the Nazis can foil their tormentor is to keep the sir naturated with muste or words. London reports that during last injuries new broadcast the German announcers read so fast and with so little pause between items that they were largely unintelligible. This in itself is a ridiculous situation.

Somewhat awkwardly, the Nazis attempted to subvert the "V" campsign in Europe to their own ends. They said "V" did not mean victory for the Brittish, but "Viktoria," a very chacure German noun, for the Reich.

We can imagine with considerable reliab, the extent to which this new weapon is taxing Dr. Goebbel's funed ingenuity.

President Applies It but Congress Will Override It

For years the Government has been lending money on the farmers' cotton and wheat, moving the stuffs into ware-houses which began to buckle at the houses which began to buckle at the eaves and bulge at the doors from overloading. The justifications for this policy were two: (1) that the farmers ahould get at least minimum prices for their products despite the surplus of them, and (2) that someday, somehow, the excess could be disposed of. War times, despite the loss of export markets, have brought higher prices for most product of the control of the co

Congress, however, touched off by South Carolina's obstreperous Cotion Ed Smith, had a different idea. Cooked up was a bill to compel the Government to withhold ("freeze") its stocks of cotion and wheat while the farmers made merwith was nines.

It would have been, in all likelihood still will be, like ordering a picnic with-out ants. For although the President vetoed the bill yesterday, calling atten-tion to its obvious unsoundness, the

Of course, supply will dwin-dle if the main reliance on quick bulk transportation is given away. But. "em transportation is given away, But, even after giving it away, lan't there any other way to protect the public beside reducing its rations of this over-pients-ful commodity?

WHEN IN A JAM THEY SOAK THE PUBLIC

There has been precious little study of that. All our Washington war-lords seem to be able to think of when they seem to be able to think of "when they get themselves into a jam is "book the public." If they can't think fast to get up some sectures or justification for that, it won't be long before the public begins soaking them—and you can lay your less dollar on that.

Now I have on my deak a documenter NOW! I have on my cask a occumented report (too long for this space) that there is a very large tanker capacity on the Great Lakes, some of which could get through the canals and be used on the ocean and much of which will shortly be tied up for four months by ice. Nothing is being done about that either, It was so much seater just to crack down on the public.

Now, putting rationing up to the fill-ing stations is just as cockered. Station A cut John Jones down 10 per cent of some indefinite figure, so what does John do? He just drives around the corner and buys three more gailons from Station B.

There is only one way to do this—if it has to be done—and that is by ration cards. But the perfect has he proved that there is any necessity for such drastic action.
