A Street by Any Other **
Name Would Smell . . .

Now that the City Council has changed the name of Lindbergh Drive to Avon Drive (without appointing any official committee to break the aad news to the ex-Colonel), we see no reason why Char-lotte should stop short of anything but a compiete blood purge of silen and of-fensive street names. A cursory inventory of names about which sentiment has changed includes:

All of these names, and others offensive to popular taste, abould be changed at once. And while we're about it, we might as well look around for another name for this county. Mecklenburg couldn't be more Germanic if the syllables were operated with awastikas. Eh, Mecklenburghers?

Milion Would Regret Such Rash Advice

About 300 years ago an English poet named Millon got away with a choice verse: "They also serve who only stand and wait." It Millon with his great and righteous intellect "shouldst be living at this hour," well might he look about him and curse the day he ever dignified him and curse the day he ever dignified standing and waiting.

He would see how his own England, how France, how that young democracy, the United Stace, have become "stagmantenn." He would writhe, this aggressive man, at the realization that all democracies had made an idol of the word "defense" and had bowed down to it and worshipped it while their waiting head on their necks.

The writer of Pilgrim's Progress—as aggressive a piece of literature as you'll find—would shout again in his resonant voice:

ant voice:

"O dark, dark, dark, amid the blaze of noon,
"Irrecoverably dark, total eclipse:
"Without all hope of day."
While the writers of "The Washington Merry-Go-Round" make no Mittonic claims, they teach a powerful lesson in today's column beginning on the from hope of The News. It is the lesson of what happened to Britain—and what is happening now to the United Bates. It should be required reading for all Americans.

Jam Session Council Means Well but Traffic Control is an Expert's Job

Twice a day East Morehead Street between Tryon and Boulevard puts on a traffic jam that would do discredit to Baltimore's Charles Street. In the altimore's Charles Street. In the to-work hours and the solns-hours the progress of vehicles this alleged thoroughfare is by the sea. Enduring friendships have been and by motorists thus confined to-m morning after morning.

Some of the City Councilmen come to swn by way of this congested street, and so last week the Council passed an assembnent to the Traffic Ordinance would then parking along one side of hast Morehead and permitting right terms on the red at College.

Occurrences officials are studing that the drast reclassification order abrects to having an accordance affect. It reaches directly the promper workers. They are the ones most encognities to Community agritators. Now they have cause to think twice about going/m strike or staying out.

They can't complain of injustice, because they were deferred to wurt in easential industries needed to supply the Army. For that they receive wages many times that they receive wages many times that of men serving in the Army. If they think their wages are too low, they are seaured of a hearing before the National Defense Mediation Sourd, The Government is on hand to see that they Government is on hand to see that they

the one hand and throblemaking subvenire activity on the other.

The two elements are mixed in most of the recent atthe situations Bometimes it is difficult to determine whether the Communitar are using them.
In the past—and this has been parturshirty a policy of John L. Lewis and the C.I.O.— legitimate trade-unincults have been inclined to velcome the halp of the Communitar, and the Communitat have helped themselves. So now you have the Communitar nunning some shows, as was charged in the Inglewood Strike by Richard

The change in the drift was shown by the switch on the part of Harry

The Government is supplement of some switches of this kind, knowing, that there will be subscritive leaders who will attempt to fall this step in order to hold their positions so that they may resume their work after public interest turns elsewhere.
