Get Police To Give You Shoeshine
(From AP Reports)
Somewhere the shoes are shining, but not in Asbury Park, N. J.

Last week police began receiving complaints from parents that youngsters were staying out late shining shoes. Acting on the complaint, officers confiscated 20 shoeshine boxes. Later, some boys appeared at headquarters to ask for boxes and licenses to shine shoes.

However, a local ordinance which calls for licensing of bootblacks makes no provision for the issuance of permits. Right now, if you want to get a shine in Asbury Park, it's the police station. That's where the equipment is.

No Pay Raise
Some Tulsa city hall employees call it hilarious; others have other words for it. In an effort to see whether department heads check figures before signing payrolls, 50 errors were "planted" here and there in the columns. As a result the mayor reduced the pay of his assistant from $27.50 to $25.30, and the finance commissioner paid himself $7.30 instead of $37.50.

The latter wasn't amused. He'll take up the matter with the city commission.

Science Wins
Scientific crime detection has solved an attempted burglary at the Ogden, Utah, dog pound.

Pound master Jay Hebert showed police where a screen door had been ripped out and a door damaged.

Officers rounded up four-footed suspects from the pound and pinned the crime on a watchdog which had flecks of paint on its lips and teeth.

Evening Prayer
Our heavenly Father, creator of all goodness and beauty, help us to live within Thy love. So may we have strength to meet the tests of life and bring to Thee the victory Thou wouldst have us bring. This we ask in Jesus' name. Amen.

City Council Plans To Select Civilian As City Court Clerk

Ike To Stick To Summit At The UN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is reported set to denounce Soviet Premier Khrushchev's new proposal for a quick Middle East summit conference outside the United Nations.

Eisenhower is understood to be ready to reaffirm his willingness to attend a summit parley—but only within the 11-member U. N. Security Council in New York.

Barring a sudden Soviet flip-flop, Khrushchev's angrily worded letter appeared virtually to kill chances for any emergency heads-of-government meeting in the near future on the Middle East crisis.

Officials assailed Khrushchev's message to Eisenhower as vicious and insulting. The harsh tone, they said, was clearly that of a man more interested in making propaganda than in meeting calmly with Eisenhower.

Eisenhower will most certainly, they said, reject as unacceptable Khrushchev's bid for immediate five-power talks in Moscow or any other European city.

COUNTER SEEN
Some authorities felt Eisenhower's blast by announcing he will show up for a high-level Security Council meeting, whether or not the Soviet leader shows up.

They recalled that the Soviet Union threatened to boycott the current Geneva technical talks on disarmament, but changed its mind when American officials went to the meeting despite last-minute Soviet objections.

The White House foreshadowed Eisenhower's attitude when it announced that there was no change in the President's proposal for keeping the meeting within the U. N. despite Khrushchev's newest blast.

Renewed backing for that stand came from three members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Homer Capehart (R-Ind.).

GENEVA SUGGESTED
But Mansfield suggested that a Security Council meeting could be held in Geneva in a move to accept part of Khrushchev's suggestion.

The initial White House reaction came from reading news accounts reporting the text of Khrushchev's letter as broadcast by Radio Moscow. The full text of Khrushchev's letter was not received by the State Department last night.

Moscow's move in swiftly publicizing Khrushchev's words was viewed as an added proof that he was mainly interested in maximum propaganda advantage rather than anticipating any American acceptance of his idea.

Training Flight

Crash Of Jet Plane Kills 8

LIMESTONE, Maine (AP) — A B-52 giant jet bomber crashed today three miles south of Loring Air Force Base killing eight men. The craft was returning from a routine training mission.

The Air Force rushed rescue equipment and search parties to the scene—about three miles from the sprawling Strategic Air Command base near the Canadian border.

Residents of the area said the plane barely missed the farm home of Carl Ireland. Wreckage was scattered over a 20-acre area, they said.

The plane normally carries a crew of six, but on training flights there are eight aboard.

WRECKAGE BURNS
Some of the wreckage caught fire and was burning when Air Force fire fighters arrived.

The B-52 bombers are equipped to carry nuclear weapons. One of them crashed in January last year just across the Canadian border.

Prime Minister Missed Bomb Blast Kills Eight In Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Prime Minister Sami Solh missed death by a split second today when would-be assassins blew up a parked car a few yards ahead of his automobile.

Solh was not hurt but eight other persons perished and a 5-year-old girl was hurt so badly she was given little chance to survive. The dead included a policeman on a motorcycle, three gunmen, and four persons in a car just ahead of Solh's.

Detonator wires from the exploded car ran up the hillside above the road to a spot from which two men were seen to run away.

It appeared they were trying to kill Solh but pushed the detonator too soon. Had they waited a fraction of a second longer he would have been blown to bits. The incident occurred on a road nine miles out of Beirut.

NEAR RIVER
The Prime Minister passed there daily en route to his Beirut office from his suburban home. The road runs along a sheer drop down to the Beirut River in the valley below.

An American-style car, thought to be a limousine, had been parked there three days, with a rock under a wheel.

At the Solh procession approaches a policeman stepped forward and asked the green car to pull to the side of the road and permit the Solh car to go ahead. At that moment the explosion occurred, knocking the motorcycle and the green car far down the slope.

A prime minister is a Moslem by custom in this half-Christian, half-Moslem nation and a prominent Christian. Reasons for the attack on Solh were not immediately clear since most rebel army in the nearly three months of rebellion has been against President Chamoun.

NO CASUALTIES
Assaults fired on Marine positions at two different points in Beirut last night, a headquarters spokesman said. There were no casualties, and the Marines did not return the fire.

Bullets hit their positions, at the residence of the British ambassador. A speeding car fired one round into a company command post in the city area.

Parliament Speaker Adl Ouseyran told The Associated Press there is general agreement among all parties that the army commander, Gen. Fuad Shهاب, will be elected to succeed pro-Western President Chamoun.

Ouseyran said Shهاب would get a virtually unanimous vote when Parliament meets to elect a president. Shهاب has been mentioned as a compromise candidate, but in his new command has eliminated such mention of him in dispatches from Beirut.

A leading member of the national front, which supports Chamoun, likewise said. "It appears settled. Most of us have already said we are in favor of Shهاب. It looks as if he will be president."

If the rebels and the government supporters do unite behind Shهاب, he may be able to end the 18-day-old rebellion of anti-Chamoun forces who opposed his Western leanings and reported ambitions for a second term. An end to the rebellion presumably would result in the removal of U. S. troops from Lebanon.

and 10 miles from the scene of today's crash.

Air Force security officials immediately moved into the area and kept civilians away from the wreckage.

Kent Ward, a news editor of the Limestone Leader, who resides near the scene of the crash, said he heard the plane's roaring take-off followed by a mad explosion. "Then, there was no more plane."

Ward said the electricity in the area failed temporarily.

There was only one survivor—Major Moody E. Deaton, of Denison, Tex., an instructor pilot. He was taken to the base hospital where his condition was described as good.

The cause of the crash was not determined, an Air Force spokesman said.

Other Steps Needed Contempt Urged Against Goldfine

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators recommended contempt of Congress proceedings today against Bernard Goldfine, gift-giving friend of presidential assistant Sherman Adams.

Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) said the investigating subcommittee's recommendation would be submitted soon as possible to its parent, the House Commerce Committee.

If endorsed by the full committee, the contempt citation would go to the House.

And, if approved by the House, it would go to the U. S. district attorney for handling as a criminal case.

It will have to be done quickly to get action at this session of Congress, Harris told newsmen after a 40-minute closed session of the subcommittee.

ACCUSATION BASIS
The contempt accusation is based on Goldfine's refusal to answer some two dozen questions concerning his financial dealings with Boston real estate companies of which he is majority owner.

Goldfine refused to answer the questions on the ground that they were not pertinent to the subcommittee's investigation, which is aimed at the operations of government regulatory agencies.

The principal real estate company among Goldfine's holdings failed for years to file required annual financial reports with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

MOSTLY POLICE
Most of the coming and going this week has been by police officers and other witnesses appearing before the grand jury for the routine bills of indictment for Criminal Superior Court.

John A. Vanderford, one of the four State Bureau of Investigation agents working on the probe, was behind the closed doors about two hours yesterday.

He went back with his records this morning at 10:30, after waiting in the corridor for an hour.

Attempt To Dismiss Littlejohn Abandoned

By JOHN KILGO
News Staff Writer
A majority of the City Council plans to appoint a civilian clerk of city recorder's court, probably at tomorrow's council session. The News learned today.

Four councilmen originally had planned to ask for Chief Frank N. Littlejohn's resignation at tomorrow's meeting, but apparently abandoned those plans after a story in yesterday's News.

Chief Littlejohn is already on the record as vigorously opposing a civilian clerk of the court and such action by the council would constitute a definite slap in the face to him.

Police Sgt. Charles Adams is now serving as clerk of the scandal-ridden city court. He took over as acting clerk when Allen M. White was transferred out of the office on May 19, 1958.

Chief Littlejohn said today he still opposes a civilian clerk as long as "we have a man as capable as Charlie Adams."

"PERFECT CLERK"
"Charlie is a good, honest, Christian man. He's one of the finest officers we've ever had in this department. He would make a perfect clerk," the chief said.

"We don't want to see Chief Littlejohn said today he still opposes a civilian clerk as long as "we have a man as capable as Charlie Adams."

MORE PAY
Mr. Brown said it has been agreed to pay the new court clerk a salary of $425 a month, instead of the $300 he is now getting.

Mr. Brown said Mr. Yancey is checking candidates for the job through the credit facilities of the Merchants Association.

It is reported that the four votes needed to name the new clerk are already "sewed up."

BOYD WANTS CIVILIAN
City Recorder Basil M. Boyd recommended to Mr. Yancey that a civilian be appointed as court clerk.

Chief Littlejohn bitterly attacked Boyd's recommendation.

He said he believed yesterday that a strong, but underground movement has begun to oust Littlejohn as police chief.

Mr. Brown said if Littlejohn doesn't resign after the court investigation is completed, "I'd probably be one of the first to vote to ask him to leave."

Councilman Ernest Ford also said today "that something definite is going to happen."

He has captured the next day by Clayton police who recognized him from his picture in a Raleigh newspaper.
