love.

She has the word "Kiwi" on one hand, a skull and crossbones on the other. A blue star on her forehead and a floral design on her chest.

U. N. Action Denounced By Rebels

BEIRUT, Lebanon (P)—Heavy firing broke out in Lebanon late today shortly after the government announced it had asked for an armed U. N. emergency force to seal off the frontier.

President Camille Chamoun said he expected a big rebel push against the pro-western government at any hour, but it was too soon to say whether this was it.

The heaviest firing was heard on the outskirts of the Basta section of Beirut where rebel forces under former Premier Saeb Salam are entrenched inside barricades.

Shooting broke out in the post office area at about the same time and firing erupted and bombs were exploded in the Christian quarter in the eastern part of the capital.

Machine guns, mortar fire, dynamite bombs and small arms fire could be heard as the rebels and security forces exchanged fire.

The fighting broke a long day of unusual calm in Beirut. The rebels had called a truce during the visit here of U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, here to try to bring peace to the troubled little Middle East. The shooting broke out shortly after he left by plane for New York.

Even as firing broke out rebel leader Salam told a reporter that the rebels would resist any increase in U. N. forces in Lebanon. He said he spoke for all rebel leaders.

Salam said that even if the number of U. N. personnel be as little as 500 and unarmed, the rebels would consider this as a change in U. N. policy.

"If the number of United Nations forces should be increased we will consider this an intervention and aggression, and we will resist it as we would resist any aggression," Salam said.

Salam was commenting on a statement by Premier Sami Solh that he had asked for a U. N. force "to seal off completely Lebanon's frontiers" with the Syrian province of President Nasser's Arab Republic. The request was handed to Hammarskjöld shortly before his departure.

The government also charged that its forces were shelled from Syrian soil.

A total of 150 Americans, including the wives and children of diplomats, live in the embassy building, mainly in apartments on the middle floors.

Every window on the first and second floors was covered with cardboard to minimize leakage. The office staff was moved into the top floors, were transferred to the ground floor corridors. Furniture on the two lower floors was moved out.

A total of 150 Americans, including the wives and children of diplomats, live in the embassy building, mainly in apartments on the middle floors.

Every window on the first and second floors was covered with cardboard to minimize leakage. The office staff was moved into the top floors, were transferred to the ground floor corridors. Furniture on the two lower floors was moved out.

A total of 150 Americans, including the wives and children of diplomats, live in the embassy building, mainly in apartments on the middle floors.

Every window on the first and second floors was covered with cardboard to minimize leakage. The office staff was moved into the top floors, were transferred to the ground floor corridors. Furniture on the two lower floors was moved out.

A total of 150 Americans, including the wives and children of diplomats, live in the embassy building, mainly in apartments on the middle floors.

Her Bow Awash, The Empress Bay Rests On Bottom In New York's East River

Huntersville Fire Damage In Thousands

New York Accident

Tanker Is Lost After Collision

Defiant Pickets Block Traffic At Chrysler

Judge Boyd: City Court's Stormy Petrel

Angry Fuss Brings Halt To Quizzing

Wild Night Ends In Sleepy Arrest

Evening Prayer

Our Weather

Driver Remembered Children

Business 2A
Classified 13-15B
Comics 10A
Crossword 6A
Editorials 6A
Everyday Counselor 13A
Obituaries 11-12A
Radio-TV 12A
Serial 8A
Sports 8-12B
Theaters 12B
To Your Good Health 4A
Women 2-6B
Worry Clinic 7A

Fighting In Lebanon Follows Aid Request

Her Bow Awash, The Empress Bay Rests On Bottom In New York's East River

Huntersville Fire Damage In Thousands

New York Accident Tanker Is Lost After Collision

Defiant Pickets Block Traffic At Chrysler

Judge Boyd: City Court's Stormy Petrel

Angry Fuss Brings Halt To Quizzing

Wild Night Ends In Sleepy Arrest

Evening Prayer

Our Weather

Driver Remembered Children

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Six weeks ago the brakes on Russell C. Moore's truck failed at the top of a grade in this seaside city.

He could have jumped, but instead he stuck with it, shepherding the runaway through eight street crossings. Almost miraculously, he avoided pedestrians and autos. The truck crashed into a creek. Moore was killed.

Moore, 31, left a wife and four children. A fifth is on the way. An account of the tragedy in the News-Press started a spontaneous flow of dollars. The total is nearly $15,000.

As one contributor put it: "If he had tried to save himself and jumped, leaving the truck uncontrolled, who knows how many might have been killed or maimed? There are lots of children in that neighborhood. He must have been thinking of that when he decided to stay at the wheel."

MUST HAVE KNOWN
Moore must have known, indeed, for he lived but a mile away.
Most of the money has come in small amounts, a dollar or two. There have been hundreds of donors. Many were anonymous. The smallest amount was 28 cents, a gift from a little boy. The largest, $420, was anonymous. Some came from a semipro baseball team which staged a benefit game. . . . from a visitor from Worcester, Mass. . . . from schools, from churches, service clubs, small businesses, government workers, hospital patients. Along Oliver Street, toys collected-nickels and dimes in a pickle jar from passers-by.

The YMCA arranged for Vernon H. Lind, 9 and Charlotte, 8, to attend summer camps. Terry, the baby, is too young.

Says Mrs. Moore: "How can I thank them all?"

"I don't even know how to express what I feel. . . . Please tell them—all those who have kept their names secret, and everyone who has thought of me, thank you. . . . Tell the children how nice everyone has been to, console them. Vernon says: 'Yes, I know, but I wish I had my daddy.'"

More Weather Data on Page 3-A