

Sub Keel Laid

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The keel for the Scorpion, an atomic-powered attack submarine, was laid today on the building ways in the south yards of the General Dynamics Corp.'s electric boat division.

Extended Tour

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Secretary Wilber N. Brucker will start on an extended tour of Pacific and Asian points this week. He will leave from Indianapolis Friday, flying to Hawaii, thence to Okinawa, Japan, Korea and to Formosa.

Hopes Dimmer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, today listed a dozen legislative matters for Senate action before Congress adjourns. The heavy schedule complicated hopes of many legislators to leave Washington by the weekend.

Blast Hurts Three

BEIRUT (AP)—A terrorist planted a bomb today in the Beirut central post office after boldly walking through police lines and past a pair of tanks. The explosion in a toilet in the parcel post section injured three persons.

180 Sentenced

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—A special government purge commission has sentenced 180 persons to national degradation and confiscation of property for collaborating with the French against King Mohammed V.

Critic Is Winner

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Dr. Gale McGee, a critic of the administration's foreign policy, has won the democratic nomination for U. S. Senate from Wyoming.

12 Missing In Slide

DOMODOSSOLA, Italy (AP)—A huge landslide roared down today on the village of San Giovanni di Crovaldosola, near the Italian-Swiss frontier, and 12 persons were reported missing. Three bodies were recovered.

Pressure Charged

CAIRO (AP)—The Cairo press angrily charged the United States today with "exerting extraordinary pressure and waging a war of nerves" in the U. N. Assembly to gain passage of the Norwegian resolution for stabilizing the Middle East.

The Brighter Side

David Wins Again Over Giant Goliath

(From AP Reports)
David and Goliath had met again, and as before, David is the victor.
Four-year-old David Butler was playing on a swing in Surrey, England, when a 1,200-pound black bull charged through two fences to threaten the child.
"I got a stick and hit the bull," David said. "He stood still so I hit him again. He stamped his feet so I hit him again. That was enough for Goliath, who turned and fled."

Home Practice

Mr. and Mrs. Alvaro Bea of Pasadena, Calif., are becoming experts at artificial respiration. On July 30 John Bea, 18 months old, fell into the family swimming pool. His mother pulled him out and gave him artificial respiration. Yesterday John did the same. That time it was Pop's turn.

(AP Photo)

Return Of A Pin

Holding a two-inch corkscrew pin he swallowed, Roy DuPuis, 12, of Augusta, Ga., poses after doctors worked on him at Temple University Hospital in Philadelphia. Roy swallowed the pin when he stuck it into the nozzle of a water pistol, accidentally pulled the trigger and shot it into his mouth.

Harriman Named

Angered Witness Charges 'Smear'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert (Barney) Baker, 300-pound ex-convict and Teamster official, belittled at Senate investigators today that they are trying to smear Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

He shouted that testimony yesterday by his ex-wife that he and the Democratic governor are close friends was the word from a "vengeful woman, a woman scorned."

Baker, launching tirade on an emotional, shouting tirade on the witness chair after convicted slayer Ruth Brougher, 44, who identified herself as Baker's former sweetheart, joined his ex-wife in linking Baker's name with Harriman.

NOT CLOSE

Baker described Harriman as "a man I hunted and loved. Not close, close, close. He wouldn't know me if he saw me."

Mrs. Mollie Baker, his divorced wife, swore yesterday that they were as close as any men could be.

Harriman has denied any close ties with the man who committee investigators say has been an associate of the nation's top gangland figures.

Mrs. Brougher, brought from a Florida penal institution to testify in the Senate racket hearings, swore she knew Baker to be "on the lam" from New York City to escape questions in a waterfront killing there, and added: "I don't think he could go back until after Gov. Harriman was elected."

Invitation Rejected

A British vicar has rejected an invitation to judge a beauty contest.
"I feel a man cannot really assess the beauty of a girl just by looking at her," said the Rev. William Rees of Blandworth. "Before I could judge a girl's real beauty, I would want to meet her and get to know her personally."

He's Quitting

The Duke of Devonshire has resigned from the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals because at heart he's a hunter and fisherman.
He resigned from the Cheshire field England, branch of the organization when he learned of the society's campaign to outlaw slaghunting—a sport of which he approves.

States Told To Help Back School Rulings

Like Implies Troops Ready For Use Again

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today solemnly called on state governments to "suppress unlawful forces" in the school integration controversy. He issued an implied warning that he would use federal troops again, if necessary, to back up federal court orders.

Board Outlines Plan To Resist Court's Order

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Little Rock school board, challenged by Gov. Orval Faubus to say how it would resist a resumption of integration here next month, has offered a three-point plan.

The board said it would:

1. Ask the U. S. Supreme Court to intervene.
2. Request the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals to stay its order, which overruled a lower court's approval of a 2½-year integration delay.
3. Attempt to set up a meeting with Faubus to discuss several methods he has proposed to avoid integration despite court orders.

The moves were revealed after a closed session at which the board considered the Circuit Court's reversal Monday of an integration delay granted June 21 by Federal Judge Harry J. Lenny of Hope, Ark. The school board had requested the delay.

ACTION PLANNED

School Supt. Virgil Blossom said action on all three points was planned today.

He said a writ of certiorari—petition for review—would be sent to the Supreme Court.

If the high court, now in summer recess, approved the writ, an extraordinary session would be called to hear the case. The court is not scheduled to reconvene in regular session until October.

An extraordinary session would hear the Circuit Court's decision from taking effect until the Supreme Court ruled, in effect staying the lower court's order.

Blossom said the board also would request the appellate court to stay its own order. He said that until a mandate is received the prior ruling postponing integration is still in effect.

Normally a court mandate is sent in 20 days, but it could come sooner. School opens here Sept. 2.

WHIPPED MAN

She said she also knew that as soon as Baker got out of jail, in that case, he borrowed some hoodlum's car, "went to the waterfront and whipped the man who had testified against him."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) asked what connection Harriman's election could go back to New York. She said he reported he felt better after that.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) asked what connection Harriman's election could go back to New York. She said he reported he felt better after that.

She said she also knew that as soon as Baker got out of jail, in that case, he borrowed some hoodlum's car, "went to the waterfront and whipped the man who had testified against him."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) asked what connection Harriman's election could go back to New York. She said he reported he felt better after that.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) asked what connection Harriman's election could go back to New York. She said he reported he felt better after that.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) asked what connection Harriman's election could go back to New York. She said he reported he felt better after that.

(News Staff Photo by Tom Franklin-Hunter)

Gifford Wallace Sits And Ponders Where Lost Son May Be

U. S. Seeks Halt Of Anti-West U. N. Demand

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States sought today to rally the West's allies in the U. N. Assembly against an Asian move to demand speedy withdrawal of U. S. and British forces from Lebanon and Jordan.

The Americans are plugging hard for a Norwegian resolution asking U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to make arrangements to insure the independence of Lebanon and Jordan so the American and British troops can pull out.

The resolution makes no specific demand for the withdrawal but urges declarations from the two Western allies that they will remove their troops when the U. N. decides they are no longer needed.

Secretary of State Dulles conferred for more than an hour last night with representatives of the 20 Latin-American nations. Some of them were reported fearful that the Norwegian resolution could be used to justify intervention to keep an unpopular Latin-American government in power.

Dulles reportedly told them these fears were groundless as far as the United States is concerned. Dulles also assured the Latin Americans that the United States has no intention of keeping its troops in Lebanon.

The chairman of the Latin-American group, Pacifico Montero de Vargas of Paraguay, said Dulles indicated the way might be clear by Sept. 30 to pull the Americans out of Lebanon.

Dulles reportedly told them these fears were groundless as far as the United States is concerned. Dulles also assured the Latin Americans that the United States has no intention of keeping its troops in Lebanon.

The chairman of the Latin-American group, Pacifico Montero de Vargas of Paraguay, said Dulles indicated the way might be clear by Sept. 30 to pull the Americans out of Lebanon.

Dulles reportedly told them these fears were groundless as far as the United States is concerned. Dulles also assured the Latin Americans that the United States has no intention of keeping its troops in Lebanon.

The chairman of the Latin-American group, Pacifico Montero de Vargas of Paraguay, said Dulles indicated the way might be clear by Sept. 30 to pull the Americans out of Lebanon.

Dulles reportedly told them these fears were groundless as far as the United States is concerned. Dulles also assured the Latin Americans that the United States has no intention of keeping its troops in Lebanon.

'He's Still Alive' Exhausted Father Goes On Looking

By JOHN KILGO
Gifford Wallace sat exhausted on a large rock this morning with his eyes on a farm lake and said, "I believe he's still alive."

It is with this faith and determination that 32-year-old Gifford Wallace has provided heavy woods almost constantly since early Sunday looking for his baby boy, "Cootie."

Today, he was nearly too tired to talk, but not too tired to keep looking on looking and hoping his 2½-year-old son is safe.

"I got about three good hours of rest last night," he said. "It's hard to sleep or rest knowing that the little fellow needs us. I don't know if he is hungry or hurt or what."

Wallace, dressed in a brown shirt and trousers and heavy work shoes, got up to see what he could do next.

He stepped and turned back to look at his six other children running and playing around the old farm house.

One of his sons, Charles, 7, sat on the steps and chewed on a peach.

"Yes," he said, "I miss my brother. We played together." "We covered those woods."

Wallace said, "I'm a rabbit man and if I can find rabbits in a bed in the woods I ought to be able to find my own son."

"I don't think he's in any of those ponds. I think he's still alive. I really do."

Wallace and two county policemen had been out in the woods early this morning looking for the youngster. They're tracking down every possible lead.

Some Boy Scouts came on the scene to help. "Folks sure have been nice to us," Wallace said. "Somebody might have taken

Duck's Loveless Affair Headed For Court Battle

EAST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—The love affair of Charlie, the befuddled duck who is enamored of an enameled duckess, may end in a custody battle.

Two owners today claimed they own Charlie, the persistent but near-sighted drake who's been trying since Sunday to pitch woo to a ceramic duck on the front lawn of the William Alwells.

Howard Mason, 14, broke up the one-way romance yesterday when he claimed Charlie was his and had broken loose over the weekend. He snatched Charlie away, the bird quacking loudly all the way down the street. His darling, her three little ceramic ducklings long since toppled over by Charlie's amorous advances, kept her glazed eyes front.

Then along came Miss Helen Mameo who said Charlie had escaped from her. She threatened a custody battle in court.

Meanwhile Dr. David C. Tudor, a poultry pathology expert at Rutgers University, said Charlie may have an adoption complex and found an outlet in the clay duck.

Not so, said Miss Mameo. "Charlie's not nuts. He's just lonely."

He also is a woman. "She wore a brown dress, yellow sandals and a string of yellow beads."

Bapkin, a representative of Intourist, Soviet travel agency, said each member of the group paid $3,000 (about $1,414) for the 14-day tour, including transportation and expenses while here.

POINTED APPEAL

Without referring specifically to the explosive situation in Little Rock, Ark., or to other potential trouble areas, Eisenhower let no doubt his appeal was directed to those areas.

He spoke out against the background of a federal appellate court's decision earlier this week that integration must be resumed in Little Rock. That decision set aside a federal court ruling in a 2½-year delay.

In response to questions, Eisenhower refused to say whether he favors school integration.

He said any expression on that issue would be wrong and would make his job more difficult with respect to his own wish to enforce the law.

NO EXPRESSION

After declining to express a view on the merits of the integration controversy, Eisenhower said in his statement:

"This case, however, or any person's agreement or disagreement with its outcome, must not be confused with the solemn duty that all Americans have to comply with the final orders of the court."

Eisenhower then spoke of the responsibility and obligation of the individual states to suppress unlawful forces.

Speaking further regarding the

See IRE on Page 2-A

Who'll Make Race For Governor?

See LYNN NISBET, Page 5-A
Business ..... 6A, 2B
Classified ..... 9-11B
Comics ..... 6B
Crossword Puzzle ..... 8B
Earl Wilson ..... 7B
Editorial ..... 6A, 2B
Everyday Counselor ..... 11B
Obituaries ..... 9B
Radio-TV ..... 7B
To Your Good Health ..... 8B
Social Security Game ..... 12B
Sports ..... 2-3B
Theaters ..... 9B
To Your Good Health ..... 8B
Women ..... 9-11A
Worry Clinic ..... 8B

—ANSWER TO A DREAM— First Soviet Tourists Here For Sights

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of 14 light-hearted Soviet vacationers arrived here today, the first tourists from Communist Russia ever to come to this country unofficially just to see the sights.

And one of them said it was the answer to a dream.

They stepped down from an Air France plane at Idlewild Airport, carrying topcoats, raincoats and cameras, chatting gaily and blinking at the August sunshine. They wouldn't need those topcoats.

"We would like to see all the interesting places and to fulfill our dream of obtaining an all-around picture of the United States," said Vladimir I. Bapkin, a spokesman for the group.

The city gave them a hearty welcome. Paul Arnus, of the Commerce and Public Events Department, was on hand to extend greetings.

LADY ARCHITECT

Mrs. Anna S. Butenko, an architect retrained architect from Kharkov and the only woman in the group, dangled pictures of what she wanted most to see.

"I am interested in both architecture and the people," she said.

Would she do any shopping? "Probably," she said, laughing. "Besides being an architect, I am also a woman."

Our Weather

Fair today and tomorrow.
High yesterday ..... 90
High expected today ..... 90
High expected tomorrow ..... 92
Low this morning ..... 67
Low expected tonight ..... 67
Sunrise, 5:46 a.m.; sunset, 7:06 p.m.

More Weather Data on Page 2-A

So John Followed His Urge

ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—"It was just one of those things," cab driver John Jenkins said. "Those things," police said, included a 17-day southern trip with a cab owned by someone else. There were other things, too.

Detectives pieced them together this way: Jenkins, 25, was waiting for a fare when he suddenly got an urge to "take off somewhere."

Armed with a total of $39, Jenkins headed the cab south. He picked up two young hitchhikers in Baltimore and shared the driving chores to Miami with them. Then he continued on to Key West.

He said his firm's $1200 cab to a sailor for $80.

The disbarred driver then hopped a bus to New Orleans, arriving with $7 in his pocket.

He was intent on having a good time, but he had only two drinks before police picked him up for questioning. Charged with vagrancy, he spent eight days in jail because he couldn't pay a $10 fine.

Jenkins hitchhiked his way home after his release and arrived here Monday night. He would have been in jail yesterday and gave himself up.