LONDON—(AP)—The RAF's heavy Lancasters and Halitaxes smashed at Berlin with over 2,300 long tons (2,576 U. S. tons) of bombs in the greatest of the eleven blows at the Reich's capital city at dusk last night, and today American heavy bombers launched tatacks on the mysterious targets of the Pas de Calais area of France.

The Air Ministry, announcing the great weight of explosives hurled down on the German capital, indicated that the attack was made by the biggest fleet yet sent against Berlin since the campaign to erase the city was alunched two months ago.

On the basis of the previously announced figures last night's raiding force probably numbered around 800 four-engined planes.
