Airliner Crash Toll Uncertain

LONDON (AP)—A Central African Airways Viscount crashed and burned in bright moonlight near Benghazi in Libya early today.

Airline officials in London said there were at least 20 survivors among the 34 persons aboard the plane, bound for London from Salisbury in Southern Rhodesia. Reports received at the London office of the airline, a nationalized Rhodesian company, had few details of the crash. Among the survivors were four unidentified babies and four members of the crew of seven.

The plane crashed at 2:15 a. m. about six miles from Benghazi via Benina Airport. It plunged down in a hilly region and burst into flames.

Reports received here said some of the survivors were severely injured and were taken to a Benghazi hospital.

In Salisbury, the airline's headquarters said there were 28 women, 20 men and 6 children on the plane.

A. E. P. Robinson, chairman of the corporation, said officials and technicians set out at once for Benghazi to arrange for transporting survivors to their destinations. All were believed bound for London.

Among the survivors were Sir Alfred Savage, a crown agent in London for overseas British governments, and Lady Savage.

—MOTHER FAILS IN RESCUE—

Bear Mauls Child To Death

JASPER, Alta. (AP)—A pursuing black bear grabbed a terrified girl as she tripped on the steps of her cottage yesterday and dragged her away to death.

Seven-year-old Barbara Christine Coates was seen fleeing from safety when attacked by the animal in Jasper National Park.

In a frantic effort to save her daughter, Mrs. Jack Coates ran from the cottage, took hold of the child's legs and pulled as the bear backed off with its victim between its teeth.

The bear dragged the screaming mother and daughter 50 feet into a bush and fatally mauled the girl. It dropped the child when startled by three girls who rushed upon the scene in answer to Mrs. Coates' cries.

The bear was shot by a cottage owner as it turned to pounce on the girls. Barbara died en route to hospital here. Mrs. Coates was not injured.

When the bear appeared Barbara and her 5-year-old sister, Alison, were picking berries behind the family cottage at Sunwapa Falls, 30 miles south of this rocky mountain resort.

GRABS GIRL

Alison dashed into the cottage. The bear caught Barbara as she stumbled on the steps. He the world for "not selling America short."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) of the Senate Atomic Energy Committee said "both the military and peaceful applications of this voyage are enormous. It opens up waters adjacent to all of the land mass of Asia, Europe and North America."

Some legislators coupled praise of the Eisenhower administration for not inviting Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover to the White House ceremonies where the Nautilus exploit was announced.

IGNORED PIONEER

"It looks as though they left out the man who was mostly responsible," Rep. Carl Durham (D-N.C.) said in reference to Rick-over, who is credited with doing the pioneer spadework for development of nuclear subs.

Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill.), another member of the joint atomic committee, said the White House ceremonies appeared to be "a publicity buildup to make it appear they are interested in science."

He noted that President Eisenhower last week "criticized the addition of research funds by Congress to the atomic authorization bill."

In London, the British Admiralty sent Washington congratulations "on the Nautilus' remarkable and historic achievement."

One British naval source said the voyage "means that atomic driven submarines could launch attacks on the northern shores of the Soviet Union."

London's morning newspapers gave the story front page play.

"The American answer to the Soviet Sputnik," said the Conservative Daily Telegraph.

In a page one editorial, the Laborite Daily Herald said, "We salute this American triumph, one of the world's most fantastic adventures."

London's Communist Daily Worker gave the story page one treatment but did not comment editorially.

In Paris, the Communist L'Humanite gave the Nautilus a prominent place on page one, but said editorially:

"It (the voyage) happened several days before the opening of a historic session of the United Nations as if to recall that American research is in no way oriented toward pacific realizations."

In Sweden, the state-owned radio gave the Nautilus top priority and in Copenhagen all the city's papers frontpaged the story.

In Italy, the voyage got its biggest play in the Communist newspaper L'Unita, which carried it at the top of page one. Il Popolo, official organ of the governing Christian Democrats, carried the story at the bottom of page one.

Back home, Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) called the feat "another example of American initiative, courage and exploring spirit."

Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.) said "It strengthens public and free world confidence."

Nautilus England-Bound

WASHINGTON (AP)—The history making U. S. atomic submarine Nautilus headed for England today and fresh honors for its transpolar pioneering voyage.

The White House gave out word that the Nautilus and its crew of 116 is proceeding slowly from Ireland waters to Portland, England, for a visit from Aug. 12-17. The vessel was about midway between Ireland and England at noon today.

Dillon Stirred By 'Confession'

DILLON, S. C. (AP)—A Negro dishwasher, once convicted of trying to rape a white woman, was in an undisclosed jail today charged with murdering an attractive young widow in a brutal cemetery slaying.

Whisked away from Dillon last night as a crowd of about 500 milled around the courthouse was Quincy Bullock, about 46.

Sheriff Pete Rogers admitted he was "kinda afraid" about the reaction of townspeople to the news that Bullock had admitted the slaying of attractive Carolyn Barfield, 28-year-old mother of four children.

But he said he does not expect any trouble, "as of now."

The report that the Negro had made an oral statement of guilt spread quickly through this tension-packed tobacco growing center. Crowds quickly formed last night around the courthouse and jail but there was no unruly incident.

"The people are a little upset and they have a right to be," said the sheriff. "It was a very brutal killing."

The woman was shot four times early last Sunday after a gunman opened fire on the car where she was parked in a cemetery near Dillon with Jimmy Hume, 24, a drug store employee.

The sheriff had announced earlier that footprints and other evidence found during the week-long search of the tangled swamp area indicated the Marfield woman was shot in the hip in the initial gunfire and then was dragged and pushed by the slayer for a mile to the spot where her body was found.

In addition to the big wound, she had been shot three times in the head with a .22 caliber weapon.

Horpe was wounded in the shoulder but escaped and notified officials of the shooting. The victim's body was found 12 hours later under some bushes.

A former beauty queen at a Columbia trade school, the Barfield woman separated from her husband last year and he later killed himself.

One big man — I think he grabbed a stick — tried to help, but he just seemed to freeze on the spot," she said. "All the time I hung on to Barbie's feet, calling to onlookers to distract the bear."

Other vacationers heard the screams but were too frightened to help.

"One big man — I think he grabbed a stick — tried to help, but he just seemed to freeze on the spot," she said. "All the time I hung on to Barbie's feet, calling to onlookers to distract the bear."

The State Probation and Parole Board checked the records today after Sheriff Pete Rogers of Dillon had reported the murder had been paroled. The board said not only had the man never been paroled by the board, he had never come before it, serving his time in Dillon.

Trucking Strike Called Broken

The Charlotte Observer said today a Teamsters Union strike against the Observer Transportation Co. "for all practical purposes" has ended.

Picked-up picketers were still patrolling the truck entrance to the Observer building this morning, but Observer officials told The News:

"Except for a little (police) picketing the scene is just about normal. All deliveries were completed last night and without incident so far as is known at this time. Most of the strikers have returned and have been re-employed. We think that for all practical purposes the strike is over but it's the Teamsters Union that we are involved with and we are taking every precaution against further trouble."

Teamsters Union officials could not be reached for comment this morning.

In its issue this morning the Observer reported that 27 of 37 white over-the-road drivers had reported back for duty.

The newspaper said two others who were not scheduled to work the Friday shift indicated they would return Saturday.

About 20 of 37 Negroes, who load trucks and do some in-city driving, are still out. The Observer said the strike had "virtually collapsed."

The strike was called at 8:30 p. m. Thursday without prior notice, the paper said.

The Teamsters Union Local 711 has claimed it is not a transportation company drivers and demanded recognition by the company, which was refused.

Auto Sale Probed In Burn Case

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets investigators sought details today of the hurrup bargain sale of a Teamsters Union automobile reportedly used in Michigan's fatal human torch burning.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the special Senate committee ordered the probe yesterday following testimony that the automobile was sold for no more than to Herman Kierdorf, uncle of the torch victim and former aide to Teamster President James R. Hoffa.

Kierdorf's nephew, Frank Kierdorf, 36, business agent for a Pontiac, Mich., Teamster local, died Thursday after indicating to police he suffered his burns in setting fire to a Flint, Mich., fire clearing shop Sunday night.

Michigan authorities said the nephew also indicated his uncle, Herman, 58, was at the fire scene. The elder Kierdorf disappeared Monday and is sought on a warrant charging possession of a silence-equipped gun.

FAST PROBE

Testimony of the sale of the union-owned Cadillac climaxed a fast-moving day in the committee's inquiry into allegations that Hoffa's giant union is involved with underworld characters in a nationwide plot to dominate business and labor. The hearings are in recess until Tuesday.

In other developments yesterday:

1. George Francis Heid, a disgruntled former Teamster, testified that he had lied under oath—because of threats—as a defense witness in the 1956 Minneapolis trial that convicted one of Hoffa's aides on bombing charges.

Heid said he gave false evidence in a successful effort to save Gerald Connelly, a Minneapolis Teamster official, from going to prison.
