Guessing Game

Does Gayda Live or Not, Or Does It Matter at All?

Now, in the time of crisis, we aim to take a census of sorts. The subject is Figinio Gayda, bitthe mouthpiece of Paseism, and his death, capture or sulcide. Until we know, for certain, what has happened to valiant Virginio in these past days of bloody confusion in taky, we are still free to guess, even a play games.

itally, we are still free to guess, even splay games.

Who, for instance, favors the report hat he died from the guns of the mobs in Italian streets? Who leans to the view that the is still alley, and cringing as a captive, behind bars, waiting se had as a craver soul? Or who subscribes to the theory that the brave edit has taken his own life, thrown himself as a weekegone volunteer on the lear of a dying government.

We care not for Gayda's life, ourselves, and that springs from no contempt of ammal life. For this Gayda, this blast standard of the content of the second of the content of the content

The charge is clear. It is true or not true. If it is not true, then by all means the owners of dogs should come forward quickly and refuel it. If it is true, then for the sake of hundreds of good dogs as well as for the sake of hundreds have the sake of hundreds of good dogs as well as for the sake of hundreds, the owners of dogs ought to take the lead in wiping out the conditions, not only obeying the law themselves but in urging their neighbors to do so. The County Commissioners are so impressed with the gravity of the matter that they have ordered the dog control laws into full effect. Owing to the peculiarities of the attuation this takes courage. The Board is entitled to and should have the support of all citizens, dog owners or not.

There comes a moment in the life of a military dictater when the generals of the army step hot his office, and courtecously but mirroly announce that the life of the mirroly announce that the life comes such a time. They may anneer, these generals, but they may anneer, these generals, but they mill always be ready with the surgestion that the dictator prepare for abdituation. And when events reach that stage, then there is nothing left but to abdicate, and to leave the power to someone whose presence will not so infuriate the enemy and the civilian populace. Oh, it has forever happened thus, from the days of the Old Testament. Napoleon looked upon this scene twice; he twice swallowed his bitter fact. On The Record

Where Is The Voice?

By Dorothy Thompson

THERE are two fronts in this war.

The first is the material front, expressed in term of fighting and working men, defined, as "Manpower," units of sighting and producing energy, together wit him whole strategy of organising, producing, training, moving and sighting, training, moving and sighting, and the straining, moving and sighting, and

This, she political front, alone gives sense and meaning to the material front, which is its instrutions are supposed to the straining of the instrument.

The material front cannot live without material, in all its forms. If the material falls, the war is lost. But the political front cannot live without ideas. If they are lacking war is meaningless.

they are lacking war is meaningless.

Now there has come a climatic imment, for which thinking, feeling men have been yearning. The first Fascist government in history has about disable acted. The Fascist Farty has been disabled, Folitical events are thrown into the greatest fluid-lift, affecting the military events, on the material front. The material and political crists have converged.

One waits in breathless anticipation for a voice. This is what we have been waiting for. How shall we crecive it? What shall we do with it—this, our first great political victory, our first great victory on the moral and spiritual front?

the moral and spiritual front?
Everyone in the United States has waited for answer to that question, and the President has keen.

an answer to that question, and the President has poken.

But we got coffee and sugar instead of light. As our leaders do not clarify the situation, we must try to see for ourselves.

We see a drama of Shakkespearean proportions. Ceasar is overthrown by his own friends. This role of Brutus is played by Badedile.

Manager and the presentification of its achievements. His career is asymbolized by five wars for loot. He was a young lieutenant in the first in the war of 1912 that conquered Lobia from the Turkin, he was a leading general inning allet, solely for imperialistic profits. As she did not get her full price, the postwar profid was characterized by reseminent and new imperialist thrusts.

centiment and new imperialist thrusts.

In 1926, General Badeglie conquered Ethlopia, And in 1940, when Italy started the fifth imperialist adventure in one generation, Badeglie was Chief of Staff.

Badeglie never liked Mussolini, or the "rabble-dom" of Paristens. Bit. like the King, he saw in Fraction and instrument of imperialism and accepted

No one can more fittingly surrender the armies of Rely.

No end chn more fittingly surrender the armise of lathy on what bermay Badogilo has cards in his high of the control of the late of delaying the Allied time-table.

But we also have cards: our armies. But the Germans have armies, too, but we have also what we chose by describe in our own press as the "mob," but which is, in reality, the revolution.

The "mob" is me inner lawless turbulence. There is a mind in it. Il has presented a program in free points: it wants because in mediate expression of the late of the late result of Fascial, leaders, spreading of demoresult principles, and release of all political princers.

In not that what we want?
Then why don't we accept it, and proclaim an aillance for identical purposes.

There are two difficulties. We have uttered the phrase. Unconditional military world, but is totally meaningless in the political. Men can surrender their arms but not their minds. Men, nor Manpower, have to know not are aurrendering for.

The man are thought of the people. Nor

The state of the property of the first of the people. Nor Well promises of some vague but spoden will be for the first but a cacording to what we do now.

If the men according to what we do now.

If the men according to what we do now
the terms of your own people! We accept them,

In that mement we have the revelutionary people as our allies, and Badegile is en cacept the must be ween himself clearly politically.

But that is just, what he does not want to do.

For that prejudiess his own cards, and his hope of "negoliations," and delay. He wants secrecy the people want candor. And we give Badegile what he wants, not what the pop that they row, and alked

Crowley llatened sympathetically to his friend's advice but repiled:

"Milos done a tremendous job sgainst terrific obstacles. And he's had a very unlucky break as a reward for it. I would like to keep him on because I know he would be of great value to me. But I have virtual orders to get rid of him."

The orders, naturally, could have come from only one place—the White House.
