6 Die In Wreck

FLORENCE, Tex. (AP) — Two autos collided head-on with terrific impact on a winding road just north of this central Texas town shortly before midnight last night, killing six servicemen.

Desertion Hearing

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Preliminary hearing was scheduled today for the parents of a 5-month-old boy they allegedly swapped for a 1957 pickup truck. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ready, Shomokin, Pa., are held on charges of child desertion.

Strike Pending

NEW YORK (AP) — The head of the Flight Engineers' International Assn. says a decision on the date of a strike against Eastern Airlines will be made in a few days. Jack Robertson said a strike by the engineers' union seems inevitable. His statement came after a breakdown in negotiations.

Flights Banned

LONDON (AP) — Sudan has banned flights over its territory of British aircraft carrying troops or military equipment, the Foreign Office disclosed today.

Bombers Convicted

AMMAN (AP) — A Jordanian military court today convicted five young Arabs of exploding bombs in Amman and sentenced two to death. One of the defendants was a 19-year-old girl, Nadia Salti. She got a 7½-year sentence which was commuted to three years.

Equipment For Iraq

LONDON (AP) — Britain has authorized the delivery of some light military equipment to the Iraq regime, the Foreign Office announced today.

Home Product

HONG KONG (AP) — A Hong Kong newspaper said today it was Red China-made jets and two American-made Chinese Nationalist F84 Thunderjets over Kwangtung July 29.

Battle Warring

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Leaflets were scattered in Nicosia streets today calling on Greek Cypriots to be ready for the "great battle" against the new British plan for Cyprus.

Brighter Side

Problem Solved By Hostess

(From AP Reports)

Mrs. Herschel Erwin had a bad night for dinner last night when she had steak. So the Nashville, Tenn., woman drove to a market for more meat, but found it closed and headed for home. On the way her car hit and killed a 300-pound steer.

So Close

Thieves tried to burglarize a shed in Portsmouth, Ohio, by setting off a dynamite charge against the shed's steel door. It went off but the door held. The thieves went off too, probably without knowing that just inside the door was over a ton of dynamite.

Easy Sale

Ralph Simons' stuffed animals and dolls were selling like crazy, but he wasn't selling them. Simons, a Chicago conventionaire, was asleep at home when some youngsters found the items in his car and sold 20 of them for 30 cents apiece. The owner told police they cost him about $4 each, but he'd be glad to buy them back for $2 each, and no questions asked.

Education's Limits Told By Hodges

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP) — Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina declared today the nation's colleges and universities must raise the quality of education — and limit student bodies to "qualified" youths.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the annual Southern Conference on the Financing of Higher Education here, Hodges said instruction should be improved "irrespective of what some other nation or international neighbor has been able to accomplish or might do in the future."

As for the students themselves, Hodges said that as taxpayers or voluntary contributors the public is entitled to insist that the institution admit to its student ranks only those persons who have demonstrated reasonable qualifications and a reasonable degree of interest in obtaining a higher education.

NEED PLANTS

The Tar Heel governor cited as major needs of higher institutions an adequate physical plant and teaching personnel.

"We need, first, sufficient money to pay our teaching personnel not only adequate but reasonable salaries," Hodges declared. "And we of course need a sufficient number of instructors and professors to fill the classroom demand."

"Second, we need enough buildings to house the number of students that we will have. . . the third and very essential ingredient is of course a student body."

PUPIL LOAD

Hodges suggested that the conference re-examine the question of how many pupils can a single instructor adequately teach. He said, "Some classes in our colleges and universities should perhaps have no more than a dozen students. It is undoubtedly true that other classes would permit just as effective teaching with 10 times that number."

Hodges expressed doubt that the colleges are doing a sufficiently adequate job to inform prospective students of available scholarship funds. He also said he doesn't think "our institutions are doing a sufficient job in informing our high school graduates of the various loan funds which may be available."

Missing Child Hunt Continues

The search for 2½-year-old "Cootie" Wallace was continued today by county police, volunteer firemen and friends of the family.

The Negro boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Wallace, has been missing since Sunday morning.

Yesterday police started bringing several people in the area to police headquarters for questioning about the boy's disappearance.

They are checking out several leads that indicate foul play may be involved. Lages in the area have been dragged and the heavy woods have been covered several times without success. Police are also checking the possibility that the child may have been carried off by someone.

Meantime, a group of local insurance men have offered a $50 reward for information leading to finding of the child. The men, agents of the Skyline Life Insurance Co., ask that persons with information about the child call County Police, FRANKLIN 6-3636.

Police officers are not eligible for the reward. The donors will appoint a committee to settle any questions about the reward.

EXAM FOR AIRMAN

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Air Force has arranged a psychiatric examination for Airman L.C. Leslie Simms, who turned on the afterburner of a Super Sabre jet to see what would happen.

Supported Blonde

Baker, a $125 a week Teamsters Union organizer at the time, said the funds he put out for blonde Mrs. Ruth Brougher were "nothing like" the $20,000 to $25,000 she has testified he lavished on her. He set the figure yesterday at $7,000 or $8,000.

Pressed by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee to tell the source of the thousands, the 200-pound Baker pleaded, "I can't remember. I don't want to perjure myself."

Baker, an ex-convict described by a police as a sometime muscleman on the New York waterfront, said he had no recollection of threatening to kill Mrs. Brougher's lawyer or trying to strangle a Chicago hotel man who had complained about his bill. But he did not flatly deny he did those things.

He did deny giving money to Mrs. Brougher's lawyer, George Everett, in an effort to fix the courts on her appeal from a manslaughter conviction.

SERVING TERM

Mrs. Brougher, 44, is now serving a 15-year sentence for the July 1954, Miami parking lot slaying of Murray Dubois, a boy friend.

He first denied asking Mike (Trigger) Mike Copola, notorious Miami mobster, for money to help Mrs. Brougher.

As for the rest of the money, Baker said, "I borrowed money from a few people." When asked the identity of the lenders, he replied, "I can't recollect."

He vaguely remembered, he added, borrowing some money from a St. Louis bank. When pressed for details, he replied, "To the best of my knowledge, I don't know."

The justices, representing both Northern and Southern states, presented the 34-page report yesterday to the annual Conference of Chief Justices. Delegates are present from the 48 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

A resolution offered with the report urged the Supreme Court to exercise judicial self-restraint in deliberating between constitutional rights and powers on the one hand and local self-government on the other. A vote on the resolution is due Saturday.

The report said in part: "We believe that strong state and local governments are essential to the effective functioning of the American system of federal government."

"It is strange, indeed, to reflect that under a constitution which provides for a system of checks and balances and of distribution of powers between national and state governments, one branch of the government — the Supreme Court — should attempt the immense and, in many respects, dominant power which it now wields."

"It has long been an American boast that we have a governmental system of laws, not of men. We believe that any study of recent decisions of the Supreme Court will raise at least considerable doubt as to the validity of that boast."

SHOWS IMPATIENCE

"At times the Supreme Court manifests, or seems to manifest, an impatience with the slow workings of our federal system."

"That impatience may extend to an unwillingness to wait for Congress to make clear its intention, to exercise the power conferred upon it under the Constitution."

"In the light of the immense power of the Supreme Court and its practical nonreviewability in most instances, no more important obligation rests upon it, in our view, than that of careful moderation in the exercise of its policy-making role. . . ."

Possible Call Seen By Monday

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The 8th Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals granted a stay today to its decision which would return seven Negro students to Central High School at Little Rock.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus today planned the Arkansas Legislature on a standby basis for a possible call Monday to deal with the explosive Central High School integration situation.

Faubus today said he plans to send messages to the 100 House members and the 35 Senators but does not want to make the official call just yet.

A member of the Legislature said it was his understanding the Legislature will convene at noon Monday.

The lawmakers presumably would be presented with bills aimed at halting integration. A pupil assignment law already is on the books, but the school board has not used it.

Faubus refused to say what form these bills will take.

The governor met with the school board and the superintendent for almost two hours last night, and in a later press conference refused to say what was discussed.

Faubus said today, "I am not ready for the official call because I am still hoping something will develop, but I think I should notify the legislators because some of them may be planning vacations next week."

School Supt. Virgil Blossom last night announced the board has petitioned the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for a stay of its Monday order. This order called for continued integration at Central High.

The appeals court reversed a decision by U.S. Dist. Judge Harry Lennedy, who earlier ruled the board could delay integration for two and a half years.

The petition for a stay is aimed here this morning at the Supreme Court, which could place the question before the U.S. Supreme Court. Blossom said preparation of the documents for Supreme Court review will require 10 days. The Supreme Court therefore could not reach a decision until after Sept. 2, when school opens.

Blossom and the school board are seeking to sustain Judge Lennedy's decision.

9 Justices Urge Court Restraint

Five Winners Collect $100 In Contest

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Re-elected Supreme Court justices raise doubt that America has a government of laws and not of men, chief justices of nine states allege.

They accuse the nation's highest court of assuming the role of policy maker without proper judicial restraint.

The justices, representing both Northern and Southern states, presented the 34-page report yesterday to the annual Conference of Chief Justices. Delegates are present from the 48 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

A resolution offered with the report urged the Supreme Court to exercise judicial self-restraint in deliberating between constitutional rights and powers on the one hand and local self-government on the other. A vote on the resolution is due Saturday.

Senator Reports A-Tests May Stop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) today cheered a report that the United States is about ready to announce a temporary suspension of nuclear weapons testing.

Humphrey, chairman of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee, said in an interview his staff had been informed such a step was under consideration.

"A temporary suspension on our part as a prelude to negotiation of a safeguarded agreement would be good, sound public policy," Humphrey said. "It would win us friends around the world, and put us out in front in the disarmament field."

FROM TALKS

The White House declined either to confirm or deny the report, which came last night from an informed source.

The source, asking to remain anonymous, said the government hopes a temporary halt might pave the way to a permanent international agreement for a test suspension, with adequate safeguards.

The United States has been conducting a test series in the Pacific. These tests began last spring and are scheduled to end soon.

The Soviet Union announced a unilateral test suspension last March at the end of a test series.

—TWO VISIT WITH BANKER'S WIFE—

Chatty Bandits Take $3,000 From Bank

After about 30 minutes of persuasion, Hart said, he gave the men the vault combination.

While one man went to the bank, Hart's wife, Irene, and the combination, the other freed the couple to watch television. Later the bandit returned after being unable to open the vault and had Hart accompany him back to the bank.

Hart said he and the bandit came home and then the man made a third trip to the bank and got the money. Police estimated the loss at about $3,000.

The Haris, who have no children, were bound a second time and the men left the house. Hart said he freed himself with a pen knife which had fallen from his pocket.

Sixth City Police Chief James O'Keefe identified the bandit taken there as George Blake, 26, who said he was in Omaha recently from Chicago. The other man was registered at a Sioux City hotel as Al Maxwell, police said.

He was being returned to Sioux City for questioning.

O'Keefe said Blake admitted the robbery.
