in their objections, and had legitimate complaints. But we think the wishes of the majority of Charlotteans have been fulfilled; sympathy was for the Negro park, rather than for the property own-park, rather than for the property owners.

We presume to be no judges of proper countroom procedure, but cannot escape the thought that the presentation of the case of the property owners did little to further their claims. It was undignified, to say the least, of a lawyer to make a joke of proceedings by referring to Chairman Stone of the Parks and Recreation Commission as a "Superman" ("And I never saw a Superman who couldn't throw a lot of built,") And, in answer to the City's position that the Commission members were conscientious because they don't know any better." Such miles were not helpful to the cause of the property owners.

were not helpful to the cause of the property owners.

At any rate, the first Negro park, a small beginning for 35,000 without privilege, is a reality, it is not, likely that the appeal will reverse the local decision. And even if it does, we trust the Commission will not, cease its efforts to give the Negroes recreation facilities in ever-greater number.

Anxious distillers would like to revert to the manufacture of whisky, though a second and frivolous school of thought, is for using the grain for food and other luxuries of life.

Rep. Rivers Should Seek a Sensible Basis of Protest

Representative Mendel Rivers of South

Sensible Beals of Protest
Representative Mendel Rivers of South, Carolina is, apparently, a man who concilines speaks without passing to think. His recent attack on Harold Jokes, for example, indicated thoughtlessness, irresponsibility and a general spirit of demagoguery that should not be encouraged. Rep. Rivers simply said that there is not like the South," and has been taking out his dislike in retusal, to permit additional oil pipe line service through the territory.
We do not expect the Representative to get anywhere with his campaign so long as he uses such tactica. The irritable Petroleum Coordinator is easily enough rited; he should not be attacked on any such school-boy basis as Mr.
Rivers has used. If there are oil transprocess of the state of the service of the service

We could do with some official understanding of that basis problem, and with fewer such foolish charges as Mr.
Rivers evidently enjoys.

"That at least," remarked the Berlin newscaster, in signing off for another day, "Is what it says here."

Men, As Well As Women, To Fall To Vice Squads

To Fall To Vice Squads

Now we begin to get somewhere in the local vice drive. Soldiers are to be taken, into custody, along with the women accomplees in prostitution. Heretofore, when soldiers and girls have been apprehended in hole! rooms, only the female went to Jall, to await trial and medical inspection. Henceforth, wisely enough, the male must submit to the humiliating overhaul himself. There comes a strange and sudden recognition that the soldier is not only equally guilty in this spread of veneral disease—but that he is also likely to bear infection, and should be subject to some punishment.

infection, and should be subject to some punishment.

We say this is strange and sudden because it has never come about in Charlotte before. It has always been the woman, even in peacetime, who bore guilt, punishment and all else. It has too long been considered, that the male is andurally predatory, and should be excused from all inconvenience on those grounds. What he situation has long required is a single standard. Now that it is proposed and instituted, we trust it can be kept in vogue, permanently.

Mr. Churchill's Offer

By Dorothy Thompson

WASHINGTON
MR. CHURCHILLI, has made the united States the offer of a long alliance, after weeks of talk with the President, as that we may assume it meets with the President, as proval. Mr. Dewey, at this moment, the most popular Republican leader with the Republican machine, and, according to the poils, with the rank

str. Churchilla appendix mounting a permanent military alliance with Britain.

As alliances, under our form of government, can only to noide with the advice and cancent of the Senate, it is filling that this question should be settled by the leadership of our two great parties.

The kdes of a permanent

The idea of a permanent alliance is new in Amer-n history, Isolationism has been the American Ican history, Josationism has been the American readition ever since the Parcevoll Address of Washington, who was anxious to dissolve the alliance with France. Washington's purpose, in advocating the dissolution of the French alliance, was to open the way for re-exhalisting, as rapidly as possible, the best of re-exhibiting, as rapidly as possible, the best of the property of the infortunate war of 1812, and the catabilishment of the Monroe Doctrine which was possible only with Britain's additunce, the epoch began which has lasted of the Canadian border, and assured, the independence of all the American states, North and South.

ence of all the American states, North and South.
Our Isolation, therefore, for the past 100 years, has been protected by Britain. It was the Isolations of a new country, enabling us to concentrate on the development of a continent while Britain assured for the the treatment of a continent while Britain assured for the the treatment of a continent season of the protection of another seasoner. We have been for years potentially as atrong as Britain, and in the course of two great power reach a claim of approximate equality the question, arises: Shall they go into competition or shall they merge their efforts, it least for limited purposes, such as common defense?

The moments when such a question is asked open-numeral purposes, such as common defense?

The moment when such a question is daded openly is crucial. It indicates that we have arrived at a point of decision. History proves-that, when an alliance is offered by a great power, and the offer in repudiated, the opportupity passes, for-the offer in methods out of recognition that the nation cannot containe to alond abone.
